Juvenile Officer Speaks for Union; Officers Elected

Mrs. Kay Crowell, Jackson county juvenile officer, spoke at a meeting of Medford Women's Christian Temperance union held last Thursday in Hawthorne park.

Mrs. Crowell spoke of the proposed juvenile detention home planned by the county, and said that it is urgently needed. The home will be ready for use in 1957, according to Mrs. Crowell.

The speaker also talked of the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis which is operated by the WCTU, and stated that 10 children from Jackson county are cared for at the home. The WCTU also has a Youth Temperance council in Oregon, and a Loyal Temperance Legion for the younger children. The Medford LTL is directed by Mrs. Ellmore Gilstrap, whose husband is pastor of Central Avenue Church of Christ.

Speaking of juvenile delinquency, Mrs. Crowell stated that young people who attend Sunday school, or belong to Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts troops and other youth agencies are seldom in trouble.

Mrs. Ina Renker gave the devotional, and Mrs. Guy Cox, president, conducted a short business meeting.

Election was held, with Mrs. Cox being reelected president. Mrs. G. O. Sanden was named vice - president; Mrs. Ernest Santo, recording secretary; Mrs. Mabel Houck, corresponding secretary; Miss Elizabeth Burr, treasurer.

It was announced that the WCTU would not meet at the Girls Community club for the time being since the clubhouse is to be re-built.

The annual state convention will be held at Jennings lodge near Portland September 4-7. Mrs. Cox was named delegate to represent the Medford union.

An invitation was extended by the Ashland union to the Medford group to meet with them August 23 for a picnic luncheon at noon. Medford members needing transportation are asked to telephone 2-8368, or 2-4198.

Serving for last week's meeting were Mrs. Ernest Santo, Mrs. Eva Low and Mrs. Edna Purcell.
