

Jud Smith RV Club Champ; Scores Ace

An imbedded ball and a bees' nest failed to restrain Justin Smith Jr. in his march to the Rogue Valley Country club men's golf championship yesterday and the young linkman, who has played for Medford High school and the University of Oregon, showed his disdain for incidents of adversity by sinking a hole-in-one after he had tucked away the title.

Jud subdued Bob Rector 5 and 4 in the club title finale, second half of which was contested yesterday at the Medford course. He chipped out an imbedded ball lie on the soft 32nd green before he sank his putt to end the scuffle.

The bee trouble for the new champ came on the 31st hole, No. 13 on the links. Smith's ball landed in a nest of the "buzzers" and he took a two-stroke penalty for an "unplayable" lie.

The two rivals played out the full Saturday 18 after completing their match and Smith's ace came on the 175-yard No. 17 hole. He used an eight iron. Smith finished the 18-hole lap with a 71, one under par, while Rector had an 81.

After Wednesday's 18 holes of the slated 36-green finale Smith was in front 1-up. He built the advantage to 4-up on the front nine yesterday and was 5 up after No. 10 hole, 28th of the engagement, was finished. Rector won on Nos. 11 and 12 greens and Smith gained Nos. 13 and 14 despite his hindrances.

Smith succeeds George Harrington as club champion. Rector eliminated Harrington in the 1956 tourney.

Jansen Is Hurler Reds Looking For
By FRED DOWN
Larry Jansen stood out Friday as the man the Cincinnati Redlegs have been searching for all season: A pitcher who can beat the Milwaukee Braves.

The 36-year-old former New York Giant star turned that trick for the second time in eight days Friday night when he hurled the Redlegs to an 8-2 triumph over the league-leaders. He now owns two of the Redlegs' five wins over Milwaukee this year.

The triumph moved the Redlegs into second place in the National league pennant race, 2½ games behind the Braves and a half game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who bowed to the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2.

Homer Mars Effort
Jansen yielded only seven hits, including a two-run, first inning homer by Ed Matthews, and he struck out seven.

The Redlegs tied the score at 2-2 in the fourth inning on Ted Kluszewski's 26th homer. Wally Post's double and Ed Bailey's single, Jansen and rookie Taylor Phillips then matched shut-out pitching until the eighth when the Redlegs broke loose for six runs in a rally featured by Post's 24th homer and a three run circuit drive by Smokey Burgess.

ball co-captains, and Larry Gober, voted the outstanding back on the team, plan to enter Shasta Junior college, Redding, Calif. Holst will take pre-entry and later may transfer to Oregon State. Hawkins, also a track man, eyes pre-engineering studies. Gober, also a varsity basketball player, looks toward electrical engineering.

APPLY AT ARIZONA
Basketball and baseball player Ed Reinking and baseballer Duane Sides have applications into University of Arizona but Reinking, who plans engineering studies, reported that his school may be Oregon State college.

UNDECIDED
Undecided on college entry are footballers Roger Gallaci, Bill Hall and Tom Cox and track men Lewie Breazeale and Mike Smith. Gallaci, who is doing canner work, may enter Southern Oregon. Hall, also a cannery employee, is looking toward Air Force service and may enter college after his hitch. Cox, currently working with his parents at Tabu Dining inn, hopes eventually to attend college. Smith is working at J. C. Penney store and Breazeale has been doing odd jobs during the summer.

CEARLEY IN ARMY

Footballer Morgan, married and the father of a daughter, is learning the carpentry trade. Picard, who played football, is learning the watchmaker trade from his father. Anderson, track weight man and wrestler, plans to continue work at the Triple Milling firm at Central Point for a year before entering military service.

Former UCLA Star To Play With Hamilton In Canada

Hamilton, Ont. — (UP) — Ronnie Knox, former UCLA quarterback, signed Saturday with the Hamilton Tiger Cats at potentially one of the highest salaries in Canadian football.

Knox, who first rode to fame on the fast-moving tongue of stepfather Harvey Knox and later proved he was as good as daddy said, was to receive an estimated $1,000 per game, plus a $2,500 bonus for signing.

Estimates placed his possible season's earnings at $20,000, among the highest in Canadian football, should the Tiger-Cats reach the Grey Cup playoff.

Standout Passer
A single-wing quarterback at UCLA where he was rated a standout passer and capable runner, Knox still has to prove himself in the Tiger Cats' T-formation, now operated by the veteran Knobby Wirkowski. Knox was slated to see action here Wednesday night in the league opener against the Ottawa Rough Riders.

A high school phenomenon guided by his publicity-minded stepfather, young Knox spent a year at the University of California before transferring to UCLA. Harvey said he didn't like the way Ronnie was being handled.

The elder Knox whose ready tongue at times earned more publicity than his son's passing, Friday described the U. S. college game as "outdated as the horse and buggy." The high-priced duo had moved to Canada after the Pacific Coast Conference suspended Ronnie and other UCLA football players for all but five games because they accepted too much scholarship money. Harvey said his son was innocent.

Handsome Ronnie recently signed a seven-year contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film studio. He had to get MGM's permission to play Canadian football this autumn.

Burke 2 Up In Miller Golf Open

Milwaukee — (UP) — Jackie Burke, 33-year-old PGA and Masters Champion, clung to a two-stroke lead at the three-quarter mark in the $35,000 Miller Open Golf tournament Saturday with a 12-under-par 138.

Burke, of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., fired a one-under-par 34-35-69 to go with his earlier rounds of 63 and 68. Ed Furgol, who had been tied with Burke going into Saturday's round, skidded to a one-over-par 34-37-71 and fell into a second place tie with Bill Casper, Jr., of Chula Vista, Calif.

Burke and Furgol had been tied since opening day when they scored 63's to break the Tripoli course record.

The hottest round of the day was a 64, shot by Gay Brewer, Jr., of Cincinnati. He and Gene Littler of Singing Hill, Calif., who had a par 70, were tied with totals of 203—three strokes behind Furgol and Casper.

Cary Middlecoff of Dallas, Tex., the defending champion fired a three-under-par 67 and was tied at 204 with Jim Turnesa of Spring Valley, N. Y., Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., last year's runner-up, and Al Balding of Erindale, Ont., the Canadian open champion.

One stroke behind were Johnny Revolta of Skokie, Ill., Don January of Abilene, Tex., and Mike Fetcick of Mahopac, N.Y., with 205's.

Sam Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and John Knight of Springfield, Ill., were tied at 206.

The game between the Forty Niners and Giants is the first of two professional contests here next month. In the second game, the Los Angeles Rams meet the Pittsburgh Steelers Saturday night, Sept. 22.

Kiwanis Kids Day Set For Oregon State-Cal Grid Fray October 13

Oregon State College, Corvallis—The third annual Kiwanis Kids day has been set for Oct. 13, when Oregon State college and the University of California vie at Parker stadium here, Jim Barratt, athletic business manager, announced today.

In past years, only local Kiwanis clubs joined in the football festivities but starting with this year, the special day will be open to Kiwanis clubs throughout western Oregon.

Richard Adams, chairman of the Boys and Girls committee for the Corvallis organization, is inviting other Kiwanis groups to sponsor carloads and busloads of youngsters and send them to Parker stadium. The youngsters, of grade and high school age, will be admitted for 25 cents rather than the usual 75 cent fee.

Reduced ticket prices will apply to supervisors of groups as well as to the youngsters. Tickets for these sections will go on sale Oct. 1, two weeks before the game, Barratt said.
