Missionaries Tell of Work With Migrants

The Rev. and Mrs. Al Kantor and children of Firebaugh, Calif., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Childreth, Ross lane. Mrs. Kantor (Jean French) is a former Medford resident and a niece of the Childreths.

While here the Kantors are speaking at First Baptist church.

Wednesday the Rev. Mr. Kantor showed slides and spoke of his work as a missionary with the migrants and farm laborers in the San Joaquin valley in California. The work is non-denominational and there is no racial prejudice shown in the camp, he said. The minister has been working in that area nearly nine years and stated that this camp has 1400 to 1600 when full and averages 1000 persons. This includes people of all ages. Many families pick cotton and harvest other crops with even small children working. Many of the children do not get to attend school and one boy the Kantors knew graduated this year after attending seven different high schools in his senior year.

Average Sunday school attendance is 150, mostly children, but more adults are in attendance each Sunday, the speaker said. In addition to the Sunday services, a trailer chapel is taken throughout the camp to contact additional children. Vacation Bible school this summer had an enrollment of 160, with an average daily attendance of 105 for the two-week period, he reported.

Although the ministry is primarily a spiritual one, the missionaries also give out used clothing, canned goods, bedding, layettes, toys and games at Christmas, as people make them available. Wednesday evening a special "Christmas in August" was held for the Kantors at First Baptist church. The Rev. Mr. Kantor emphasized that even the simplest toy was welcomed by the migrant children, as many would otherwise receive nothing.

Miss Salley Calkins, young harpist from Eugene, played harp solos throughout the afternoon. Other music was provided by Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Miss Priscilla West and Miss Lizbeth Shields.

Monday evening Mrs. Otto Frohnmayer honored Miss Calkins at a party, inviting a group of college-age young people to meet the honored guest.

This is the first time in six years that the family has been able to meet for a reunion.

Candidates To Attend League Fair

Many acceptances have been received for the candidates fair, sponsored by Medford League of Women Voters and set for October 27 at the McLoughlin Junior High school, according to the voters service committee of the League.

Invitations to county and city officials to participate in the program have been sent. Candidates who have accepted the invitations include Gov. Elmo Smith, Douglas McKay, Congressman Harris Ellsworth, Mark Hatfield, Sig Unander, Senator Wayne Morse, Robert D. Holmes, Charles O. Porter, Monroe Sweetland, and Robert Y. Thornton.

Further plans for the entertainment and exhibits at the candidate fair will be made at the August 21, Tuesday, meeting to be held at the home of Miss Laura York, 517 West Tenth.

Organizations and agencies planning to have displays or exhibits in booths at the fair are the Medford Garden club, the Southern Oregon Child guidance clinic, the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, Medford J.C.'s United Nations group, elections department, and the lumbering and fruit industries. Clubs or organizations desiring table or exhibit space in the auditorium should contact Mrs. I. S. Thomas at 3-5889.

Selection of the committees for the fair was completed at the first organizational meeting August 14. Miss Laura York will be chairman of the television publicity, aided by Mrs. Alex Tummers, Mrs. Gordon MacKenzie, Mrs. N. R. Etzel, and Mrs. Don Bohnert. Mrs. MacKenzie will act as chairman for radio publicity assisted by Mrs. Ronald James. Newspaper publicity will be covered by all members of the Voters Service committee according to Mrs. Thomas, chairman.

Other fall projects for the voters service committee include sale of the State Voters Information sheet, aiding in a "get out the vote" campaign, and assisting in informing voters of ballot measures and candidates.

Members of the voters service committee who attended the August 14 meeting were Mrs. Tummers, Mrs. MacKenzie, Mrs. Harold Snodgrass, Miss York, Mrs. Etzel, Mrs. Bohnert, and Mrs. Thomas. Mrs. James and Mrs. Adam Richter, also members of the committee, were unable to attend.
