The bride wore a ballerina length dress of beige lace over taffeta and carried white gladiolus. Maid of honor, Miss Ruth King, wore a dress of aquamarine with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of red and white gladiolus.

Extension Nutritionist Gives Menu for Meats To Be Cooked Outdoors

Ames, Iowa — (U.P.) — Going "out" for dinner tonight?

All you need is the food, a roll of aluminum foil and an outdoor fireplace.

Here's a mouth-watering outdoor cookery menu from Harriett Roberts, extension nutritionist at Iowa State college.

The dinner features broiled steak and Lyonnaise potatoes. Place the steak on a piece of foil directly on top of the hot coals. If you like your steak rare, broil for 6 minutes on each side; for medium, 8 minutes; for well-done, 10 minutes. Cut a large potato and an onion into thin slices. Mix them and season with salt and butter. Wrap in foil and cook about 15 minutes.

Complete the main course with corn, roasted the foil way, says Miss Roberts. Pull the shuck away from the ear, but don't remove it entirely. Clean out the corn silk and spread the ear with butter or margarine.

Now pull the shuck over the ear and wrap in foil. Lay on grill or directly on the coals, turning frequently. Roasting should take 10 to 15 minutes.

Try fruit "kabobs" for dessert. Alternate marshmallows and pieces of fruit on green sticks. Use apples, bananas, oranges, apricots or prunes. Toast kabob until it's brown. Put between two graham crackers and serve.

HOT WEATHER "SHAKE"

New York — (U.P.) — Now it's a "soup shake" being promoted as a warm weather refresher.

Chill a can of condensed cream of chicken, cream of mushroom, cream of celery or cream of tomato soup. Add 1 soup can of milk or water and mix to a froth in a shaker, electric mixer or blender. Serve in a tall glass with a slice of lemon or lime.

If you have trouble cleaning a grater after grating cheese, rub a cut potato over the grater, advises Mrs. Homemaker's forum.

Garden Therapy Good For Veteran Patients

Pittsburgh — (U.P.) — Garden therapy is working wonders among the sick in the veterans hospitals of this area, thanks to the women of the Blackridge Garden Club.

The 11 women who comprise the club's "Garden Therapy Committee" took an orientation course offered by one of the hospitals and then went to work.

They urged each patient to plant a bulb or a house plant, then watch it grow in his room.

At holiday time, they give the patients materials with which to make a corsage for mother or sweetheart.

The women visit the patients on alternate Wednesdays.

Their program is the first of its type in this area, and the veterans' hospitals are so well pleased they have invited other garden clubs to participate.
