Samuel Pepys Recorder Group To Give Concert in Ashland

Ashland—The Samuel Pepys Recorder Consort of Los Angeles—a group of southern California musicians interested in ancient instruments and the music of Elizabethan times—will present a concert at the Oregon Shakespeare festival theater Sunday, August 25, at 4:30 p.m.

Called "Flutes and Soft Recorders," this is the fourth and final concert of the festival's music season. A large audience is expected.

Among the musicians who will perform in the concert are Mr. and Mrs. Tom D. Cooke of Los Angeles. A $1,000 grant each year from the Cookes, for the past five years, has made it possible for the festival's music program to develop.

Included on the program will be sacred music of the Renaissance, English music before Shakespeare, Elizabethan dances, English songs such as the well-known "Greensleeves" and "Willow, Willow, Willow," and others.

A special feature of the concert will be duets by Josephine Siple, spinet player, and Shirley Robbins, who plays the alto recorder.

In addition to the Cookes, Miss Siple, and Miss Robbins, members of the Samuel Pepys group who come here, at their own expense, for the concert are Dr. Pauline Alderman, Byron Arnold, Barbara Betteridge, Richard Betteridge, Frances Brockmeier, Lilli Lampl, Lambert Marks, Julia Overshiner, and Frances Wishard.

Mr. Arnold, a brother of Mrs. Darell Huson, has visited and lectured in Medford and is well known here. He is an authority on folk music of the United States.

Tickets for the concert are available at the theater box office.

Presidential News Conference on TV

San Francisco — (U.P.) — The surprise decision to televise the first "live" presidential news conference in history set off a wild scramble among the networks on Wednesday.

Each of the networks had about 30 minutes to shuttle its cameras and men to the Italian Room of the St. Francis Hotel, "fire up" the cameras and clear stations around the country.

NBC-TV and CBS-TV made it. ABC-TV didn't. Technical difficulties kayoed its pickup.
