

Stevenson, Kefauver Due in State Tuesday; Campaign Fever Soars

By UNITED PRESS
Oregon Democrats prepared today for a visit from their party's presidential and vice-presidential candidates as both Democrats and Republicans stepped up their campaign tempo following the two national conventions. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver fly in to Portland tomorrow for a six to seven hour stay in which they will meet with Democratic officials from several states to plan the fall campaign. They plan to travel to Bonneville dam and then go to Vancouver, Wash., to meet with party officials.

Law Change Affects Self-Employed People

(Editor's note: The following is one of a series of articles prepared by the Social Security Administration describing the important changes in the Social Security Law enacted by Congress this year. According to the local Social Security office, they will affect more than 600 women in Jackson and Josephine counties, 200 or 300 disabled persons, and an unknown but considerable number of lawyers, dentists and other professional people as well as farmers.)

For taxable years after 1955, self-employed and professional persons such as lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths, and optometrists, started building old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families on the same basis as self-employed persons previously covered by the law.

It is estimated that about 200,000 professional people are affected by this change in the social security law.

Many Lawyers Affected
Lawyers make up the largest number of these newly-covered self-employed professionals. Most of them are already familiar with the insurance provisions of social security. They have observed and studied it for their clients. Moreover, because of the close relationship between legal practice and fields such as business management, real estate, finance, and politics, many lawyers had moved into other lines of work covered by social security before 1956.

A great many of them came under social security as employees of other lawyers; others acquired military wage credits under social security during active service with the Armed Forces.

It is estimated that at least 30 per cent of all self-employed lawyers, at one time or another, have accumulated some earnings credits under the old-age and survivors insurance program. To these lawyers, in particular, the extension of coverage is of marked importance.

The social security credits they have built up would have steadily declined in benefit value in the years ahead; in the case of many young lawyers, they would eventually have disappeared altogether.

Dentists Included
Also brought under social security as of January 1, 1956, are an estimated 78,000 dentists actively engaged in private practice. Because of the length of time required to complete his professional training, the dentist's earning capacity in many cases does not commence as early in life as that of the average non-professional individual.

In starting his practice, he must furnish his office with expensive equipment to realize a reasonable return from his practice. If he has a wife and family, he is in need of the survivorship protection social security affords to a young widow and minor children during those years.

Exiled Archbishop Declared Director Of Eoka Underground

Nicosia, Cyprus—(U.P.)—Official British charges that exiled Archbishop Makarios personally directed the terrorist activities of the Eoka underground has plunged Cyprus into despair today.

An Eoka truce proclaimed on Aug. 16 ends today and Cypriots feared renewed bloodshed. British troops, heavily reinforced since start of the Suez crisis, took up battle stations throughout the island.

Lennox-Boyd said "these documents prove beyond any doubt whatever that the archbishop was the leader of the terrorist campaign in which 145 people have been murdered, 93 of them his fellow Cypriots."

Archbishop Makarios, 43, leader of the Greek Orthodox church on the island, was exiled to the Seychelle islands in the Indian ocean last March. Britain has refused to negotiate on Cyprus' future until Makarios renounces the use of violence.

Greece Hurls Charge
Greece reacted swiftly. A source close to the government called the British charge an effort to justify the "oppressive" measures enforced by British troops against the Enosis, or union-with-Greece movement.

"It is obvious from the hasty announcement that Lennox-Boyd is seeking to diminish the poor impression created on world public opinion by British intransigence in refusing to accept Eoka's truce offer," the authoritative source said.

farmers only through wars and their aftermath. Thornton also spoke in support of McKay and Rep. Sam Coon, who is opposed for reelection by Democratic Al Ullman.

Coon planned a tour through central Oregon this week with stops tomorrow in Bend, Wednesday in Prineville, Thursday in Madras and Friday back in Bend.

Neuberger told Multnomah county Democrats at their picnic in Portland yesterday that the Republican party has "deserted the depressed Oregon lumber industry by its failure to include a housing plank in its 1956 platform." He said that "softness" in the lumber market and the decline in sales have been attributed by industry spokesmen to the drop in new home building this year.

'Authentic Story' Of Adlai-Truman Talk Reported

London—(U.P.)—The London Evening News printed today what it called the "authentic story" of Adlai E. Stevenson's private talk with former President Truman after Stevenson received the Democratic nomination at Chicago.

Mr. Truman had opposed Stevenson's selection by the Democratic convention, maintaining he was not the strongest candidate and indicating he could not win in November. After Stevenson won the nomination, the two men held a brief meeting in Mr. Truman's hotel suite.

The Evening News version of that incident said: "Truman telephoned Stevenson to ask him if he might come down to see him in his suite. 'No, sir,' was the reply. 'I shall come up.' "The interview in Truman's suite was brief, Stevenson did not sit. The following conversation took place: "Truman: Can we let bygones be bygones? I should like to do anything I can to help you. Tell me what I can do. "Stevenson: Sir, I bear no grudge. But after saying the things you have said, I really do not see how you can help me now. "Truman: Bess (Mrs. Truman) will never forgive me... never forgive me. "Stevenson left the room."

Thornton Criticized
State Sen. Carl Francis, Dayton Republican, criticized Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton, whom he faces in November, "has used his position as a political instrument for personal gains." Thornton was returning today from a tour of duty with the Army in California.

Report of Body In Auto Checked

Portland—(U.P.)—Police had a busy time yesterday hunting a body that wasn't there.

A woman caller started it off by saying she thought she saw a car, with a body in the trunk. She said she saw an arm sticking out.

A couple of minutes later there was another call. A second woman in the same northeast area called. She, too, said she saw a hand sticking out of the trunk.

Three hours later a man entered the St. Johns police precinct. He also reported seeing the car, saying the hand was drooping over the fender.

The man had the license number. The wheels of the law began to turn. Later, police drove up to a home and waited. The mysterious car appeared.

Two youths jumped out. One nodded toward the trunk and said, "Hey... you guys can sit in front now."

"Thanks a lot," came the reply, and the voice added: "That was some Sunday drive. Real crazy, man."

Police signed their report, "suspicious auto, OK."

searchlight to sweep Nicosia's streets at night.

The charges against the bearded, Boston-educated orthodox archbishop were made by Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, and were based on the captured diaries of Greek Col. George Grivas, the rebel leader known as Digenis.

Lennox-Boyd said "these documents prove beyond any doubt whatever that the archbishop was the leader of the terrorist campaign in which 145 people have been murdered, 93 of them his fellow Cypriots."

Archbishop Makarios, 43, leader of the Greek Orthodox church on the island, was exiled to the Seychelle islands in the Indian ocean last March. Britain has refused to negotiate on Cyprus' future until Makarios renounces the use of violence.

Western Electric, CWA in Agreement

New York—(U.P.)—The Western Electric Co. and the Communications Workers of America have reached agreement on a new one-year contract covering the company's 18,000 equipment installers, it was announced today.

The new contract provides a general wage increase of 8 to 12 cents an hour over the current wage scale of $1.31 to $2.70 per hour.

Other provisions of the contract include additional holidays in some regions bringing most of the company's installers up to seven holidays per year. Additional wage increases will be made through reclassification of some regions into higher paid regions, a company spokesman said.

Former City Censor In Memphis Succumbs

Memphis, Tenn.—(U.P.)—T. Lloyd Binford, 89, the man who made "banned in Memphis" a movie promoter's slogan, died today, months after his retirement following a quarter of a century as chief city censor.

Binford kept a lively controversy going both locally and nationally during his long term as guardian of Memphians' morals in the entertainment field. He made sex, race and violence taboo.

Binford died at a nursing home following several months' illness touched off by an attack of pneumonia.

Madison, Wis.—(U.P.)—A Madison man reported to police that his newly purchased used car had been stolen right from under his nose while he was siphoning gas from his old car. Police found the new car a block away. It apparently had rolled down a hill when brakes let go.
