New Questionnaire On Security Drafted By Defense Officials

Washington — (U.P.) — The Defense Department has drafted a new, simply-worded personnel security questionnaire to stem the oft-criticized practices of "guilt by association" and "guilt by kinship."

The radically revised questionnaire, which will go into effect Nov. 1 for military recruits and draftees entering the service, represents another step in the gradual revision of Defense Department security procedures over the past year.

Both Congress and the public have criticized the program, particularly the "guilt by kinship" practice.

Recalls Landy Case

One of the most publicized of the "guilt by kinship" cases was that of Eugene W. Landy, a Merchant Marine Academy honor graduate who was temporarily denied a naval commission because his mother had been a Communist, although she had quit the party at her son's insistence.

The administration is expected to unveil an overall new loyalty-security program for government workers sometime before the November election. The program will exclude workers in "non-sensitive" jobs in keeping with a Supreme Court ruling.

Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams revealed recently that the competency of a scientist rather than unproved disloyalty charges against him would be the prime basis for determining future eligibility for government jobs.

Seattle Boy Scout Found on Rock Ledge

Seattle — (U.P.) — Richard Mizuhata, 13, Seattle Boy Scout, was reported on the road to recovery today after he was lost for a week without food in the wilderness of Mt. Rainier National park.

A heavy breakfast yesterday was the first meal the boy had since he became lost last Sunday in a heavily timbered area. When he was rescued Saturday he was fed broth and other liquids.

The Japanese-American youngster was found Saturday on a rock ledge. He was the object of a large air-ground search that involved 397 men, including 125 soldiers from Ft. Lewis, bloodhounds and two Navy helicopters.

He was in good condition except for an ankle injury and was suffering from shock.

Four Injured as Cars Collide In Two Mishaps

Four people were injured in two collisions that occurred Sunday, according to Medford police.

Mrs. Emma Ruth Magerle, 31, Rogue River, Ray-ann Marie Magerle, 4, and her son, George Carl Magerle, 3, suffered bruises and abrasions and from shock when the car they were riding in, operated by George Grant Magerle, husband of Mrs. Magerle, collided with a car operated by Melvin Orin Wright, 3321 Jacksonville Highway, Medford.

The accident occurred when Wright made a U-turn on South Riverside ave. in the 800 block striking the Magerle vehicle, police reported.

Police said after the point of impact the Magerle car traveled about 132 feet, hit a telephone pole with its rear fender, spun around, throwing Magerle's wife and children from the car, coming to rest at the base of the front steps of the Pierce Freight Lines building, 795 South Riverside ave., about 148 feet from the scene of the collision.

Mrs. Magerle and her two children were transported to Sacred Heart hospital by Medford ambulance. Hospital attendants today said their condition was good. George Magerle was not admitted to the hospital, they said. Wright was cited for failure to yield right of way.

Thelma Alberta Lyter, Gold Hill, suffered a bump on the head and shock Sunday when the car she was operating collided with a vehicle operated by Gaehart Albert Gust, Yreka, Calif., Sunday, at Court and Manzanita sts.

She was cited for having no Oregon operator's license. Gust was cited for failure to yield right of way, police said.

Pushbutton Warfare Near, Norblad Says

Washington — (U.P.) — Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore.) said yesterday the development of the inter-continental ballistic missile will bring this country "close to push-button warfare."

Norblad, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said that these missiles, once in operation, will reduce the need for large ground forces in any new war.

But he said military leaders have warned Congress that even with missiles ground soldiers will be needed to enter and occupy any country conquered in a future war.

Norblad noted this country is negotiating with the British to establish a missile-monitoring station on Ascension island off the coast of Africa. He said the island is about 5,000 miles from the United States.

Magnetic Field Strength Measured

Iowa City — (U.P.) — A device capable of measuring the field strength or intensity of the earth's magnetic field is being developed at the University of Iowa physics department.

Called a magnetometer, the device will be launched by rocket in one of the experiments being conducted by the university in connection with the international geophysical year.

The first trial of the magnetometer came with the launching of a huge "skyhook" balloon March 13. To be suitable for use in the rocket experiment, the equipment has to be made lighter, smaller and more rugged.

Red Cross Publishes Handbook for Canoeists

Washington — (U.P.) — The American Red Cross has published a handbook for canoeists, expert or otherwise.

The 445-page book, "Canoeing," deals with handling of the sensitive craft as well as safe operation. Self-rescue techniques and methods of carrying, launching and boarding are described. The book also devotes space to canoe-handling in swift and turbulent waters.

It was produced primarily for use by the Red Cross but is an invaluable guide to all canoeists, according to A. W. Cantwell, national director of Red Cross safety services.
