

Black Tornado, Jefferson Gridders Scuffle Tonight

Two successors to strong Oregon prep aggregations of 1955 collide on the Medford High school turf tonight in their first opportunity to weigh their prospects of equaling or exceeding the fine records of their immediate predecessors.

Medford's Black Tornado is host to the Jefferson high Democrats of Portland as the high school football season bows in about the state. Kick-off time is 8:15 p.m.

Jeff was Portland Interscholastic league champ and a state semi-finalist last year while Medford captured the District 6 A-1 title and dropped a spirited encounter to Marshfield, eventual state champion, in state quarter-finals.

Most prognosticators figure the Tornado as a power in southern Oregon again this year. No predictions so far have been heard concerning the Democrats.

Injuries Hamper

Medford returns to the grid with better fixed in experience than the Democrats but both clubs will be hurting somewhat from injury or sickness. The Black Tornado counts the return of 23 monogram wearers, a good number of whom saw regular or considerable service last year. Jefferson has 10 lettermen back, only two or three of whom saw regular action last year and those only on defense.

Coach Tom DeSylvia of the Demos had an extensive job of rebuilding to do if Jeff is to repeat as the PIL diadem holder. At Medford mentor Fred Spiegelberg is concerned with bolstering a number of thin spots in the line-up. The objectives can be accomplished only through game experience.

A check of the weights of likely offensive players shows Medford with more overall heat in the line and the backfields more nearly even with Medford having the extremes in size. The Tornado is heavy at the tackles with good weight at the ends and fair heat through the middle. Jeff is a bit heavier in the middle than Medford but lighter at the tackles and on the flanks.

MEDFORD TRIBUNE SPORTS

Brooklyn Likes Delay; Campy Will Be Back; Solons, Tigers Win

By JOHN GRIFFIN

The Brooklyn Dodgers defied their "doubleheader jinx" today and said they would gladly play two games anytime just to have Roy Campanella back in the lineup.

Ordinarily, the Dodgers would be crying over the rain that washed out Thursday night's game against the New York Giants and forced them to schedule a two-night doubleheader for tonight. The Bums are a post-win ball team, the record book insists.

Here are the figures: Brooklyn has played 17 doubleheaders this year—sweeping five, dropping six, and splitting six—a total of 16 games won and 18 lost. That indicates they probably will lose at least one game tonight.

But Campy, the National League's "Most Valuable Player" last year, is better than statistics, the Dodgers feel. Roy would have missed Thursday night's game because of a bruised right index finger, and his bat would have been missed against Giant southpaw Johnny Antonelli.

But now Campanella will be able to face Antonelli tonight and catch both games. This could balance out the break given the Milwaukee Braves by an off day Thursday, that enabled slugger Eddie Mathews to rest his injured ankle an extra 24 hours.

The Dodgers-Giants fray was the only action scheduled Thursday involving a pennant contender in either league.

In the only two games played Thursday, the Washington Senators scored six runs in the fifth inning to beat the Baltimore Orioles, 7-5, and pitcher Frank Lary of the Detroit Tigers pitched a four-hitter to shut out the Kansas City A's, 6-0.

Three Oriole pitchers were battered in the Senator's big inning, which included a three-run homer by Jose Valdivieso. Eddie Yost of the Senators set a club record by drawing his 142nd walk of the season and pitcher Dean Stone gained the victory, although he allowed 13 of the Orioles' 14 hits.

Lary fanned four and did not walk a man. He was backed up by homers by Ray Boone, Bob Wilson, Wayne Belardi, and Charley Maxwell.

Royal Promotes 2nd Team to 1st

Seattle—(U-P)—The University of Washington Huskies have a brand new starting eleven today.

Practice Shoot Slated Sunday

Medford Gun club members will have skeet, 16-yard and handicap shooting practice Sunday.

Traps will open at 9 a.m.

A number of local shooters plan to go to a registered shoot at Cottage Grove.

THOUGHT I SAW A PUTTY CAT—Cincinnati Redleg coach Frank McCormick bends down to gently remove a cat from the field at Milwaukee in fourth inning. The cat wasn't black enough to bring bad luck to the Redlegs, as they wound up beating the Braves in 10 innings, 4-2.

Tackles Please Prothro at OSC

Corvallis, Ore.—(U-P)—Coach Tommy Prothro is pleased with the Oregon State tackles.

He says he thinks that the Beavers "will be considerably stronger" at tackle than last season. John Witte, who is down to 216 pounds from 240 in spring practice, holds down the starting left tackle berth, backed up by converted full-back Ernie Zwahlen and Terry Salisbury.

Dave Jesmer and Ted Bates are fighting a close battle for right tackle. Jesmer saw a lot of action last year. Bates is up from the freshman squad.

Four-Way Battle For Ends at UO

Eugene, Ore.—(U-P)—A four-way battle for starting end among two rookies and two veterans is shaping up at Oregon, according to Assistant Coach Jack Roche.

The veterans are Capt. Phil McHugh and J. C. Wheeler. Wheeler, at 200 pounds, is Oregon's biggest end. Roche said rookies Bruce Brenn and Ron Stover seemed capable of filling the veterans' shoes any time.
