

Frank Van Dyke and Son Leave For Trip South

Frank Van Dyke and son John will leave this afternoon by plane for a vacation trip south. Mr. Van Dyke is combining the vacation with a conference of the Southern Regional Education Board in New Orleans, and the trip will end at Pasadena where John Van Dyke will enter California Institute of Technology as an honor freshman.

Mr. Van Dyke, vice-chairman of the Western Interstate Commission on Higher Education, will represent the 11 western states and Alaska at the conference as an observer. Mental health training and research, the place of nuclear energy in education and desegregation of public schools will be discussed during the conference.

Governors, leading educators and laymen from 16 southern states will attend the conference and workshop.

The two men will make stops in Salt Lake City, Denver and Dallas en route to New Orleans. Returning to the west coast, they will spend a couple of days in Los Angeles before going to Pasadena. The young man was named a national merit scholar during his senior year at Medford Senior High school and received the Bausch and Lomb honorary science award. He was salutatorian of his class. During the summer he worked for the Elk Lumber company and served on the staff of the Boy Scout camp at Lake o' Woods.

Mrs. Victor Hay Is Speaker For Eagle Point Club

Eagle Point—Mrs. Victor Hay spoke at the last meeting of Eagle Point Garden held, September 10 at the home of Mrs. Augusta Perry. Her topic was "Shrubs for Fall Planting."

Roll call was answered with "flowers I enjoyed most this summer."

All members were urged to cooperate in the rummage sale sponsored by the Siskiyou District, Oregon Federated Garden clubs to be held October 3-4, in the Fehel building in Medford. Any one having rummage to give may leave it with Mrs. Otto Nagel. There will also be a cooked food sale to be held at the Home Appliance store in Medford September 29. Proceeds from these two sales will be used for the expenses of the district chairman for her term in office.

The flower arrangement for the month of white chrysanthemums was brought by Mrs. Earle Jossy.

Prizes went to Mrs. Mike Heckenberger and Mrs. Jossy.

Visitors Attend Family Reunion

Eagle Point—Mr. and Mrs. William G. Phlum have returned to their home in Santa Barbara, Calif., following a 10-day visit with Mrs. Phlum's sister, Mrs. William H. Brown in Eagle Point.

During their visit the couple attended a reunion of the Brown family at the Van Scoy home September 2. The birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Lottie Van Scoy, Mrs. Phlum and Mrs. John Moffat, Medford, were observed at the reunion.

Designer Makes Cocktail Gowns In Zinnia Shades

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY United Press Correspondent

New York—U.P.—In this fashion year of flowerlike colors and feminine contours, one successful young designer frankly admits he got his inspiration from his backyard zinnia bed.

Ric McClintock gestured toward a row of midwinter cocktail dresses in his brightly lit show room.

"There they are," the tall, handsome designer said. "The same colors as my zinnias."

The dresses ranged from lemon yellow through peach and soft green into various misty blues. Even the materials looked like summer parties instead of winter cocktail gowns.

Filmy chiffons, laces and organzas are part of this winter's ultra-ladylike look. Designers like McClintock have adroitly avoided the danger of making mature women look like sweet girl graduates in the new sheer pastel dresses.

The dresses show off a womanly shape. McClintock calls it "the softened sheath." There are tucks and side drapes and back panels and draped bustlines—but they never conceal the shape beneath the sheath.

The only rule for deciding which of the new pale colors does the most for a woman, the designer said, was the time-honored one of "trying on the dress."

"It depends on a woman's skin and her hair," he added. "I don't think the color of her eyes is so important, though a great many women seem to buy a color to match their eyes."

Pattern 9013: Misses' Sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. Sizes 16 takes 4 yards 39-inch.

Trip and Party Honors Juniors

A group of members of Bliss Heine's Junior Drum corps who had taken part in 12 engagements during the summer were given a trip and party last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Ray Daniels, regent of Women of the Moose, and Mrs. John Summerfield, past regent, served as chaperones.

The group visited the plant of the Gas Ice corporation south of Ashland and watched the making of dry ice. They observed how the plant uses the newspaper which the firm buys from the Juniors, and learned why the papers must be stored in a certain manner.

On the way home the group stopped in Lithia park in Ashland where ice cream and cake were served.

Taking part in the 12 engagements, including one program in Shasta City, Calif., were Yvonne Evans, Sidney Yarnell, Theresa Fogel, Karen Fogel, Helen Peterson, Jack Webster, Janice Johnson, Vicki Webster and Krista Baker.

Linda Gearin and Barbara Daniels were guests.

Medford Woman In South Dakota

Mrs. Fred Lawrence, 1422 Euclid avenue, is visiting relatives in Ellendale, N. D. En route to Ellendale she stopped in Spokane to see relatives, some for the first time and others she had not met since 1904.

While away the Medford woman expects to visit with the members of seven different families, all descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. Christ Reimers.

Recently the Lawrence's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Rose, and their two daughters were here from Chico, Calif., for a visit.

Career Girl Home From Russia, Heads First for Beauty Shop

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY United Press Correspondent

New York—U.P.—The first place Constance Stuck headed for when she came home from a year in Russia was a beauty shop.

"Boy, the hair cuts they give you over there," the Arkansas-born career girl exclaimed. "You can go to a beauty shop all right, but you don't look very feminine when they get through with you. They seem to have the bowl hair cut idea. The men look worse than the women after a hair cut."

Miss Stuck, a well-traveled young woman in her early 30's who has been employed by the State department since 1949, has one more year to complete her Moscow assignment.

Began Buying Stock She was able to make the 10,000-mile round trip for a permanent wave and hair cut because of a remarkable series of coincidences. It began in Washington, D.C., where she then worked, with that common thing, a New Year's resolution which—uncommonly—she kept.

"A year ago last January I decided that by gum, it was time I started saving money," Miss Stuck said in her slight Arkansas drawl.

"So I just made a New Year's resolution."

She began investing her savings in stocks through the monthly investment plan initiated by Wall Street less than three years ago. Last month her name came up as the person who bought the one millionth share of stock under the plan.

The Stock Exchange and Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, her brokers, brought the astonished Miss Stuck here to celebrate.

"I couldn't believe it," she said happily. Her mother, Mrs. Howard Stuck, came from Jonesboro, Ark., to join her daughter for the unexpected visit.

"It really is easier to save money in Moscow," Miss Stuck confided. "There is nothing to spend money on and no place to go. The one place you see pretty clothes is at the ballet or the opera. But on the streets the clothes are very drab."

Spent Savings She went shopping right after her beauty shop appointment last Saturday and quickly spent some of the savings she might have invested in stocks.

"It's so easy to spend money over here," she sighed. "I bought two new suits. And I want to buy some fur-lined boots. It's pretty cold in the winter over there."

Although she ranks as a capitalist by Russian standards, the lively Arkansas career girl considers herself typical of several million other American women investors who recent surveys have shown outnumber men as stockholders in American business.

"I plan to continue my career until some nice man comes along," said Miss Stuck, who is discharging office at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. "And I plan to go on saving some money. Once you get started, it isn't so hard to keep it up."

Member Honored By Parents Unit

The September meeting of Medford Parent's Home Extension unit was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Hertager, 824 Pennsylvania avenue. A potluck dinner was served to 32 members and guests.

Following dinner Mrs. H. W. Gifford was honored at a surprise layette shower.

At the business meeting the chairman, Mrs. L. McConnell, appointed committee chairmen for the year. They are Mrs. William Jansen, membership; Mrs. Myrtle Scott and Mrs. Harold Clement, hospitality; Mrs. C. P. Smets, spring festival; Mrs. Hertager, publicity; Mrs. Lucian Van Gorden, Azalea house; Mrs. Russell Fowler, health and safety; Mrs. H. W. Gifford, citizenship; Mrs. John Johnson, librarian; Mrs. Melvin Weaver and Mrs. Kenneth Phillips, program planning.

Project leaders and meeting places for the year were also selected.

Former Resident Honored at Party

Miss Agnes Love has returned to her home in Portland after visiting with her cousins, the Misses Martha, Mary and Claire Hanley, at their home on the Jacksonville Central Point highway. Miss Love is a cousin of the Misses Hanley, and lived in Jacksonville as a small girl.

She was honored at a small party given by her hostesses for a group of her friends.

Show Entertains Jaycettes, Guests

A style show was enjoyed by Medford Jaycettes and their guests when they met last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Shangle.

Fall and winter clothes were featured. Particularly interesting were clothes showing the Mexican and Chinese influence in winter wear. Commentary was given by Mrs. Minerva

Vaughan, co-owner of the "Town and Country" shop, Eagle Point. Shoes, showing the new trend toward a more decorative shoe, were from Burelson's Shoe Salon.

A short business meeting followed the show. Members voted to act as hostesses for the League of Women voters candidates' Fair in October.

The next meeting will be September 19th, at the home of Mrs. James Asher 1524 Whitman avenue.

Member Added To Talent Club

Talent—Mrs. Leon Lockwood was accepted as a new member of Talent Garden club at the group's last meeting, held September 5 at the home of Mrs. Glen Mosser. Mrs. John McCordell was co-hostess.

Mrs. Ira Fitzgerald, district director, was a guest at the meeting.

Mrs. J. E. Harper, Medford, gave a lesson on flower arrangement.

Next meeting of the club will be a workshop on funeral plans and will be held at the City Hall. Members are to take a sack lunch and the hostesses, Mrs. Robert Wild and Mrs. E. G. Taylor will serve coffee.
