Miss Carolyn Joyce Owen Wed To Donald Bohlman

Jacksonville — Miss Carolyn Joyce Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Owen of Jacksonville, became the bride of Donald Keith Bohlman, son of Dr. and Mrs. I. C. Bohlman, College Place, Wash., in a ceremony held Sunday, August 26, in College Place.

Elder I. M. Burke of Hood River read the service in the Seventh-day Adventist church at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Baskets of white chrysanthemums and white candelabra with pale blue tapers decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin with tulle yoke. Lace accented the yoke and collar and the gown was fashioned with a full skirt. A cap of tulle and lace trimmed with seed pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of three brown Cymbidium orchids with stephanotis.

Mrs. Don Campbell was matron of honor for her sister. Other attendants were Mrs. Bill Leper, Mrs. Laverne Koorenn, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Terrie Hiebert. All wore ballerina length dresses styled with round necklines, short sleeves, gathered skirts, and cummerbunds. Mrs. Campbell wore clear blue with the other attendants in ice blue dresses. They also wore floral and ribbon headbands and carried crescent bouquets of white spider chrysanthemums.

Niece of the bride, Pamela Campbell, was flower girl and wore a frock similar to the others and carried a white basket of pink flowers.

Bible boy was John Bohlman Jr., cousin of the bridegroom. Roger Potts served as best man and groomsmen were Aubrey Burke, Lorrell Smick and Vaughn Nixon with Gene Prewitt, Bob Larrabee, Bob Bohlman, cousin of the bridegroom, Jack Smith, Dennis Owen, brother of the bride, and Glenn Patchen seating the guests.

Teddy and Gary Bohlman, brothers of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

Mrs. Edward Platner played the nuptial music and Elder Sunny Liu sang.

Baskets of chrysanthemums and asters decorated the Conard Hall dining room where the reception was held following the ceremony with Mrs. Elvera Hiebert as hostess. Mrs. Ray Bohlman, aunt of the bridegroom, was wedding hostess.

The wedding cake was cut by Mrs. Lorrell Smick assisted by Mrs. Aubrey Burke. Mrs. Gene Prewitt presided at the punch bowl while Mrs. Vaughn Nixon was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Vaughn Hiebert was at the gift table.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Owen wore a pink brocaded linen dress with navy accessories and corsage of white baby rose buds. Mrs. Bohlman chose a dress of Wedgewood blue silk with pink accessories and pink rose bud corsage.

For her traveling attire the former Miss Owen wore a gray costume with rust accessories and the brown Cymbidium orchids from her wedding bouquet. After a trip to Victoria, B. C., the couple will be at home at 25 N. E. C street, College Place.

The bride attended Rogue River academy. The bridegroom is a graduate of Walla Walla College academy and is a student at Walla Walla college where he will be a senior pre-medical student this year.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Don Owen and Den-

Health Program Set for Today

The prevention of rheumatic heart disease will be the topic of a panel discussion on KBES-TV at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Rheumatic heart disease, result of rheumatic fever, is one of the commonest causes of death among children and young adults, and according to latest medical claims, it is almost 100 per cent preventable.

Different phases of rheumatic heart disease will be discussed and illustrated by a panel of three medical men, Dr. Martin L. Vorheis, Dr. John L. Welch, and Dr. John T. Brandenburg on this public health TV program.

Mrs. Ivan Buron of the Jackson Public Health association, will moderate the program.

Business Meeting, Program Planned By Pythian Sisters

Pythian Sisters will meet on Tuesday, September 18, at 8 p.m. at the Pythian building for a business session. Special entertainment is planned by a committee.

The refreshment committee will be Mrs. Theresa Hoehe, Mrs. Myrtle Mayberry and Mrs. Edna Lamp.

Past Chiefs' club of Pythian Sisters will meet Wednesday at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. W. L. Michael, 475 Charlotte Ann Road, for a covered dish luncheon.

Pythian club met last Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Fichtner with Mrs. Emilie Conrad assisting. After the business meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, and cards were played with prizes being won by Mrs. Don Anderson, Mrs. Mabel Nicholson and Mrs. Leroy Cline.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Campbell and family, Mrs. Kenneth Bristol, sister of the bride, and Terrie Bristol, all of Medford.

General Election Provides Theme For Fall Style Show

The coming general election provided the theme for a fall fashion show and luncheon held at Rogue Valley Country club by Junior Service League members. Funds from the event go for the support of the league's kinder-

Guests were presented a copy of the "Official General Election Ballot" of the league when they arrived at the club, the "ballot" listing the models as running for senator, commissioners and other offices. Small American flags and cut outs of the Democratic and Republican party donkey and elephant decorated the tables, and large pictures of the presidential candidates and campaign posters and stickers covered the dining room walls.

High style clothing from several valley stores was modeled by league members both afternoons, and the applause from the audience marked the degree of interest shown in the various suits, dresses and gowns. Mrs. Frank Hopewell modeled a smart black dress with very low square neckline and bloused back which caused a ripple of excitement from the assembled women. Mrs. Hopewell, who at one time modeled professionally in the east, wore a pastel mink stole and a large black hat with feathered brim with the dress.

Also of more than ordinary interest was a two-piece knit wool jersey modeled by Mrs. Berwick Wood. The dress had sleeves of a bulky material which contrasted with the jersey, and a sleeveless jacket.

Mrs. Jack Lewis wore an imported ensemble made in Old Mexico which consisted of a sheath dress with a fringed stole worn pancho fashion over the shoulders. One of the dresses modeled by Mrs. Robert C. Taylor was a boldly striped frock accented with a small black velvet hat with a front bow. Bows, it might be added, are found on everything this fall.

Clamshell beige was the color of a dress worn by Mrs. Edward Collins, who completed the costume with a large feather-trimmed hat. One of the frocks modeled by Mrs. Richard Reum was a black velvet sheath with bodice front of lace and beads.

The oriental influence was evident in a Chinese Mandarin dress with tight slitted skirt, black and brown combinations are fashionable, and the sheath dress, not too long, is still very popular. Other members who modeled for the show were Mrs. Donald Herried, Mrs. C. H. Herman Jr., Mrs. R. E. Hibbs and Mrs. Gordon Hudson, who modeled the first.

One hears that the millinery industry is making a vast effort to "bring back hats" and if so, it seems the industry is successful. Hats dominated the ensembles worn by the models, and many of the hats are either made entirely of feathers, or feather trimmed.

Mrs. B. Brandt Bartells, incoming league president, wore a white felt hat with down-turned brim, and Mrs. M. D. Field's black velvet hat was trimmed with white feathers. Mrs. Carl H. Wimberly Jr., league member who read the commentary, wore a white felt hat with her red dress, and Mrs. Warren Whitlock's large white hat was covered with fluffy feathers. Mrs. Roy Pfister wore a small white felt hat with her green dress.

Black, of course, is the perennial favorite for fall and winter, and among those who wore this color was Mrs. Harold C. Clover. Her ensemble was

Inca... a "modern primitive" by

The distinctive design is delightfully informal; the handwrought texture adds charm and interest. This "modern primitive" by Fostoria was suggested by an ancient culture—but note Inca's lightness and up-to-the-minute styling. Colors complement informal tableware; there's a size for every informal use. As to price—very low for handcrafts of such quality. Come see our open-stock collection.
