One Veteran In Running In Gals' Am

Indianapolis, Ind. — (U.P.) — The old guard had only one representative in the semi-finals of the National Women's Amateur golf tournament today with two Washington teen-agers and a 22-year-old Canadian star holding the other spots.

The veteran still left in the chase which 105 players began Monday was Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, a Mason City, Iowa, housewife who in the past was a strong competitor in Western tournaments, but rarely a factor in the national event.

But the standouts still surviving were the younger challengers, 17-year-old Joanne Gunderson, the National Junior champion from Seattle, Wash., 19-year-old Anne Quast, Western Amateur champion and former Junior champion from Everett, Wash., and MaJene Stewart, a Fonthill, Ont., player who in 1953 won the British Amateur title and who this year captured the Canadian Open and the American collegiate crown.

Bruins, Utah Launch First Full Week End Of College Football

By JOE SARGIS
United Press Sports Writer

UCLA, one of the schools punished by the Pacific Coast conference for over-enthusiasm in procuring players, meets Utah tonight as the first full week end of college football gets underway across the nation.

The Uclans, hurt as much by graduation as the punishment meted out by the PCC, still are regarded as formidable and they get a chance to prove it tonight against a Utah squad which is expected to improve slightly on its 4-1 record in the Skyline conference in 1955.

Nine other games are on tap for tonight. None of them, however, involve major teams.

The big teams—Pittsburgh, Notre Dame, Maryland, Georgia Tech and Southern California—swing into action Saturday and all are favored to come out on top.

Irish Meet SMU
In perhaps the top game of the day, Terry Brennan's Fighting Irish bump into Southern Methodist at Dallas, Tex. ND is favored by 13 points despite the loss of eight regulars from last year's crew.

The Pitt Panthers, touted by many "experts" as the top team in the East, begin what may be the most ambitious schedule in the country favored by two touchdowns over West Virginia at Morgantown. Pitt's crumpling split-T power is expected to be too much for West Virginia to handle this early in the season.

Tommy Mont makes his debut at the Maryland helm as the Terrapins, the nation's third-ranked team last year, play host to Syracuse. Maryland is picked by 13 points despite the loss of star quarterback Frank Tamburello to the Army.

The first of the NCAA's weekly nationally televised programs finds Georgia Tech playing Kentucky at Lexington on Saturday with the Ramblin' Wrecks the choice by 10 points. Only three players are missing from the Tech team which racked up a 7-0 victory over Pittsburgh in the 1956 Sugar Bowl game. NBC begins telecasting this game at 3:15 p.m. EDT.

In Saturday's other feature attraction, Southern California, another of the punished PCC clubs, opens up against Texas at night in Austin. Halfback Jon Arnett, one of the Trojans' stars limited to five games this season, will be in the lineup with USC favored by seven points.

Oklahoma, the 1955 national champion, and all of the powerful Big Ten schools are idle, but most of the Southwest teams will be busy. Texas A&M, expected to be the top team in the Southwest, meets Villanova, Rice is favored over Alabama and Arkansas is picked by 14 points over Sammy Baugh's Hardin-Simmons crew.

In other leading games Texas Christian is at Kansas and is favored by 19 points, Oregon and Colorado are rated even, Missouri is picked over Oregon State, Baylor is the choice over California, Florida and Mississippi State are even. Vanderbilt should get by Georgia, William & Mary gets the nod over Wake Forest, and Duke is a solid 19-point favorite over South Carolina.

Miguel Berrios, Chestnut Foes
Detroit — (U.P.) — Two hard-punching featherweights, Miguel Berrios and Ike Chestnut, fresh from victories over higher-ranked fighters, will meet in a 10-rounder at Olympia Stadium tonight.

The fight will be nationally televised.

The 5 feet, 2 inch Berrios, a muscular fireplug from Puerto Rico, is a willing body puncher while Chestnut, of New York, three inches taller, has knocked out two of his last three opponents.

Babe Now Taking Food by Mouth
Galveston, Tex. — (U.P.) — A medical bulletin issued by John Sealy Hospital disclosed today that Mrs. Babe Zaharias is again taking nourishment by mouth.

The Babe had been fed intravenously during the last several weeks. She is fighting cancer, for which she has undergone three operations. The bulletin said she was in good spirits.

2 PCC Grid Tiffs Slated On Saturday

By DON THACKREY

San Francisco — (U.P.) — The lid flips off the 1956 Pacific Coast football season on the Pacific Coast this week end with a flock of intersectionals and only one game that has bearing on the eventual Rose Bowl representative.

The lone contest on the road to Pasadena pits Stanford's favored Indians against rebuilding Washington State in a night game at Spokane. Stanford figures in the Rose Bowl picture and Washington State is also an eligible, though highly unlikely, candidate.

There is one other Pacific Coast Conference game — that between Washington and Idaho in Seattle. But Washington can't go to the bowl because of rule infractions and Idaho can't because the team does not play enough conference games.

Home Games
Only two other PCC teams have home field appointments for the first Saturday of the new season. California entertains Baylor from the wild and woolly Southwest Conference while UCLA plays host to Utah in Los Angeles tonight.

The rest of the schedule is a road trip one for the PCC teams. Southern California also tests a Southwest conference foe by journeying to Texas to play the Longhorns.

The University of Oregon goes to Colorado to take on the Buffalos of the Big Seven and the other Oregon PCC team — Oregon State — likewise invade the midlands. The Beavers battle Missouri at Columbia, Mo. San Jose Faces Drake

Two highly regarded independents in California — San Jose State and College of the Pacific — both get into action on their home fields Saturday night.

San Jose State hosts Drake University and COP puts its high-scoring sophomore Dick Bass on exhibition against Colorado A&M.

Fresno State, another independent, travels to Utah to do battle with Brigham Young university.

Arizona, which opened its season victoriously last week, plays host to Wyoming.

Northwest Loopers Vie

By UNITED PRESS

All six Northwest conference football teams launch their 1956 schedules this week end, meeting non-conference opponents.

Pacific university gets a slight jump on the others, meeting the California Aggies Friday night at Davis, Calif.

Other games see Linfield entertaining Portland State Saturday afternoon at McMinnville. Lewis and Clark traveling to Bellingham to meet Western Washington; Whitman going to Central Washington; Willamette facing Whitworth at Spokane and College of Idaho hosting Eastern Oregon at Caldwell.

Lewis and Clark and College of Idaho, co-champions last season, are co-favorites again this year. They meet Oct. 6 at Caldwell.
