Experts Report On Results of Towel Testing

Corvallis—Linen fabrics might be better than cotton for some household jobs, but cotton holds up better than linen after repeated launderings, according to recent studies at Oregon State college.

Comparison of cotton, cotton-flax and linen toweling shows that for some soap and water jobs, cotton works best, and in others linen might be more satisfactory.

In drying tests conducted by Florence Petzel, head of the OSC clothing and textiles department, new cotton toweling absorbed more water than linen ones—up to a certain point. As cotton became "wetter," its absorbency decreased. This means that for an ordinary batch of dishes, new cotton towels do a good job of drying. Miss Petzel explains. But for big dishwashing jobs, fewer linen towels could be used to dry dishes because linen absorbs more water after it's damp than cotton.

In tests on new toweling, linen dried faster, but didn't take up as much moisture as all-cotton or cotton-flax mixtures. With repeated launderings, linen becomes lighter and doesn't dry as well as when it's new. However, linen towels do not leave "lint" and feel smoother to the touch, which makes them ideal for polishing and dusting. The OSC home economist says. Because of its absorbency, a damp linen cloth is handy for wiping up spilled liquids.

After continued use of both materials, tests revealed that cotton fibers withstand repeated launderings better than linen. Cotton threads seemed to hold up better than linen that had gone through several wash cycles.

The studies were made by the OSC researcher to learn more about drying properties of different fabrics for household and industrial uses.

Meeting Planned By Howard PTA

Howard Parent-Teacher association will hold a "get acquainted" meeting Tuesday, September 25, at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

After introduction of the teachers a short film on dental health will be shown. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria after the meeting.

Mrs. Tom Eaton is president of the group.

Feathers, Furs, Fluff Make Up Hat Fashions For Fall Wear

New York—Fall hats are feminine with a capital "F"—for feathers, furs and fluff! Sumptuous materials, rich colors and dramatic silhouettes make beautiful hats the focal point of every costume. On that both American and European couturiers agree. So it's quite logical, this year, to go head first into fall fashion.

For immediate wear, you'll find a new flattery in a softly draped hat of velvet or felt. Or you might choose an all-feather bonnet. For the flirty about feather hats for both day and evening wear highlights some of the smartest fall and winter costumes.

While wide, wide brims are wonderful under the summer sun, the "picture hat" makes news for fall, too. In the romantic mood of Cecil Beaton's costumes for "My Fair Lady," the beautiful big hat of ostrich plumes, draped velvet or satin, tulle and lace will be worn with cocktail and evening clothes for

Quadrennial Goals To Be Discussed

The new quadrennial goals toward which the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church throughout the United States will be working are to be presented to the local society on Tuesday, September 25, at 1:30 p.m. Speaking will be Mrs. Oliver P. Taylor, conference secretary of promotion, and Mrs. Charles Jones.

Music is being planned for the meeting by Mrs. Jones, and a time will be given for group discussion of ways to reach the goals in the local society.

Preceding the program meeting will be the prayer group at 10:30 a.m., the business session at 11 a.m. and a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. All interested women in the community are invited to attend. A nursery for pre-school children will be provided free of charge.

Friendship Night Planned by Chapter

Order of Eastern Star, Reamers chapter, will hold the annual Friendship Night Thursday, September 27 at 8 p.m. at the Medford Masonic Hall. All members of Eastern Star are invited to attend.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting. Mrs. Albert Stout and Mrs. Raymond L. Martin are chairman and co-chairman.

Hair 'Rats' of Grandma's Time Due for Return

Dallas—U.P.—Grandma's hair "rat" soon may emerge from the mothballs.

Hair styles, like dress styles, are going back to the days when Granny was a girl. The National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association reports. The association, at its convention here, decreed the "Bouffant" as the number one hair style for fall and winter.

This puff-out bouffant style was produced by grandma with the aid of hair puffs or rats. Now, the hairdressers said, the proper permanent and setting are all that's necessary. But Roll tortillas with a filling of chopped onion, grated cheese and chunks of ripe olives. Place in shallow baking dish and top with a canned enchilada sauce. Cover and bake in moderate oven about 25 minutes. Serve topped with more cheese.

Serve drained canned cling peach halves topped with partially thawed frozen raspberries for a buffet dessert. Almond butter ball cookies are delicious with it.

don't rule out the old-fashioned method of faking.

The stylists also forecast the revival of elaborate hair ornaments—jewelry, combs, feathers and veils.

Cook a package of French-cut green beans according to directions, drain and add a tablespoon finely chopped onion, ¼ cup French dressing, salt and freshly ground black pepper. Chill thoroughly. Serve in lettuce cups with topping of chopped salted almonds.

Organizations which submit news to the society and women's section of The Medford Mail Tribune are asked to mail the name of the group, and the names of the president and reporter to the office in the near future. A file of such organizations is maintained for use of the paper and to loan.
