Ike Says Of H-Bomb Tests Would Be Foolish

Washington—U.P.—President Eisenhower said today it would be foolish for the United States to stop H-bomb testing without getting a foolproof agreement with Russia and the rest of the world to do the same.

Mr. Eisenhower set forth his position in a news conference statement replying to Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson's proposal to ban H-bomb tests.

The President also said he has found it necessary to intensify his campaigning to clear away what he called the underbrush of opposition mistatements.

Concerning H-bomb tests the President declared that the American purpose in conducting such experiments is to develop clean bombs which will not create a widespread radioactive hazard.

He said that if this country stopped testing on its own, there would be nothing to prevent Russia from going ahead with laboratory development work and achieving tremendous advantages while the United States stood still.

Any such unilateral action by this country would, he said, be foolish.

Other highlights of the President's news conference:

1. He said on the eve of the U.N. Security Council debate on the Suez canal that he still is convinced a peaceful settlement of the crisis is possible.

2. He specifically replied to charges made by Stevenson in New York Thursday night that this administration has been making "Johnny come-lately claims" in an attempt to "seize partisan credit" for federal civil rights accomplishments.

3. He said that in World War II he became the first combat commander who ever used Negro troops on the battlefield mixed in with white troops. He agreed that general desegregation in the armed forces ran into opposition in some military quarters and that he believed after the war that general desegregation might cause some trouble.

4. Mr. Eisenhower said his reelection campaign isn't being conducted quite the way he originally hoped. That, he said, is because he has found it necessary to clear away what he called the underbrush of opposition mistatements and get the facts before the people.

5. He said that Vice President Richard M. Nixon reported that his recent 32-state campaign trip was most encouraging. The President said Nixon told him he encountered the largest and most enthusiastic crowds of his political career, and found the American people quite happy. He said Nixon did not ask him to step up his campaigning. The vice president told him to just go on doing what he has been doing, the President said.

6. Asked whether he thought the $1 minimum wage should be raised again, Mr. Eisenhower said he first wanted it extended to cover people who haven't got it now. He said whenever the minimum is raised, it becomes harder for the man who is not covered to get coverage, because the difference between his wage and the minimum is getting greater all the time.

7. He said it has always been his administration's policy to increase the tactical strength of the armed forces. He said there has never been any announcement of any plans to reduce the strength of the U. S. Army. But he said new weapons may make it possible for the Army to carry out its mission with fewer men. He said that since the Korean war Army strength has, in fact, been reduced by about 700,000 men.

8. Mr. Eisenhower said he has no firm plans for political appearances beyond those already announced. But he made it clear there will be some more campaign trips by him. He said he would like to make about one short trip a week because he

Orphaned Infant Back With Mother; Woman Arrested

Insatiable Desire Blamed in Abduction

Chicago—U.P.—One-month-old Ronald Bucher, abducted from his home by a woman with an insatiable desire for a child of her own, was found today in her care.

Police returned the infant to his distraught mother, Mrs. Lois Bucher, 21, and arrested Mrs. Gladys Bynum, 26, who wept, "I wanted a baby of my own."

Police said the child appeared well fed and unharmed, but they took the infant to St. George Hospital for a physical check to make sure.

Mrs. Bynum, married for six years, said she is unable to have children of her own.

She told police she feigned pregnancy Thursday by stuffing baby clothes beneath her dress, then set out with the deliberate intention of abducting a child.

In a dime store, she struck up an acquaintance with Mrs. Bucher who invited her to the Bucher home.

Asked To Call Cab

There she feigned illness and asked Mrs. Bucher to call a cab. The Buchers have no telephone, and when Mrs. Bucher went out to make the call, Mrs. Bynum picked up the baby and fled.

Police making a door to door check of the neighborhood questioned Mrs. Mary Kowalski, who said a woman carrying a baby had asked her husband for a ride home. Kowalski told officers she answered the description of Mrs. Bynum.

He said the woman fondled the child throughout the trip and told him she was six months pregnant.

Lt. James McMahon of the homicide squad sent two officers, Ed Cagney and Joe Corcoran, to the apartment where Kowalski said he dropped off the woman and child.

When the policemen entered the Bynum apartment, they found Mrs. Bynum caring for the child on a divan.

Man Sentenced to Two Prison Terms

Paul Leon Jacks, 21, Ashland, was sentenced to consecutive five-year and one-year terms in the penitentiary this morning after pleading guilty in circuit court to separate charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and burglary not in a dwelling.

Jacks had originally pleaded innocent to a charge of rape and trial in that case was to begin this morning. He had also pleaded innocent to the burglary charge and trial in that case was scheduled for next week.

O. H. Bengtson, defense attorney, asked Judge H. K. Hanna for permission to change the pleas after conferring with Jacks this morning. He said the defendant had expressed a reluctance to subject several juveniles involved in the case to the ordeal of a rape trial.

Judge Hanna permitted Jacks to change his plea to guilty of the lesser crime of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and to change his plea from innocent to guilty of the burglary charge. He was sentenced to five years on the contributing charge and one year on the burglary charge.

Burns—U.P.—Virginia Cuthbert, 22, of Ontario, Ore., was killed outright last night when the car in which she was riding failed to make a curve and turned over 25 miles east of here.

Saturday Final Registration Day

Tomorrow, Oct. 6, is the last day residents may register to vote in the Nov. 6 general election.

The county clerk's office in the courthouse and firehalls in Medford will remain open until 8 p.m. for voter registrations. Elections department officials said residents inside the doors at 8 p.m. would be allowed to register, but doors would close at that time.

Courthouse Closed

Since the courthouse usually is closed Saturdays, elections department officials said entrance to the courthouse and the clerk's office will be through the annex door near the parking lot behind the courthouse.

In order to vote Nov. 6, residents who must register are:

- 1. Those who have never been registered before.
- 2. Those who failed to vote in either the primary or general election in 1954, and whose registrations were therefore cancelled.
- 3. Anyone who has moved to a new address since last registering.
- 4. Anyone who has changed his or her name, either by marriage or by court action.

Eligibility Requirements

A voter must have become 21 years of age by Nov. 6, and must have been a resident of the state of Oregon six months prior to election day.

If both the eligibility requirements are fulfilled between Oct. 6 deadline for registration, and Nov. 6 election day, the person must register before 8 p.m. tomorrow. A notation will be made on the registrar's book that the person has become eligible to vote between Oct. 6 and election day.

Voters who will be absent on election day, or who are unable to travel to the polls, may obtain absentee ballots from the county clerk's office. The absentee ballots must be turned in at least five days before the Nov. 6 election.

Linn County Jail Escapee Captured In Stolen Auto

Coos Bay, Ore.—U.P.—Ernest Leroy Gibson, who escaped from the Linn county jail last month and was the object of one of Coos county's biggest manhunts, was captured near here early today, state police reported.

He was the second of the four escapees to be captured in two days.

Gibson, 29, was arrested about 7:05 a.m. in a car reported stolen during the night at Empire. State police said the car was parked between Coos Bay and North Bend and that Gibson was inside.

Hunted By Huge posse

Gibson, who faced a life prison term for the robbery of the Linn county treasurer's office, had been hunted by a huge posse in the rugged Seven Devils area of Cape Argo state park.

James A. Patton, another of the Albany escapees, was captured yesterday at Manhattan Beach, Calif. Police said they had spotted him several days ago and were watching him in hope that one or more of the other escapees would turn up.

All four of the escapees faced life prison terms, and three were accounted for.

Gibson was identified by Bend taxi driver Lloyd Van Dyke as the man who forced him to drive to Coos county earlier this week.

A third escapee, Dan C. Ott, was found drowned in the Willamette river near Salem about two weeks ago.

The fourth escapee was Earl Junior Bonney, 31, Silverton.

Jury Acquits GP Man Of Grand Larceny

Frank R. Close, 44, Grants Pass, was acquitted by a circuit court jury yesterday afternoon of a grand larceny charge involving a power lawn mower and a garden cart.

Close had been accused of taking the mower and cart from the Grants Pass residence of Harry Neal, now a resident of Redding, Calif., during the flood last winter.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating about 30 minutes. The trial began Tuesday morning. O. H. Bengtson was attorney for the defense and District Attorney Walter Nunley represented the state.

"How D'Ya Stand on the Dodgers And the Yanks?"

Employment Activity High Here Last Month

Employment activity during September, usually the peak employment month, was high with very little unemployment, according to John J. Patton, manager of the Medford office of the state employment service.

The number of unemployed persons in Jackson county as of Sept. 30 was estimated at 350, including 100 women, Patton said. The figure was 28 per cent above last month and 15 per cent above the same time a year ago.

Patton said the 1956 year harvest was practically complete at the end of the month and good weather throughout the season assisted in getting the crop picked on time. Lumber and plywood prices continued to drop, he said, and were a cause for concern, although there were no sizeable layoffs during September because of the conditions.

Layoffs in lumber and logging usually are due to inclement weather and the size of the unemployment applicant group can be judged by the amount of rain or snow, he said. With lower prices many operations will be inclined to shut down in weather which would not usually cause shut downs, Patton said.

He said that the few who were out of work were mostly women and older men who could not do the relatively heavy work in the orchards and packing houses.

With the completion of fruit processing work in October, and the general seasonal let down usually experienced in the fall, Patton said unemployment can be expected to increase considerably.

New hiring will be slow during the next 60 days, he said, with almost no other activity other than Christmas fruit packing, which will be starting or materially expanding during the period. Most hiring will be to replace regular turnover, he said.

During October, he said, a special effort will be made to increase employment opportunities for physically handicapped workers. The program is a year around effort in cooperation with the Jackson county committee for employment of the handicapped. Patton pointed out that experience has demonstrated the value of using physically handicapped workers.

Woodburn Air Base Delayed for Year

Portland—U.P.—Work was received here from the national capital yesterday that construction of the new $30 million air base in the French Prairie district near Woodburn, Ore., had been delayed for a year.

Lack of money was assigned as the reason. Congress authorized expenditure of $13,508,000 during 1957 and 1958 for construction of the joint Air Force-Navy base and later appropriated $2,400,030 for land acquisition and initial construction.

But the Air Force found it necessary to review all construction projects when Congress appropriated only $1,200,000 instead of the $1,600,000,000 requested.

Pear Harvest Nears Completion in Area

Pear harvest in the Rogue valley will be completed this week with the exception of winter nels and P. Barry varieties and a few boss, C. B. Cordy, county horticulture agent, said today.

Harvest weather has been good this season, Cordy said and harvesters lost only a couple of days as the result of rain.

The pear crop this year has been reported as a near-record yield, despite major losses resulting from August storms.

March AFB, Calif.—U.P.—A B47 strato-jet, America's medium atomic bomb, crashed in flames near here shortly after takeoff today, killing its three crewmen.
