

Dulles, Britain, France in Agreement On Suez Canal Resolution To Go To UN

United Nations, N. Y. — (U.P.)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reached "complete agreement" with Britain and France today on a Suez Canal resolution to be put before the U. N. Security Council.

Assistant Secretary of State Carl McArdle said he concurred in a British statement that "complete agreement" was reached on the resolution in a conference among Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau this morning.

The resolution was scheduled to go before the council when it meets later today.

Dulles talked with Lloyd and Pineau for two hours.

A U. S. spokesman said he planned to see separately Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak before leaving for the United Nations.

Spokesmen Uninformative

American and British spokesmen were uninformative about this morning's talks. They said the three foreign ministers discussed "the whole sum and substance of the British-French proposal and the prospects for it." They talked about procedure and tactics in the momentous debate, they said.

Britain and France were ready with a resolution asking the council to endorse the London Suez conference proposals for international operation of the canal, nationalized by Egypt on July 26. The plan, originally proposed in London by Dulles, was approved by 18 of the 22 nations present.

Dulles was reported to approve the plan only "in principle" now, convinced that British and French attempts to press for a quick Security Council acceptance would lead only to a Soviet veto. The American position was reported to be that a "machinery of negotiation" should be set up, and that with seven foreign ministers here there was no time like the present.

Suit Filed Against Medford Company

Ira F. Powers Furniture Company, Portland, is seeking a total of $11,273.43 in a complaint filed in circuit court against Medford Furniture Company.

The plaintiff asks judgment of $8,112.80 in the first cause of action, $2,232.03 in the second cause, and $1,198.64 in the third cause.

In the first cause of action, the complaint states Medford Furniture Company owes the plaintiff $6,572.40 principal on a promissory note, $270.20 interest on the same note and $1,000 attorney fees.

The Portland firm alleges in the second cause that the defendant owes $2,232.03 plus six per cent per annum interest on merchandise delivered during April, May and June of 1956. In the third cause, the plaintiff claims to have paid $1,198.63 for the defendant to a credit corporation on Sept. 28, 1956, and that the defendant has never ent. Dulles said Thursday night the council meeting might be the "most momentous" in history of the body.

Dag Participation Urged
Abdel Khalik Hassouni, secretary general of the Arab League, said in a statement issued in New York that the council could point the way toward a peaceful solution by arranging negotiations in which Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold could play an active part.

He also offered an alternative solution—creation of a negotiating body from among members of the Security Council with Hammarskjold sitting with this group. He said non-members could be invited to join.

U. N. delegates meanwhile were focusing some attention on Cairo, India's roving diplomat, V. K. Krishna Menon, arrived there today for new talks with Nasser. They were believed discussing a compromise plan in which Nasser would agree to negotiate with a team representing all users of the Suez Canal.

Krishna Menon may bring this plan to New York.

Kefauver Shifts Campaign Fight To 'Right To Suffer' Statement

Tucson, Ariz. — (U.P.)—Senator Kefauver shifted his fight today from Vice President Nixon to President Eisenhower and his White House aides.

The Democratic vice presidential contender, in a speech prepared for delivery at Phoenix, Ariz., glibly at the statement of Presidential Assistant Howard Pyle that "the right to suffer is one of the joys of a free economy."

"This is a joy which we Democrats — which Adlai Stevenson and I and your leaders here — don't wish to further inflict upon you," Kefauver said.

Explanatory Comment

Pyle made the statement at a news conference on May 23. The White House later issued an explanatory comment on the remarks by Pyle who had described the right to "prosper" a joy of a free economy also.

Kefauver's derisive use of the Pyle remark for campaigning in Arizona, where Pyle was once a GOP governor, followed a new jab by Kefauver at President Eisenhower. Kefauver delivered it in an evening speech in suburban Los Angeles before boarding his chartered campaign plane to fly to Arizona.

The senator prefaced his comment by saying that Republicans had been trying to keep President Eisenhower isolated on a "mountain" while other GOP campaigners do the "grubbing."

"The time has come when President Eisenhower can no longer stay on his mountain top. We are getting over that," Kefauver said.

Kefauver also blasted former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

He charged at a news conference that the Republican high command apparently had decided that Dewey "will be the one to take the low road this time."

Asked To Comment

The Democratic vice presidential candidate made this statement when asked to comment on the former New York governor's recent speech in which he attacked Adlai E. Stevenson as an "ill-informed, impulsive and mediocre" man.

"I expect we can look for more underhanded statements from Mr. Dewey," Kefauver said. He said Dewey was on the

Nixon Says GOP Has No False Hopes for Early End of Draft

Washington — (U.P.)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon Thursday night said the Republicans are not going to hold out false hopes about ending the draft in the immediate future.

Nixon's statement was a new GOP slap at Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson's proposal to review the need for continuing the draft and end it as soon as national security permits.

The vice president spoke to a nationwide radio and television audience at an unusual half-hour news conference with eight reporters in cities across the nation. The cities were among those he visited during his recent 16-day campaign swing through 32 states.

"We aren't going to tell the American people—hold out any false hopes that they can end the draft at some time in the immediate future," he said. "It is completely irresponsible to suggest it can be done."

The vice president said that "thousands of American boys" went to Korea unprepared and that "some of them died because they didn't have the training. Under President Eisenhower that will never happen."

"I assure the American people that as soon as it is possible to end the draft it will be done," he said. "But we're not going to kid the people in an election year."

Portland — (U.P.)—Vice President Richard Nixon said last night that the partnership plan for power development had run into difficulty because "the support has not had the support he should have had in Congress."

Nixon made the remark in reply to a question by Arden K. Pangborn, editor of the Oregon Journal. Pangborn was one of eight newspapermen who voiced queries before television cameras throughout the nation last night.

The coast-to-coast hookup was sponsored by the national Republican senatorial committee and was billed as the first transcontinental press interview.

Pangborn asked Nixon what the administration planned to do to carry out the partnership plan announced by President Eisenhower. Nixon said the plan was designed for full development in a way that did not leave the federal government to do it all—"for we do not have the funds for it."

Farming Third in Accidental Deaths

Chicago — (U.P.)—The coming of the mechanized age brought an increase in accident fatalities among farmers.

An Iowa City physician said that farming ranks third among the major industries in accidental deaths, with motor vehicle accidents responsible for the greatest proportion.

Dr. Franklin H. Top, writing in the American Medical Association Journal, said that when the farmer rested his horse he also rested himself.

Farm machinery, said Top, enabled the farmer to stop his rest period, but only increased his fatigue. The physician said that studies show there is a mid-morning and mid-afternoon peak in which the majority of farm accidents occur.

Dead line Sunday Classified is at noon Saturday, 10 a.m. Monday for Monday; other days 9:30 previous day.

FOUND DEAD IN CAR
Salem — (U.P.)—Harry Ness, 63, Salem, was found dead in his wrecked automobile yesterday near the state hospital farm four miles east of here. A doctor said Ness apparently died of a heart attack.
