Russia Proposes Treaty Assuring Passage in Suez

8-Nation Committee Formation Suggested

United Nations, N. Y. — (U.P.) — Russia proposed today that the United Nations set up an eight-nation negotiating committee to draft a new treaty guaranteeing freedom of passage through the Suez Canal.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov suggested informally that the committee should comprise Egypt, Britain, India, Russia, France, the United States, Yugoslavia and Iran or Indonesia and Sweden.

Shepilov's suggestion came after Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi rejected the proposal of Britain and France that the UN Security Council endorse the London Conference proposal to internationalize the canal. Fawzi also suggested a negotiating committee.

Shepilov said the committee could be instructed to draft a treaty to replace the Convention of 1888 governing Suez Canal traffic and be instructed to prepare an international conference "to be attended by all countries using the Suez Canal" to consider and approve the new compact.

Shepilov, like Fawzi, rejected the plan to internationalize the Suez and pointedly remarked the Panama Canal was controlled by one country—the United States.

Shepilov accused "American oil monopolies" of planning to take over the administration of the canal under a "consortium." He accused Britain and France of acts of sabotage against the operation of the canal. These, he said, included refusing to pay tolls and instigating non-Egyptian pilots to walk off their jobs.

Fawzi, presenting the Egyptian case in the second day of the Council's Suez debate, offered a solution but proposed a set of principles that might be considered by "a negotiating body of reasonable size."

Britain and France last Friday submitted a resolution asking the Council to endorse the London Conference proposals to internationalize the waterway and to urge Egypt to deal with the western-formed Suez Canal Users Association while negotiating a final settlement with the West.

REGISTRATION CLOSED—Voter registration closed quietly in the county courthouse Saturday as only a handful of citizens waited to be registered in the last few minutes prior to the 8 p.m. deadline. The number of new registrations was less than half of what was anticipated, totaling about 2,000, according to an election department estimate. Mrs. Bereth Hopkins, county clerk, and Mrs. Eugene Peterson, election deputy, shown above, assisted by six clerks, handled registrations that reached a peak between 6 and 7 p.m. Saturday. Voter pamphlets, distributed from Salem, will be in the mails soon. Jackson and Marion are the only counties in Oregon that prepare address stickers for the pamphlets, assuring prompt distribution even to those registering late.

Hunter Suffers Cut Head, Loss of Rifle
Ernest C. Harris, Central Point, suffered a head cut which required six stitches while on a deer hunting trip Saturday, but the injury does not bother him so much as the loss of his rifle.

He said his 300 Savage rifle with scope and leather sling was mislaid following the mishap and was not brought back to Central Point.

Harris was in the back of a pickup truck being driven by Frank Cruse, Medford, a short distance from Dead Indian road on the south side of the road and near the mountain summit. The truck started to roll downhill when a deer was spotted and Cruse applied the brake. Harris fell, hitting his head on a log.

Cruse brought Harris into town for treatment. The injured man left it up to his hunting companions to take care of his equipment. Somehow the rifle was mislaid. Harris said the rifle is an 1899 model with serial number 60054. He has requested the finder to telephone him at NOrmandy 4-1120.

Mrs. Brown told the coroner they were returning from a hunting trip in the mountains and that Anderson and her son were riding on the fenders shooting at porcupines.

The brakes were said to have failed going around a curve and Anderson was thrown off and under the vehicle. He was dragged about 87 feet, according to a report by United Press. No one else was injured.

Morse-McKay Feud Becomes More Bitter as Voting Nears

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of dispatches on the most important and interesting of the election battles across the nation.)

By JACK KERR
United Press Correspondent
Portland, Ore. — (U.P.) — Sen. Wayne Morse has described President Eisenhower as "the most dangerous man ever to have been in the White House."

Morse has charged Mr. Eisenhower with being "completely lacking in all political morality." And to back up his words with action, he has dropped the Republican label on which he was elected six years ago and become an out-and-out Democrat.

That is why Wayne Morse today is the one man—outside of Adlai Stevenson—the Republicans most want to beat in the

Supreme Court Agrees To Decide Scores of Cases

Red Issues, Pro Football on Agenda

Washington — (U.P.) — The Supreme Court staked out a heavy workload for itself today by agreeing to decide scores of cases ranging from the rights of congressional witnesses to the anti-trust status of professional football.

A millionaire's alimony troubles, appeals from convicted Communist leaders, labor-management relations, and other issues also were represented in the big docket of cases the justices accepted for review during their current term.

The court acted today in a series of terse orders, without written opinions. Oral arguments and decisions on the cases accepted for high court scrutiny will be scheduled later.

Red Issues, Pro Football on Agenda
Agreed to decide whether congressional investigators may require an ex-Communist to name persons he knew in the past as Communists. The question was raised by John T. Watkins, Rock Island, Ill., union leader who was convicted of contempt for a 1954 appearance before the House committee on un-American activities.

Agreed to decide whether professional football is exempt from the federal anti-trust laws. In previous rulings, the court has exempted professional baseball but held that professional boxing is subject to anti-trust laws.

Agreed to examine the alimony troubles of millionaire Cornelius Vanderbilt, who has challenged the constitutionality of a New York law under which a state court awarded $250 a week alimony to his fifth wife, Patricia W. Vanderbilt, from whom he obtained a Nevada divorce in 1953.

Stevenson Appeals For Funds To Pay For TV Broadcasts

'Dollars for Memos' Day Scheduled Oct. 16

Chicago — (U.P.) — Adlai E. Stevenson said today he is "gravely concerned over lack of funds" to pay for television broadcasts of his Democratic campaign speeches.

The presidential candidate took to the telephone to appeal to Democratic chairmen of the 48 states and the District of Columbia to drum up enthusiasm for "Dollars for Democrats Day" Oct. 16.

Stevenson said the Oct. 16 door-bell-ringing drive for small contributions "is an urgent mission, second only to getting out the votes on election day."

"I need not tell you that so far our overall campaign has been progressing well," he said. "All around us we sense a rising tide of optimism, which is completely justified."

Says He Is Winning
"We are winning the campaign. But we must not be allowed to run out of gas. We must continue to use this valuable, and costly, medium of television to keep talking sense to the American voter."

Concerned over lack of funds to pay for this vital television communication," Stevenson said.

Stevenson said he hoped that nearly 500,000 Democrats would take part in the fund drive working 24 hours "and longer if necessary." He said money raised will be used to buy TV time so that he and his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver, can carry their campaign "into 38 million television homes" before election day.

Big Phone Set-up
Stevenson placed the calls from his country home at Libertyville, Ill., northwest of here. Telephone company officials said more than 40,000 miles of wires, cables and microwave systems and 21 phone companies were involved in the complicated hook-up.

Press Secretary Clayton Fritchey said that so far as he knew this was the first time this technique had been used.

The maps in addition to showing the proposed routes, also have details of property ownership and construction and right of way costs estimates for the four proposals.

City Officials Plan Meet on Annexation

Washington — (U.P.) — The Defense Department has decided to recommend an end to the doctors' draft next year, a representative of the American Medical Association said today.

2-0 WIN GIVES YANKEES LEAD

New York — (U.P.) — Big Don Larsen pitched the first perfect game in World Series history today. He did not allow a single Brooklyn batter to reach base as he shut out the Dodgers 2-0 to give the New York Yankees a three game to two lead in the 1956 classic.

Larsen threw only 97 pitches as he turned back 27 Dodgers in a row, seven of them on strikeouts as he made a fourth inning home run by Mickey Mantle and another Yankee run scored in the sixth inning stand up to put the Yankees ahead in the series for the first time.

Brilliant Fielding Makes Win Possible
So perfect was Larsen's hurling that he threw three balls to only one batter—Pee Wee Reese in the first inning. Then with a three-two count he slipped a third called strike by the Dodger shortstop.

It took brilliant fielding by his teammates to make his perfect game possible.

In the second inning, Jackie Robinson hit a hard ground ball to the left of third baseman Andy Carey which looked like a hit. But Carey got his glove on the ball and deflected it to shortstop Gil McDougald who threw Robinson out at first.

Close Foul Ball Saves Home Run
In the fifth, Mantle made a diving catch in deep left centerfield to rob Gil Hodges of an extra base hit and the next batter, Sandy Amoros, then lined what looked like it might be a home run down the right field line.

But at the last minute the ball curved foul by inches. Mantle's homer—his third of the series and his eighth in series play—was the first hit given up by Maglie, who lost a heart breaker.

The 39-year-old Dodger curve ball specialist, who had won the first game of the series, gave up only five hits. But the first one would have been enough for the tall good looking Larsen.

Mantle's count was two and two when he drove a Maglie curve ball into the stands.

Insurance Run Added in Sixth Inning
In the sixth, the Yankees added an insurance run when Carey led off with a single. With two strikes on him, Larsen sacrificed Carey to second, from where he scored on Hank Bauer's single.

Maglie was to shut out the Yankees after that, getting the last three hitters he faced in the eighth inning on strikes. But as good as his pitching was, it was no match for Larsen's.

Play-by-play:
Dodgers first: Gilliam and Reese struck out. Snider lined out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Yankees first: Bauer popped out. Collins bunted out. Mantle flied out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees third: McDougald bunted out. Carey and Larson fouled out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers fourth: Gilliam rolled out. Campanella struck out. Snider struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees fourth: Bauer bunted out. Collins struck out. Mantle hit a home run. Berra lined out. One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Dodgers fifth: Robinson flied out. Hodges lined out. Amoros bunted out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees fifth: Slaughter walked. Martin forced Slaughter. McDougald lined out and Martin was doublet. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers sixth: Furiolo and Campanella popped out. Maglie struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees sixth: Carey singled. Larson sacrificed. Bauer singled, scoring Carey. Collins singled. Mantle bunted out and Bauer was trapped off third. One run, three hits, no errors, one left.

Dodgers seventh: Gilliam lined out. Reese and Snider flied out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees seventh: Berra fouled out. Slaughter flied out. Martin singled. McDougald walked. Carey bunted out. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Dodgers eighth: Robinson bunted out. Hodges lined out. Amoros flied out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees eighth: Larsen, Collins and Bauer struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers ninth: Furiolo and Campanella bunted out. Mitchell, batting for Maglie, struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
