Settlement Smaller Than First Report

Joseph C. Ayoutt, New Pine Creek, Ore., plaintiff in a personal injuries suit against Medford Corporation, was awarded $3,500 last week in a settlement out of federal district court, rather than $75,000 as was previously reported.

In the suit, which developed from an accident near Central Point May 4, Ayoutt had asked for damages totaling about $82,000. The case had been scheduled for trial last Wednesday.

Federal district court was to resume at 2 p.m. today in the federal courtroom of the Medford post office building. Six other cases are on the calendar for the current term.

Ball Game Too Much For Market Business

New York—(U.P.)—Stocks added small amounts to last week's substantial rise in a quiet session today.

The market was at its best for the day when the ball game started but the World Series was too much for the list. Prices eased from the highs and volume fell sharply from the early deals. First hour trades were at a rate of 2,200,000 shares for a full session. By the end of the fourth hour the market had barely passed 1,000,000 shares.

Steels had a good market as the industry reported record operations last week and scheduled a further record high this week.

Driver Gets Citation Following Accident

Gerald Rolston Kime, 16, route 1, box 600, Central Point, was cited by state police for improper changing of lanes after his car collided with another at the intersection of Highway 99 and Berrydale ave., Saturday at 6:50 p.m.

According to state police, a car operated by Anne Elizabeth Crawford, 23, of 131 Lincoln st., was headed south on the inside lane of Highway 99. It was stopped in preparation for a left turn on Berrydale ave.

Kime, also headed south on Highway 99, was reported traveling in the outside lane. Officers said he passed another car and apparently failed to see Mrs. Crawford's vehicle before hitting it.

There were no injuries and damage to both cars was reported minor.

Resolution Protests Curtailment of Trains

Yreka — The Shasta-Cascade Wonderland association last week passed a resolution protesting curtailment of two Southern Pacific daylight trains.

The two trains have been serving most of the northern California counties.

In the resolution, the association pointed out to the California Public Utilities commission that curtailment of the trains would discourage people from the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland counties. They also claim it would place a heavy burden on the area's already limited transportation facilities.

Two Women Injured As Cars Collide

Two women suffered minor injuries Saturday when their car was struck from behind by a car operated by Eugene Chauncey Whitely, 105 Winema Way, Medford, at East Main and Cottage sts., according to Medford police.

Natalie Louise Barker, 34, route 1, box 448, Medford, suffered minor contusions and abrasions to her forearm and elbow. A passenger in her car, Mary Barnes Sturdevant, 35, Ardmore, Okla., suffered minor abrasions and contusions to her leg and knee, officers said. Neither of the women were taken to the hospital for treatment, it was reported.

Police said the accident happened when Whitely failed to see the traffic stop. He was cited for following too close, police reported.

Child Suffers Minor Injuries in Accident

Myrna Marie VanOrtwick, 4½-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. VanOrtwick, 1074 Biddle rd., Medford, received scratches and bruises Sunday afternoon, when she was struck by a car near her home, according to state police.

Officers said the accident occurred on Biddle rd., between McAndrews rd. and Jackson st., at 12:30 p.m. Driver of the car was Dennis L. Conner, 22, of 208 Stark st., Medford.

Conner told officers he was traveling north on Biddle rd., when the child ran in front of the car. He swerved to avoid hitting her, but a trailer he was pulling struck the girl, knocking her to the ground.

She was taken home after treatment at Sacred Heart hospital. Conner was not cited, police said.

The U.S. secret service bureau was established in 1860 and its only function at that time was to apprehend and prosecute counterfeiters.

Approximately 7,000 persons are victims of drowning in the U.S. annually.

Around Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Correspondent

Hollywood—(U.P.)—In the darkness of the Mocambo nightclub a stocky middle-aged woman wearing glasses, a plain black dress and a sweater appears in the back of the room and singing, walks toward the stage.

Aline Mosby

There, standing in the spotlight, with her brown hair slightly mussed, she looks for all the world like a housewife who got up to conduct a PTA meeting.

Then she belts out old favorites like "Lazy River" and "Mary Lou" with an astonishingly strong voice and hep beat—all the time beating a battered old cymbal.

That is the way a new star was born. Roberta Sherwood, after 37 years of trying, finally hit the big-time at the age of 43.

Only last spring she was an unknown singer in a Miami saloon for $125 a week, working to support her sick husband. Suddenly celebrities from a big hotel across the street such as Frankie Laine, Walter Winchell and Jan Murray, noticed her and began to spread the word.

Hard Struggle

Roberta was booked into New York's smart Copacabana club. She was hustled in August to the New Frontier hotel in Las Vegas and then to her first appearance in Hollywood.

Now Roberta sings for $7500 a week. She'll appear on NBC-TV this fall and Warner Studio is dickering for her life story.

"I'm the oldest new star in existence," cracks Roberta. "I get nice letters from older people who had given up trying for success until they heard about me."

The new star has a story of harrowing struggle. At six she was singing in vaudeville with her father, Bob Sherwood, and mother. At nine she danced in carnivals and wild west shows. She never went to school past the seventh grade. For 18 years she was a dancer in touring vaudeville, including three years as a "Hawaiian" hula specialist.

She married actor Don Lanning in 1939. They opened their own bar in Miami and sang together. They reared three boys, now 18, 13 and 8.

Hated in Glasses

"I became a housewife, but I never gave up my goal of success as a singer," she said. "When you're born and bred in show business there's a bit in your teeth and you never lose it. When my husband got sick with cancer I went back to work."

Now that she's in the big-time Roberta is turning down advice to wear glamorous clothes and give up her glasses and sweater.

"I'm grateful for the security this money gives me but I take it in my stride," she said calmly.

"I wore the glasses in Miami because I saw better with them, and the sweater because it was chilly. Gene Austin hated me in those glasses but I won't give them up.

"It's no use to compete with glamour girls. I'm not built for that type of clothes. To have mink and earrings wouldn't be me!"
