Young College Graduates To Appear in Play Tuesday

Five young college graduates make up the cast for the children's theatre production "Johnny Applesed," being presented here Tuesday, October 9, under the sponsorship of Medford branch, American Association of University Women at Craterian theatre.

Playing the title role in the production is Fred Thorp, voted "outstanding actor" at Fresno State college. Currently working on his master's thesis, he is looking forward to the tour as a "rounding out" of a theatrical education. His portrayal of the young John Chapman who becomes "Johnny Applesed" in the play is that of a skilled woodsman, interested in planting his first apple orchard on the banks of Brokenstraw creek.

Fred Thorp plays with sincerity and conviction the role of a man who, at a time when living was extremely dangerous, threw away his gun, and faced wild animals and Indians with courage.

The Seneca Indian in the play is named Tall Tree, and is played by William Dallman, a student at San Francisco State college.

LONGER LIFE FOR ELASTIC In Shorts, Socks, Bras, etc.

How many times have you had to discard otherwise good garments because the elastic has stretched to uselessness? This is a needless waste that can be prevented by using White King Soap. No other type of wash-day product preserves elastic like White King Soap. So, from the day you buy them, be sure to wash elasticized socks, petticoats, undershirts, girdles and bras only in White King Soap. You'll add months to the life of garments with White King Soap.
