SCENE OF DESTRUCTION—Fire, which destroyed a dry kiln at Donna Timber Products, near Central Point, Monday night, was still smoldering at noon Tuesday, as mill employees stood by and watched for any further outbreak. Damage to the kiln, including the pine lumber inside, was estimated to be worth $100,000. V. A. House, general manager, said plans are being made to rebuild as soon as cleanup work is complete. Above, Lloyd Gorman, employee of the mill, damps the charred remains.

Griffin Creek Request For Consolidation Is Discussed by Board

Possibility of Griffin Creek school district joining the Medford school district was reported at a Medford school board meeting last night.

The board authorized School Superintendent Leonard Mayfield to contact the Griffin Creek district board chairman to arrange a joint meeting to consider a Griffin Creek district request for consolidation.

The board also announced that school population growth will make a new elementary school necessary in the north section of the school district by fall of 1958. Mayfield was authorized to begin preliminary planning for the new school.

Mayfield, chairman of a state committee studying the basic school support formula, reported that the committee's policy is to seek changes in the present equalization formula, resulting in a higher percentage of support for Jackson county schools.

Mayfield explained that present equalization funds are distributed on a population basis, making "the rich counties richer, while the poorer counties get less." He pointed out that equalization aid for Jackson county has fallen from 17.13 percent of the 1947-48 budget to 4.27 percent in 1955-56.

He said that the school support formula will be considered in a regional meeting of the Oregon School Boards association, Oct. 16 at Jefferson school. Jackson and Josephine county school board members will attend. Mayfield added that the directors will also consider action to take on proposed legislation which the OSBA is sponsoring in the next session of the state legislature.

The board accepted the resignation of W. C. Pirkle, science teacher at McLoughlin Junior High school, and approved the hiring of two other teachers. Jack Vincent, Portland State college graduate, will replace Pirkle at McLoughlin, and Miss Jane Jeldness will teach chemistry. English and algebra at Medford High school.

The board also decided to invite school board members from Eugene, Salem, Roseburg, Grants Pass and Klamath Falls to meet with the Medford board to discuss comparable school needs and problems in November.

State Court Denies Former Red to Bar

Salem—(U.P.)—The Oregon Supreme Court today denied the petition of Frank V. Patterson, Portland, a former Communist, for admittance to the State Bar on grounds his testimony had been untruthful as to the aims of the party.

Maps, Cost Estimates on Freeway Routes Available

Jackson county residents will have opportunity to voice opinion on location of a proposed Highway 99 freeway from Blackwell hill to Ashland at a hearing in the courthouse auditorium Thursday, Oct. 25.

State highway commission representatives will present data on the West Medford or West Side line, and three other proposed routes.

Detailed maps of all four routes, and information on cost estimates for each, have been received here and are posted in the city hall and courthouse. Officials in both buildings report a considerable number of people have viewed the maps since they were posted.

Hearing Scheduled

The hearing was originally scheduled for last spring, but after a large number of residents requested a survey on the West Side route, it was postponed pending completion of the survey.

Estimated cost of the West Side line, involving 25.36 miles, is $22,497,000. This includes $19,245,000 for construction and $3,252,000 for right of way. Estimate for this route is approximately $4,000,000 more than estimates for any of the other three routes.

Estimated cost of the Hillcrest line, consisting of 25.67 miles, is $18,580,000 for construction and $1,763,000 for right of way, a total of $20,343,000. Genesee line, 25.75 miles, $15,500,000 for construction and $2,795,000 for right of way, or a total of $18,295,000; and Hawthorne park (Bear Creek route) involving 25.68 miles, $16,327,000 for construction and $2,396,000 for right of way, or a total of $18,723,000.

West Side Route

The West Side route starts in the north near the top of Blackwell hill, leaving the present section of new highway which goes on to Seven Oaks corner. It then cuts southeasterly, crossing Willow Springs rd. and Scenic ave., to a point just west of Central Point. After crossing Taylor rd., there is an interchange for Central Point. The route then crosses Beall lane and continues diagonally, crossing the Jacksonville-Central Point rd., between Ross lane and Beall lane, then crosses Ross lane.

It crosses the Jacksonville-Medford highway near Oak Grove rd., where there is an interchange to give access to the highway from the city. The alignment then cuts diagonally across Lozier lane, Cherry st., Dixie lane and South Columbus ave., continuing southeast about one-third mile to southwest of Jefferson school, between Kings highway and Voorhies rd.

Carpenter Hill Road

The route crosses Carpenter hill rd., just west of the intersection with Voorhies rd., and parallels the present highway west of Phoenix. Alternate routes then branch out, one crossing in the east to join the proposed east-side alignments and the other passing Talent on the west before crossing Bear creek.

The Genesee line has interchanges at Seven Oaks, North Medford, Crater Lake highway and South Medford near Barnett rd., and Stewart ave. Further south, interchanges are at Phoenix, Talent, North Ashland, Oak st., Green Springs and South Ashland. In Medford, the route would be on a line including Genesee and Cottage sts.

Hawthorne park, or Bear Creek line is an elevated route parallel to Bear creek along the east bank and over the west edge of the city park. The Hillcrest route runs east of town with interchanges at Seven Oaks, North Medford, Crater Lake highway and South Medford at Barnett rd. Further south, interchanges are at Fern Valley rd., North Ashland, Oak st., Green Springs

Egypt Is Pressing For Suez Solution To Keep Control

Dag Hammarskjold Has Secret Talks With Menon

United Nations, N.Y.—(U.P.)—Egypt pressed today for a negotiated solution to the Suez dispute "consistent with Egyptian sovereignty" over the canal, but there were no signs that Egypt or Britain and France were ready to compromise.

United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was using his own brand of quiet diplomacy in an effort to find a solution through "secret talks while Indian's V. K. Krishna Menon worked behind the scenes with a yet unannounced "compromise plan."

Hammarskjold conferred Tuesday night with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and Egypt and called them in for another private talk this afternoon as "the parties most directly concerned" in the Suez dispute.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was understood to have disqualified himself as a "directly concerned" party entitled to participate in the secret talks. As a result, Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov was not invited either.

The Security Council itself was in recess until 3:30 p.m. Thursday to allow diplomats 48 hours in which to hold private meetings. Hammarskjold's diplomatic hand obviously was playing a major role during the 48 hour period.

Sen. Wayne Morse will arrive in Medford at 10:25 a.m. tomorrow for a day of campaigning in Jackson county.

On the schedule is an address at Southern Oregon college, in Ashland at 1 p.m. followed by a tea at the residence of R. Drew Lamb in Ashland.

Senator Morse is scheduled to appear on KBES-TV between 6:30 and 6:45 p.m. Thursday. He will attend a Jackson county Democratic Social club dinner following the television appearance, and attend the Veterans Allied council sponsored Candidates Fair at the Labor temple.

He is scheduled to speak at 7:30 p.m. at the Fair, and has scheduled an address at a Democratic rally in the Esquire theater at 8:30 p.m. The latter meeting is open to the public.

Pat Graham, secretary of the Veterans Allied council, said most local candidates have indicated they plan to attend the Candidates Fair, and several state and national office candidates have indicated that they will be represented.

Crater Lake Gets First Snowfall of Winter Last Night

The first snow of the winter season fell at Crater Lake National park last night.

Rain started falling about 6 p.m. yesterday and later turned into snow. A trace was on the ground today, according to park officials, and motorists were advised to carry chains on the rim road and the north entrance rd.

The north entrance rd. will remain open until snow prevents travel along the route.

Weather bureau officials here this morning said the freezing level over Medford was 6,400 feet, and that it was quite probable that snow covered Mt. McLoughlin last night.

The first snow fell at Crater lake on spots of snow remaining from last winter's heavy snowfall.

Meanwhile, the southwest district office of the state forestry department reported that lookouts were brought in from four stations in the northern part of the district today because of rains starting yesterday afternoon and continuing through last night.

California Oregon Power company reported 44 inch of precipitation was measured at Prospect, and rainfall in the Butte Falls area was about the same.

Lookouts vacated

Lookout sites vacated were Fredenberg, White Point, Burnt Peak and Round Top. Lookouts were still on duty at Battle Mountain, Mt. Isabelle, Anderson Butte and Soda Mountain.

State forestry department officials said that forest closure restrictions in the Butte Falls, Prospect area will be lifted at midnight tonight. Permits will no longer be required to enter the area.

Officials issued a warning however, concerning fires in forest areas. They said that although there has been a little rain, there has not been enough to make the woods entirely safe, and asked hunters to use care in building warming fires.

Three Europeans Gunned Smashing Roadblock

Algiers, Algeria—(U.P.)—Three Europeans were machinegunned to death and another wounded today when they tried to smash their way through a rebel roadblock 60 miles west of Oran.

The incident was the highlight of another day of sporadic but intense action in the Algerian rebellion, only 21 days short of its second anniversary.

Ike Hits Stevenson For Charge 'Little Fellow' Neglected

President Tells 15,000 Demos Twisted Facts

Pittsburgh—(U.P.)—President Eisenhower charged Adlai E. Stevenson Tuesday night with political irresponsibility in implying the Republican administration cares nothing for the "little fellow."

In a major speech to an enthusiastic crowd of 15,000 at Hunt Armory, Mr. Eisenhower declared the Democratic orators have "concealed or twisted" the facts.

"Those political orators promise bigger government spending on every front—lower taxes for every citizen—all wrapped up in the bright package of a balanced budget," the President said at a GOP rally which climaxed a late afternoon and evening of ovations in the traditionally Democratic steel center.

Mr. Eisenhower departed from his prepared text when he accused Democratic orators of a "whole series of curious statements falsely implying" that his administration cares nothing for "the man they rather patronizingly call the little fellow."

"By the way," he said, "who has the right to call any American the 'little fellow'? Doesn't the word American still mean we are all equal?"

"I wonder just what kind of political children they think the American people are. I also wonder what kind of man they think I am."

Hits Opposition Proposals

Mr. Eisenhower said Stevenson and his Democratic running mate, Estes Kefauver, are making a "record of clattering campaign oratory" and cited as examples the issues of "big business" versus "small business," the draft, H-bomb tests, national defense and peace.

"They say your government is indifferent to labor," he said. "They say your government is negligent in social security—indifferent to the unemployed."

"This amounts to saying that your government has no interest in the people of America. This amounts to the charge that your government has betrayed your trust. Such talk is political irresponsibility at its worst."

Replying to Stevenson's statement that the draft might be halted in the foreseeable future and that the United States should take the lead in halting H-bomb tests, the President said he was speaking "with the greatest seriousness."

"I, as your President and commander in chief of the armed forces, cannot and will not make proposals contrary to national interest—not offer you attractive prospects unjustified by world realities," Mr. Eisenhower said. "I will not promise that winning a peace based on justice will be cheap and easy."

Stevenson Fashions More Direct Reply To Ike's Charges

Seattle—(U.P.)—Adlai E. Stevenson ripped up a speech today which was set for delivery tonight in Portland, and fashioned a new and more direct reply to President Eisenhower's charge of "political irresponsibility" on the part of the Democrats.

Stevenson was scheduled to speak in Portland tonight at 8:30 p.m. (PST).

After the President, speaking in Pittsburgh Tuesday night, accused Stevenson and his Democratic running mate, Estes Kefauver, of conducting a campaign of "political irresponsibility," Stevenson began rewriting his speech for tonight.

This new development marked Stevenson's increasing inclination to engage in a person-to-person political combat with the President, rather than directing his campaign artillery toward the Republicans in general.

In his Seattle speech Tuesday night, Stevenson first sailed into Mr. Eisenhower on political grounds. He said the Chief Executive had stepped up his campaign because his "worried Republican managers" had told him "a part-time president is all right, but they cannot afford a part-time candidate."

However, he saved his major artillery for a new attack on the atomic power policies of the administration. He challenged the sincerity of the administration in its "atoms for peace" program.

It was the plan that Mr. Eisenhower put before the United Nations in December, 1953, right after the Big Three meeting in Bernuda.

Brooklyn—(U.P.)—The New York Yankees crushed the Brooklyn Dodgers 9-0 under a barrage of four home runs today to win the World Series behind the brilliant three hit pitching of young Johnny Kucks.

It was the most humiliating seventh game defeat in series competition since 1934 when the Cardinals routed the Tigers, 11-0. Yogi Berra touched off the Yankee bombardment with a pair of two run homers off big Don Newcombe, who failed the Dodgers again.

Skowron 'Grand Slam' Scored Off Craig

Elston Howard blasted another homer off Newcombe in the fourth and Bill Skowron put the icing on the Yankee victory cake with a grand slammer off Roger Craig, the third Dodger pitcher, in the seventh.

Thus the Yankees won their seventh series flag in the past 10 years and gave Manager Casey Stengel his sixth series triumph in seven tries.

Only six Dodger batters reached base all day—three on walks and three on hits—and only one got as far as second.

The 23-year-old Kucks was in trouble only once, in the very first inning. He walked Pee Wee Reese with one out and then Duke Snider rifled a single to center. Reese stopping at second.

But Kucks, whose sinker had the Dodgers hitting into the ground most of the time, served a double-play ball to Jackie Robinson, hero of Tuesday's 1-0 Dodger triumph. That was the closest the Dodgers were to come to scoring off Kucks, who in two previous appearances in relief in this series had been hit hard.

Yankees sixth: McDougald singled. Carey bounced out. Kucks struck out. Bauer fouled out. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Yankees seventh: Craig replaced Beasant on the mound for the Dodgers. Berra singled. Mantle walked. Martin and Mantle advanced on a wild pitch. Berra walked. Skowron bounced out. Four runs, three hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees eighth: Skowron replaced Beasant on the mound for the Dodgers. Berra singled. Mantle walked. Martin and Mantle advanced on a wild pitch. Berra walked. Skowron bounced out. Four runs, three hits, no errors, none left.

Meeting Scheduled Tonight To Discuss Annexing Berrydale

A meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the city hall for residents of the Berrydale district which has been proposed for annexation.

The meeting will be to discuss legal and financial implications of annexation. Residents of the district will vote Nov. 6 on the annexation proposal.

The Medford city council

called the annexation election earlier this month after petition with more than 330 names were submitted to the council asking annexation.

General Boundaries

The general boundaries of the Berrydale district are east of the Southern Pacific railroad tracks to a point just north of Merriam rd., then eastward including a section along Table Rock rd., and extending in a southerly direction to just west of Biddle rd. and south to McAndrews rd.

The proposed annexation area does not include property owned by Medford corporation.

Separate ballots will be provided Nov. 6 for the special annexation elections in the Berrydale and Grandview-Kenwood districts, according to City Manager Robert Duff.

Another election Nov. 6 will be for annexation of an "island" in the east part of Medford which is wholly surrounded by the city. Residents in the "island" will not vote on the annexation proposal. The suggested annexation will appear on the ballot as with five other proposals on which Medford residents will vote.

Voters League Sets Information Program

A 15-minute television program on voting information will be presented at 2 p.m. Friday, Oct. 12, on station KBES-TV by members of the Medford League of Women voters.

Those participating in the discussion will be Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter, Mrs. John Day, and Mrs. I. S. Thomas, voters service chairman. Special emphasis will be given to matters of write-in votes and absentee ballots, Mrs. Thomas said.

She noted that about 1,000 Jackson county residents vote by absentee ballot and the elections department has stressed a need for more education on absentee ballot procedure.
