

Lone Pine School Annual Carnival To Be Saturday

Lone Pine — Students, parents, and teachers of Lone Pine school are preparing for the school carnival to be held Saturday, October 27 at 7 p.m. in the school gymnasium. Lone Pine Parent-Teacher association is sponsoring the carnival to raise money to assist in providing a turf field for such activities as flag ball, volley ball, tumbling, and primary activities.

Students of all eight grades are gathering votes for their candidates to be the queen chosen from each class by the students themselves. The candidate having the most votes will be crowned queen of the carnival that night.

The general admission of twenty-five cents will entitle the holder an opportunity to vote for the queen and to participate for the numerous awards to be given throughout the evening. There will be no admission charge for those holding queen candidate tickets. Prizes will be awarded. Games of skill and other forms of entertainment will be in play.

Refreshments will be sold in the cafeteria. An invitation is extended to the public and every one is welcome to attend.

The group has purchased a trailer which is equipped for serving dinners and refreshments out of doors.

Mrs. Gene House, chairman for the bloodmobile in that area, urged all who possibly could to sign up as a donor. She stated there was quite a shortage, and more were badly needed. The auxiliary will take charge of the kitchen. Mrs. Jim Cassal, Mrs. Jim Hopkins, Mrs. Dale Sawyer and Mrs. Agnes Hubbell offered to assist in the kitchen. Mrs. Ed Leaming and Mrs. Dan Krot will assist in other work.

Hitchcock Speaker Here; Ballot Measures Explained

Republicans heard explanations of the general election ballot measures and a talk by Phil Hitchcock, Portland, at a luncheon meeting yesterday of Jackson County Republican Women. The Pioneer room of the Jackson hotel was filled for the event. Mrs. Wayne Stine presided, and Manville Heisel was moderator.

State Senator Philip Lowry and Representative Ed Mann and E. A. Littrell spoke on the measures, with Moderator Heisel allowing Senator Lowry additional time to discuss the measure which would permit the legislature to attach the emergency clause to revenue bills, because of its importance.

Senator Lowry began by saying that "this is the most important of all the measures, in my opinion" and urged its support. After pointing out that under present laws, the legislature cannot attach an emergency clause to revenue measures, he added that in the past almost all such measures had been referred to the people, and thereby did not go into force for almost two years, if at all. This seriously handicaps the legislature in providing funds for the state's operation, he stressed, and also pointed out that because only five per cent of those who voted for the supreme court judges in the last election may refer a measure, a very small number of voters can nullify the work of the legislature.

The senator said that the measure would take away the right of referendum on revenue measures, but that it did not deprive the voters of their right to replace the legislators who passed such tax measures, or the right to initiate legislation which would change the laws.

Senator Lowry said the state's tax program has not brought sound and equitable results. He stressed that this bill has nothing to do with a sales tax, but that it considers only a principle of government, namely, will the legislature be given the power to pass a tax measure which will then operate for two years.

"This comes to the matter of confidence," Senator Lowry concluded. "It is a matter of whether or not the voters trust the legislature to enact fair and equitable taxation laws." He said that various organizations, including the Oregon Grange, are opposing the measure.

Senator Lowry prefaced his talk by saying "If there was ever a time to send Republican legislators to Salem, it is now; I earnestly urge you to vote for Republican candidates."

The senator also discussed the cigarette tax referendum saying "no one was particularly keen about it" but that since the state absolutely must have revenue, it had been passed. He said many states already tax cigarettes.

Representative Littrell explained the referendum which would permit the state to accept and dispose of gifts of corporation stock, and the initiative which would prohibit certain fishing in coastal streams.

Representative Mann discussed the referendum which would approve the present annual salaries of the governor, secretary of state and treasurer and the supreme court; the one which provides that the legislature may set up qualifications of the county coroner and surveyor, removing them as constitutional offices, and the measure which would amend the constitution to increase the salaries of state legislators. He stated that the first is merely a "house cleaning" measure since actually the constitution in this respect has been ignored for years.

Mr. Hitchcock, who was Douglas McKay's opponent for the U.S. senatorial nomination in the primaries, strongly urged his listeners to support all the Republican candidates in this election. He said the party had given Oregon good government for many years but has grown "soft, fat and lazy" during that time. He said the Republicans need to interest youth, to overcome the idea that it is the party of "the superannuated and dead." "We are not the party of the privileged, but of the principles set forth by Lincoln," he stressed.

He quoted former Dean DuBach of Oregon State college as having said recently, "government cannot give you anything until it first takes it away from you," and added, "government cannot be all things to all people."

Mr. Hitchcock reminded his listeners that "we are now the minority party in this state," said there would be "chaos and conflict" in the legislature if it is divided politically, and closed by saying "you can change the complexion of the party if it does not suit you now."

The audience was urged to write in the name of William McAllister of Medford for judge of the supreme court and it was stressed that not only must the name be written in, but the "X" placed before it. It was
