

Democrat, Republican Share Stand at SOC

Ashland — A Democratic candidate for congress and a Republican candidate for secretary of state of Oregon spoke at a Southern Oregon college assembly here this morning.

Mark Hatfield, Salem, candidate for the state job, pledged his record as being one of "ways looking toward the long objectives, not just speeding the immediate problem of government, with no planning nor consideration of human rights."

Charles O. Porter, Eugene, Democratic candidate for congress from the fourth district, and student leaders shared the platform.

Porter complimented Hatfield but deplored the fact that Hatfield would have to work with Elmo Smith, "your governor by accident."

Deplores Attempt
Porter deplored Richard Nixon's attempt to take "credit" for the Republicans for the supreme court's decision on the desegregation of schools, pointing out that it was not a political decision but a judicial one, and "to intimate that it was political."

But to some it looked more like an enlistment than an induction.

Presley confirmed to United Press Tuesday night that he received what he took to be a routine draft questionnaire from his local board here three weeks ago, but board officials denied they knew anything about it.

"I honestly don't know what the questionnaire means," Presley said. "I haven't heard anything since the questionnaire or about when to report for a physical. When they want me, I'm ready."

"Although the 21-year-old Presley described the matter as being a routine induction process draft officials suggested the singer may be quietly arranging an enlistment. Otherwise, they said, Presley would not have received a questionnaire which they did not know about."
