

Plans for Homecoming At SOC Are Listed

Ashland—Promising returning graduates one of the best Homecoming celebrations in several years at Southern Oregon college, Bob Myrick, chairman for the Nov. 2-3 event, said more than 250 uniformed band members from six schools would participate.

Opening Friday at 6:45 p.m. with an all-school rally at Susanne Homes Hall and the traditional bonfire on College field, students will hear speeches by the coaches and captains of the team and introductions of the individual team members.

Candidates for Homecoming Princess to rule over a court of Indian handmaidens will be introduced, with final selection scheduled for the Campus Variety Show at 8:15 p.m. in Churchill Hall auditorium. Lawn decorations will be judged at that time.

Talent, Phoenix, Jacksonville, Crater, and Eagle Point high school bands will participate in a parade through downtown Ashland Saturday at 10:30 a.m. which will culminate in a rally at the plaza.

Leading the parade will be a Color guard from the Medford Recruiting center followed by Homecoming Princess and her court, and bands, floats, and special noise parade entries.

Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. Coach Al Akins' Red Raiders will meet Eastern Oregon's Mountaineers.

Halftime ceremonies will feature a reshewing of the best parade floats, an Indian dance by the members of Orchesis, women's dance group, and Crater High school's band.

From 4:30 to 6:00 p.m., open house will be held at both dormitories, followed by the Alumni banquet, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the downstairs lounge at the Ashland Elk's club.

Bob Anderson's seven piece orchestra will play for the Homecoming dance Saturday from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. Myrick said, with the theme "Queen Sera" (Whatever will be will be) predominating.

Provo, Utah—UPI—The mystery of flashing lights at Timpanogos school has been solved. Science is the culprit. An electric eye rigged to turn lights on at darkness and off again at sunrise was so sensitive it reacted to itself, turning lights on, then immediately flicking them off again.

Ike's 'Goldfish Bowl' Existence In Contrast To FDR's Affliction

By LYLE C. WILSON
 United Press Correspondent

Washington—UPI—It was impolite and politically hazardous back there in the 1930s to refer in public to the crippling disease which afflicted President Roosevelt.

Lyle C. Wilson

In contrast, sketches and x-ray pictures of President Eisenhower's insides have been shown in the public prints like leg art. Mr. Eisenhower not only lives in a goldfish bowl. He, almost, is a goldfish bowl.

His pulse, heart beat and other physical intimacies will get another page one ride this week end after a head-to-toe examination scheduled to take place here at the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center.

The examination is intended to squelch what is left of the health issue in this campaign, which isn't much. The left-of-center elements of American politics spotted what looked like a chewy campaign issue in the twin facts of Mr. Eisenhower's 1955 heart attack and the re-nomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

All Hands Not Convinced
 The nub of the argument was that Republican success in this election would put Nixon a mere heartbeat from the White House. How effective that argument may have been with voters will be shown on election day, Nov. 6.

The publicity given Mr. Eisenhower's clinical experiences since he was stricken in Denver in September, 1955, has not convinced all hands that all the facts are known to the public. There have been repeated public suggestions that the physicians and surgeons who ministered to the President should be submitted for questioning by Washington reporters.

Mighty near all is fair in politics as in some other dangerous games, wherefore it is reasonable to believe that there will be skeptics after the report on the President's pre-election physical examination.

Three of the examining physicians will be Army officers. Moreover, the examination will take place in an Army hospital where information can be channeled or checked almost at will. A question likely to be raised is this:

Hagerty Skilled
 Who would expect Army physicians or surgeons to be eager or, even, willing to report before election day that their commander-in-chief was other than the vigorous man he seems to be.

James C. Hagerty is the White House public relations expert. He cannot match the late Sen. Arthur Capper (R-Kan.) of whom it was said that he could keep both ears to the ground simultaneously. But Hagerty is skilled in the noble art of trouble spotting. He can see trouble coming around corners.

So Hagerty may checkmate the skeptics this time by arranging for the kind of medical news conference which has often been suggested. There is precedent for suspicion that the health of a president is something his associates do not care to discuss frankly.

Grass-roots reports indicate that Mr. Eisenhower's campaign performance so far is convincing the votes that he is physically able to take on another four-year term. The significance of his Walter Reed check-up this week is that it may establish a precedent for future candidates. The voters may come to feel that candidates owe them an election-eve health accounting.
