

Best way to enjoy grapes is to wash them, handling bunch carefully. Shake gently to remove loose grapes. Pile on large plate or in large bowl. Place scissors alongside so family and friends may help themselves. To clusters or bunches. Allowing the children to pick individual grapes from bunches or attempting to break them off by hand is likely to be messy, unattractive and wasteful.

If you buy cheese in large amounts, cut off an immediate supply and cover the unused cheese with paraffin to prevent drying.

Brown eggs are just as good as white ones. The color of the shell depends on the breed of the hens and doesn't affect the inside.

Children to Aid UNICEF With Halloween Project

"The trick this year is to treat all the world's children." The price of a comic book in the United States will buy 56 glasses of milk in Korea; the money spent on an ice cream cone will protect 10 children from tuberculosis in Chile; the pennies paid out for a candy bar will cure a child of yaws in Africa; the price of a bottle of Coke in Medford will provide a child with 10 bowls of rice in India.

Because they have been told these facts, many children of Jackson county will turn Halloween into a "helping hand" project next week and will collect money and supplies for less fortunate children overseas rather than asking for treats for themselves. In thousands of other cities throughout the nation and Canada children will be doing the same thing.

United Nations, N.Y.—(U.P.)—One United Nations project is helping to take the old-time howl out of Halloween.

Between now and All Saints' day, some 1.5 million children across the land will participate in a unique fund-raising program which turns tricks into treats for needy children all over the world. It is sort of an "operation piggy-bank," sponsored for the sixth year by the United Nations International Children's Emergency fund, or UNICEF.

This year, some 7,200 communities in the United States, some of its territories, and in Canada are staging the kid-size campaign. Towns range from New York, population 8,200,000 to Radium, Kan., population 64.

The money the children raise—by such methods as ringing doorbells, sponsoring dances, or selling cookies—will be spent for milk, medicine, clothing and other needs of under-privileged kids from Korea to Mexico.

This new-style Halloween has grown rapidly since 1951, when a young Philadelphia minister, the Rev. Clyde Allison of Bridesburg Presbyterian church, collected $18 with a kids' door-bell campaign.

Howard school children, in cooperation with Howard Parent-Teacher association, will turn into "friendly beggars" in order to collect supplies for the American Friends' Service committee. The night of October 31 the children will visit friends and neighbors and will ask for school supplies and sewing equipment for overseas families. The "beggars" will be identified by a tag they will wear. After they have collected the needed articles, they will hang a paper pumpkin on the door to signify to other friendly beggars that articles have already been donated.

After the children have finished their rounds, they will return to Howard school gymnasium where they will be served refreshments from 7 to 9 p.m. Parents in Howard district are asked to have their articles ready for the "friendly beggars."

An older Halloween service project is carried on by the McLoughlin Junior High School Lettermen's club. Started 10 years ago by the Boys' club of the school, the project is to supply homes of the area with signs which warn that someone in the house is ill. The lettermen this year visited the city's various grade schools and explained to the boys and girls about the signs and secured promises of their cooperation not to ring door-bells at the homes so signed.

Home owners needing the signs are asked to call McLoughlin school. The boys made about 65 signs, and 35 calls have already been received. The signs will be put out Monday and collected Thursday. The boys make the signs in the school shop.

"FARMERS ARE VOTING FOR DOUG MCKAY BECAUSE..."
The Eisenhower farm program has emptied the Government warehouses of the huge surplus of butter and dried milk products. The flexible support program has given us more reasonable prices for feed grains. Doug McKay believes in this program, which will once again make the efficient family-operated dairy farm the backbone of the American Dairy Industry. We need McKay.

There's just one trick to cheese cookery and that is, never "cook" the cheese. Just let it melt. Otherwise it may become tough and stringy. Shave it thin or grate it, so it will blend better, and faster with other foods.
