

Pro Arbiters Blasted by SF Owner

San Francisco — (U.P.) — Tony Morabito, co-owner of the San Francisco Forty-Niners, leveled a sharp blast Sunday at National Football league commissioner Bert Bell for what he called the league's "very incompetent" officiating.

Morabito's volley was fired during a dressing-room discussion of the Forty-Niners' 38-21 trimming by the Chicago Bears. The loss wiped out for another year the Morabito brothers' long unmet hopes for a championship team.

Morabito said NFL game officials were "no more competent than the commissioner who appoints them—and that is very incompetent."

Bell was raked as a "dictator," who Morabito said was responsible for "90 per cent" of the poor officiating.

Bell, reached at his Philadelphia home, defended the league's officials and said he didn't resent the accusations made by Morabito. "In fact I like him," Bell said.

"The officials are very competent and they have the toughest job in the world," Bell said. "I'll always stand up for them."

Decision Boomed

The Forty Niner owner's ire was ignited by backfield judge John Muha's ruling that a second-period fumble recovery by the Forty Niners in Sunday's game was void because Bear halfback Harlan Carl had already been stopped when he fumbled.

The 53,000 fans in Kezar stadium also felt the home team should have been given the ball and roundly booed the decision.

A Forty Niner spokesman said later there were several "bad calls" in games on the Forty Niners recent trip east and Sunday's incident was the climax.

Bell said Muha was a pro football player for a long time and ex-players "know what it's all about." His call was a judgement play of which "50 or 60 are made each game."

As to the charge of being a dictator, Bell said, "that's his Morabito's opinion." He said he did not think hiring the league's officials could be handled properly except as a "one man job."

Southern Oregonians Overcome OCE 12-7

Ashland — Southern Oregon college footballers kept their hopes alive for a second championship in the Oregon Collegiate conference Saturday by overcoming Oregon College of Education at Monmouth on Saturday.

The heads-up Red Raiders of the Rogue, playing their top defensive game of the season, came from behind in the third period to nick the Wolves 12 to 7 on a boggy gridiron.

Offensive play was also dominated by the Raiders who were stopped six times within the OCE 10-yard line. Southern Oregonians, in addition, overcame the handicap of penalties which could have turned the tide the other way.

Don Korns scored both Raider touchdowns on six and three-yard charges. First one came in the opening period after the SOC club took over the ball on its own 32. It took seven plays.

The drive started when Bill Seymour passed to Ted Tenney for seven yards. SOC was put back to the 24 for holding but got back to the 39 when Seymour was roughed in a pass play. Tenney broke loose for 26 yards but the ball was put on the OCE 48-yard line. Then the TD was set up when Tenney ran for four yards and lateraled to Korns who gained down to the Wolves' six.

OCE retaliated in the second quarter with a 52-yard march in six plays. Wyman Gerhart went the last six and kicked the conversion.

SOC got a good break in the third quarter when Ray Thiess tackled Gerhart near the OCE goal. Barry Adams punted out to the 23. From there Korns got the ball carrying assignment four times. He was held for no gain once then went 10-yards twice and on the fourth pack went across the goal.

The setback eliminated Oregon college from the OCC football championship running for the first time since the circuit was formed. Southern Oregon and Eastern Oregon are the only clubs left in contention. They vie at Ashland next Saturday. An EOC victory will give it the title alone. SOC must win to get a championship.

Hawks Menace To Australian Aviation

Brisbane — (U.P.) — Hawks with more curiosity or belligerence than brains have become a menace to Australian aviation.

Three Royal Australian Air Force planes have been forced down by the hawks, and even multi-engined civilian transports have been damaged in their encounters over Queensland with the huge birds.

"These birds," said E. Huntley Fry, acting director of Queensland's civil aviation, "are a menace—but I must confess that we just haven't found an answer to the problem."

One of the birds, with a 12-foot wing spread, tangled with a RAAF Canberra jet bomber. The bomber made a crash landing at Townsville's Garbutt Field but will fly again. The Hawks won't.

Another Canberra was forced into an emergency landing at the Queensland town of Charleville when challenged by a local hawk which met the bomber held on with disastrous results to both.

Another hawk downed an expensive photo reconnaissance Mosquito, and a French airliner got a cracked windshield where it hit a free-wheeling hawk.

Fry said he would welcome any suggestions on how to solve the hawk problem.

Oregon State, Stanford Now Command Bowl Race

By BILL STANFIELD

San Francisco — (U.P.) — Stanford university and Oregon State college, two of the more lily white teams in the Pacific Coast conference, took command of the race for the Rose Bowl Saturday with wins over a pair of one-time gridiron giants.

Stanford rallied behind the generalship of John Brodie to defeat previously undefeated Southern California, 27-19, after the Trojans had taken a two-touchdown lead, while Oregon State bottled up the once-mighty UCLA Bruins en route to a 21-7 victory.

In other PCC play, California upset the University of Washington, 16-7; Washington State suffered a mildly surprising 33-12 defeat at the hands of College of Pacific; Oregon came out on the short end of a 14-7 game against Pittsburgh in the eastern city, and Idaho beat Utah, 27-21.

Southern California intercepted two of Brodie's passes during the first half to set up touchdown marches of 37 and 42 yards. Frank Hall, playing his last collegiate game, passed to end Bob Volles for the first score and All-American halfback Jon Arnett plunged two yards for the second.

Arnett Bows Out

But the Stanford signal caller pulled his club together and shot the Indians ahead for the day with a pair of 30 and 23 yard touchdown passes sandwiched around a one-yard payoff plunge by himself. The Indians tacked on the clincher in the final period with an eight-yard TD pass play from reserve quarterback Jack Douglas to fullback Chuck Shea.

It was a bitter ending for Arnett who reached the end of the line in the five-game string allotted USC seniors involved in conference code infractions.

Arnett scored once but had two conversion attempts blocked by the hard-charging line and was smeared for a 14-yard loss while trying to get off a desperation pass with the clock running out.

Six other "first fivers," including Hall and Volles, also wound up their college football careers for Southern California.

Quarterback Joe Kapp clinched California's victory by intercepting a juggled ball and running 54 yards for the score in the fourth period. California took a 9-0 lead in the first half on fullback Herb Jackson's plunge through left tackle and Max Hale's 29-yard goal.

Luther Carr put the Huskies back in the game with a brilliant 74-yard touchdown run in the final quarter and Washington was on the march again when Carr juggled the ball and Kapp took command.
