'War and Peace' Available At Medford Public Library

Tolstoy's classic novel, "War and Peace," called by some the greatest novel ever written, has now been filmed and is being shown in cities throughout the country.

The famous book, and other literary classics that have been made into motion pictures, are available at the Medford Public Library.

Another well-known classic that has been made into a picture in recent months is "Moby Dick," by Herman Melville. It is the story of a monstrous white whale and the hate-driven sea captain who hunts him.

Other classics that have been filmed in recent years include Jules Verne's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," Stephen Crane's "Red Badge of Courage," William Shakespeare's "Richard III," and "Julius Caesar," Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe," Henryk Sienkiewicz's "Quo Vadis," Daniel Defoe's "Anthony Adverse," Charles Dickens' "David Copperfield," and Margaret Lan-

Legion Group Cuts Visit To Mideast

Cairo —(U.P.)— An American Legion group headed by National Commander W. C. Daniel, Danville, Va., cut short a fact finding mission in the Mideast yesterday.

Daniel left here for Rome with former National Commanders Louis Gough, Pasadena, Calif., and Paul Griffith, Uniontown, Pa., and the chairman of the Legion's Foreign Relations Committee, Rogers Kelley, Edinburg, Tex. Griffith is a former U. S. deputy secretary of defense. Daniel said the Mideast mission had been ordered by the Legion's National Convention in Los Angeles in September.

Klamath Tribe To Get Timber Sales Payments

Portland —(U.P.)— Per capita payments, representing income from timber sales, will be made by the Bureau of Indian Affairs next month to members of the Colville tribe of Washington and the Klamath tribe of Oregon.

Don C. Foster, Portland area director, said the payments would total $855,000 to the Colvilles and $620,420 to the Klamaths from sale of tribal timber supervised by the Bureau.

The allocation will give some $200 per member to the Colville tribe and about $300 to each member of the Klamath tribe.

Corvallis —(U.P.)— Gene A. Harris, 19, of Columbus, O., and Robert L. Pitts, 17, Nashville, Tenn. have been given 3-year sentences in the Oregon state penitentiary for car theft.

Brussels—This is the world's greatest window shopping city. Every wife has a right to demand that her husband take her for at least one visit to Brussels. Small shops displaying every type of article imaginable line the streets and boulevards for miles and miles. There are several huge department stores. The Shopping centers are innumerable. These include some magnificent arcades which permit indoor window shopping. In all shopping centers there are sidewalk cafes where the weary shopper can pause to get her breath renewed her make-up and refresh herself with a cup of tea. However, this shopping situation must be a little hard on the bankroll of a man whose wife can't keep her buying under control.

Horses and Women

Continuing my research on the horses and women situation in Europe I went out to the Stockel Race Course. A beautiful track. A mile and a half turf course, a hurdle course and a very sporty steeplechase course. There were six races on the card. One hurdle, one steeplechase and four flat. Wagering available at Pari-Mutuel windows and with bookmakers. The latter predominate. Over 100 bookies were on hand. Minimum wager in Mutuels, 20 Francs (40 cents). With bookies, 50 Francs ($1). No starting gate. No race caller. I bought a Belgian racing form for five Francs (10 cents) and studied it carefully. I practically swept the card betting straight and one place. Had five winners and one place.

Radio

Tuned in the radio at random and got Dinah Shore from the U.S.A. at The Hague in Holland. I turned in on the world series. You can get all the important United States radio programs here. This is because of the United States armed forces radio broadcasting system which covers the world.

Transportation

No matter where you want to go in Brussels there is a street car stop within a block of it. There are 88 different street cars operating within the city limits! They are numbered from one to 98 according to route taken. All street cars have both motorman and conductor. The conductor usually speaks three languages; French, Flemish and English. Fare is four cents for any distance. Transfer, two cents extra.

Metric System

The metric system of measurement used here requires much figuring for comparison with our method. That is most of it. The kilometer is easy. That is equal to about five-eighths of a mile. The kilo is a little more difficult. That equals two pounds, three and one-fifth ounces. So you think it's easy. All right. I tipped the beam at 59 kilo on a public scale. How much is that in pounds? The meter is still tougher. A meter is 39 2/5 inches. The handicap at the Stockel race course the other day was at a distance of 2700 meters. How fast can you figure what distance that was in miles?

Sidelights

There are over 1500 magazines and newspapers published in Belgium. There are twice as many periodicals devoted exclusively to sports as there are to fashions and other feminine interests. Taxi drivers here expect a minimum tip of 10 per cent. That's routine. Takes 15 per cent to make them happy. Most cabs are company owned, one company has over 360 cabs in operation in Brussels. Drivers are all uniformed. Cabs very clean. Rates low.

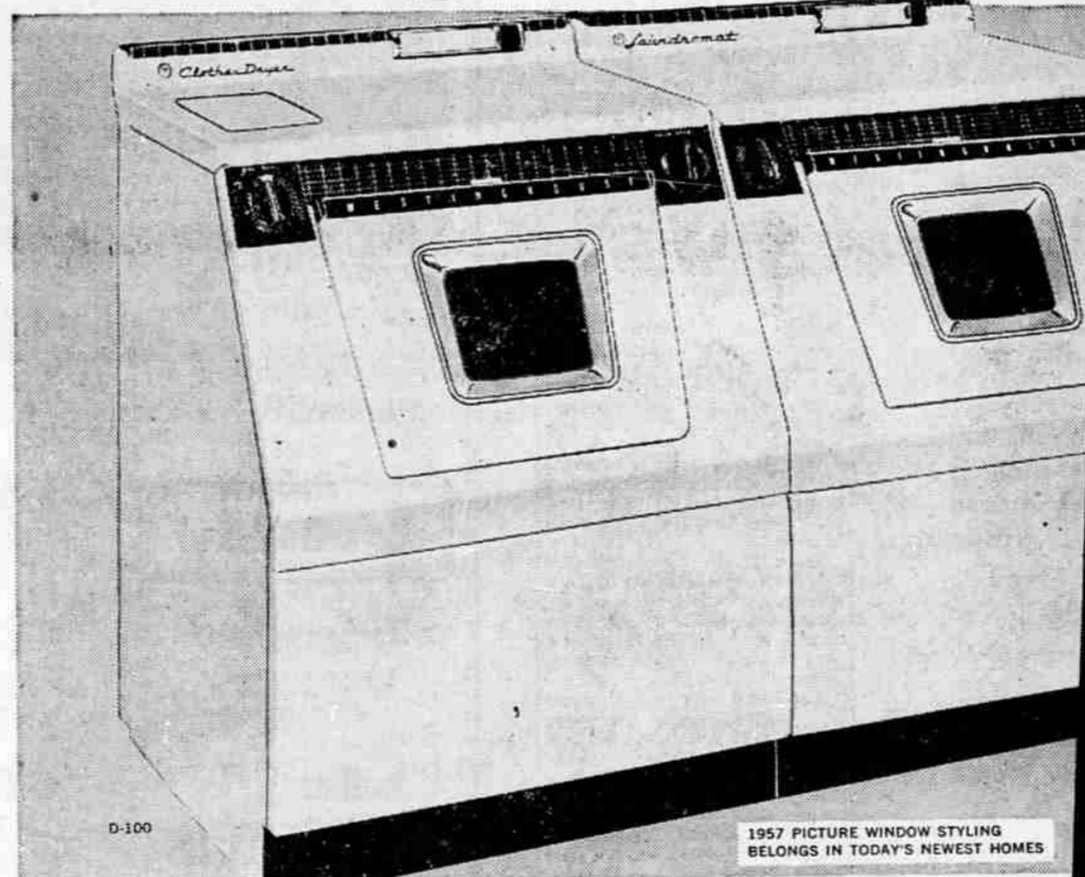

Please Note

Brussels hotels are government supervised. Any complaints as to overcharging or other sharp practices by a hotel can be reported to a government bureau and will be given prompt attention. The food in both hotels and restaurants is excellent here. The fish is especially good. My favorite here in the fish line is Sole Bonne Femme. Delicious! The vegetables are exceptionally good. Everything fresh. Frozen food is not popular here.
