TIME

MAGAZINE PRAISES MORSE'S ABILITY

"Morse has no mental superior in the Senate; his mind is keen and penetrating; his mental standards are professionally rigid and thorough..." —Jan. 17, 1955

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE

ROBERT W. RUHL, Oregon's only Pulitzer Prize winning editor, writes:

"(Wayne Morse) has the keenest mind and the strongest fighting heart that the voters of this state have ever had the wisdom and courage to select."

October 23, 1956

The Oregonian

"Oregon has gone its independent way in the past. We hope it will in the future. And Senator Morse is a worthy representative of that independence. His integrity and ability have made him a national figure and the state should maintain him in his growing power."

May 16, 1950

PAGEANT

"Best Senator"—Nos. 2 and 3

Estes Kefauver, Dem. of Tenn.

Wayne L. Morse, Rep. of Ore.

"Well-informed liberal, effective. Brilliant legal mind with the courage of his convictions. Smart, honest, energetic. Independent. One of the few men in either House to use reason and common sense when making a decision. A dogged, intelligent fighter for progressive ideas."

Believing that the government of the people, by the people, and for the people, flourishes in direct proportion to the integrity of the people's chosen representatives the Publisher and Editors of Liberty Magazine take pleasure in presenting this honor scroll to

Senator Wayne Morse

in recognition of his outstanding record for honesty, independence and leadership in this 82nd Congress of the United States of America

Presented at Washington, D.C.
May, nineteen hundred and fifty one

WASHINGTON LOWDOWN

"There are only a few men in the Senate who truly think of the public interest, as divorced from private special interests, in their work, their speeches, and their votes."

"Foremost among these is Senator Wayne L. Morse (D-Ore), who has never hesitated to give his views on legislation which he feels will be detrimental to the long-range interests of the American people. Senator Morse not only speaks clearly, but he generally knows what he is talking about... He undoubtedly has one of the best hearts and minds of the best hearts and minds in the Senate today." 1956

WAYNE MORSE is one of the most brilliant and most thoughtful men with whom I have ever been associated. He has a great depth of feeling for the welfare of the individual man. His heart is right. He has great courage and determination. No one works any harder at his job than he. Men who are such a fine influence in our national life simply have to be kept on the job and this is doubly true of Wayne Morse." (1956)
