Tickets for Medford High Grid Play-Off Go On Sale Wednesday To Season Ticket Holders Only

Regular season tickets will not be good for admission when the Medford high school football team meets the District 3 champ here on the week end of Nov. 16 and 17 in the Class Oregon A-1 football quarter-finals but holders of season reserve tickets will have first chance to purchase those seats.

Principal Lester Harris said that reserve tickets will go on sale for season ticket holders only on Wednesday, Nov. 7, at the senior high office. They must buy the tickets by Saturday noon, Nov. 10, when the office closes for the week end. Reserved seats for the game will cost $2.

PUBLIC SALE TUESDAY

Reserved seats will go on sale to the public on Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 7 a.m. There is no school on Monday's Veterans' day. Sale of tickets will be limited to four per person.

All current indications are that Medford will meet Gresham in the quarter-final. The Gophers still must face Parkrose this week end but are favored. Medford has no game this week.

Tip-Offs by John Brodie Helped UCLA Top Indians

San Francisco — (UP) — It's official—quarterback John Brodie of Stanford literally put his foot into it last Saturday while the Indians were being upset, 14-13, by UCLA.

Taylor said, "and we'll know how to deal with Oregon State if they use similar six and eight man rushes against us."

Coach Tommy Prothro, a protégé of Sanders who was his assistant at UCLA, arrives next Saturday with a fired-up Oregon State team that is built after the Sanders' single-wing machine, the winner presumably will sail into the Rose Bowl barring a total collapse.

Coach Lynn Waldorf of California, apparently nearing the end of the line with a team that has won two and lost five, said his charges were preparing for Southern California "which we know can be beaten."

Coach Red Sanders of the underdog Bruins told Los Angeles sports writers Monday that the way Brodie placed his feet before taking the ball from center "keyed" the defense on what plays were coming.

"We could call a pass or run during the first half and certainly that didn't hurt us," Sanders said.

Crabtree not only is a drive-shaft in the Oregon attack but also a sharp thinker. The balding business student specializes in calling running plays from a punt formation on fourth down and usually gets away with it. California was caught with its defenses down twice by this maneuver.

Surprises in Store

If the club retains its new form and takes Washington State it will meet a sterner challenge in its final games against Southern California and Oregon State. But Casanova is smiling. He seems to feel that more surprises are in store.

The coach, whose team was out to wallop the Indians for their "holier than thou" stand last summer while UCLA was harshly penalized for rules infractions, disclosed that Brodie would put on foot back if he was to throw a pass or try a fullback draw play. But if his feet were parallel it was the tip-off that a running play to the outside was in the works.

While Casanova's gridders seek to keep the alumni happy on Saturday, three other Pacific Coast Conference games will be in progress. Oregon State and Stanford tangle in a key game which could decide which team goes to the Rose Bowl, while California takes its crushed foes to Southern California and UCLA invades Washington.

Stance Changed

Chuck Taylor, Brodie's coach, denied before San Francisco reporters that this bit of code busting had any bearing on the outcome.

"Yes, we did change Brodie's stance between the halves to offset the possibility that UCLA was getting our plays," Taylor said. "But that was not the key to the outcome. Our blocking was inefficient on UCLA's rushes and we didn't do things right."

On the regional front, Arizona Tempe State, undefeated in seven starts, roars after victory number eight at the expense of Texas Western. Utah State is at Idaho, San Jose at College of the Pacific and Cal Poly at Fresno State in other leading contests.

Taylor added the Indians were beaten by a team which "did a nice job on defense and kept the pressure on all the time."

"We also gained a great deal of knowledge about pass protection."

On Saturday, three other Pacific Coast Conference games will be in progress. Oregon State and Stanford tangle in a key game which could decide which team goes to the Rose Bowl, while California takes its crushed foes to Southern California and UCLA invades Washington.

Walt Morrison, Grants Pass, came in fourth and Les Lingsch and Roger Johnson, Medford, fifth and sixth, respectively. Steve Anderson and Glen Wilson were others whose places counted for the Cavemen. They were seventh and eighth. Medfordites Wayne Breeze and Jay Muller were ninth and 10th.

The harrier affair preceded the GP-Medford high junior varsity football game.

Coach Vern Wolthoff said he plans to take seven varsity and three junior varsity runners to Portland.

Others: Grants Pass 5; Vale 3; Prineville and Lincoln 1 each.

Oregon State Prepares For Indians

Corvallis, Ore. — (UP) — Coach Tommy Prothro gave the Oregon State Beavers a light workout Monday, but scheduled full drills the rest of the week in preparation for the important game against Stanford Saturday.

Defense formations designed to stop the passing of Stanford's quarterback John Brodie received a major share of the Beavers' attention today. The winner of the Stanford game has an excellent chance of representing the Pacific Coast conference in the Rose Bowl.

Eugene, Ore. — (UP) — The University of Oregon team opened full drills today for the Washington State game Saturday after taking a partial day off in celebration of their upset 28-6 victory over California.

Freshman Coach Bill Hammer, who scouted Washington State, briefed the Ducks Monday and warned that the Cougar aerial game will be hard to stop. Jack Crabtree, the No. 2 signal caller, returned to the Webfoots' lineup but his knee injury was still bothering him and he probably won't see much action against WSC.

Schayes Top Hoop Scorer

New York — (UP) — Dolph Schayes of Syracuse has jumped into the lead for scoring honors in the National Basketball Association.

A veteran of seven campaigns, Schayes has scored 101 points in four games to lead Minneapolis' Clyde Lovellette by four points. George Yardley of Fort Wayne and Richie Regan of Rochester (72 points each) and Jack Twyman of Rochester (70) round out the top five.

Cousy, Best Per Game

Bob Cousy, Boston's brilliant playmaker, owns the best per game average. He has averaged 31 points in his club's two starts. Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston, both of Philadelphia, have 17-point averages.

The deadliest shooter during the early stages of the season has been New York's Carl Braun. The New York forward has hit on 18 of 32 field goal attempts for a 56.3 percentage. Twyman is second with a 51.2 percentage.

Leading the loop in free throw accuracy is Bill Sharman of Boston. The Celtic stalwart has made 20 conversions without a miss.

Si Green of Rochester is the standout rookie to date. The former Duquesne star leads the league in assists with 31 and is also the top freshman scorer with 55 points.

Brigham Young plays St. John's of New York and Ohio State meets the Temple-Fordham winner the following afternoon with Niagara facing Manhattan college and Notre Dame meeting the Villanova-NYU winner that night in other games of the preliminary draw made Monday.

Tornado Jayvee Gridsters Subdue Cavemen in Finale

Junior varsity footballers wound up their 1956 season for Medford high here last night by evening the score for a setback at the start of the season at the hands of the Grants Pass Cavemen.

Tornado players tallied in the early moments of the game and again as the seconds ran out in the first half to trip the GP delegation 13 to 7. Grants Pass struck for its touchdown in the closing seconds of the fourth quarter.

Coaches Frank Roelandt and John Kovenz had all of their "Tornado Jayvee" squad in the fracas, 41 players. Coach Russ Werner of Grants Pass called on around 22.

Ron Peery fell on a GP fumble on the first play after the opening kick-off and drove 29 yards in five plays to the end zone. John Harvey swept left end on a pitchout for the counter. Johnny Jones was short on the attempt to run the conversion.

Neither club could get a drive underway until Medford got on the move late in the second quarter. That push came after the Tornado had been thrown back from its own 43-yard line to the 12, had lost the ball on a fumble, had tossed GP back to the 14 and had held for downs on that spot.

Lyons Scores

From there Medford clipped off the 86 yards in 10 plays. Jones went for 19 in the big gainer of the march. A Peery to Harvey pass for 14 yards put the ball on the 12-yard line. Gerry Lyons cracked over right tackle and went the remaining distance to the end zone, then he bounced over for the conversion.

Lyons intercepted a couple of GP passes in the second half but it was an aerial assault by the Cavemen which finally paid off for their touchdown. The GP gang took possession of the ball on their own 25. Passes ate up 66 yards of the distance and penalties against Medford 10 while a couple of ground moves netted only five. One pass got 20 yards and another 19. The pay-off pitch was for 21. Rick Sabin to Johnny Olson. Ollie Woolsey kicked the extra point.

Medford gridsters netted 141 yards for scrimmage last night and held GP to a 120 net. The Tornado got 124 on the ground and 17 passing. Grants Pass netted almost the same passing as it did running with 39 by the air route and 61 on the soil and grass. The Medfordites collected six first downs and Grants Pass four.

Roelandt, head coach in basketball, will now turn his attention to the mapplecourt sport and was to have called a meeting of cagers today.
