TODAY IS PENNY DAY!

America's food chains are . . . FEEDING MILLIONS FOR A PENNY
The average food chain store profits is just one cent on the sales dollar. After paying for merchandise, salaries, taxes, rent, utilities, equipment, etc., one penny is left over for the stockholders who provide the capital to make the service possible. Constant vigilance over costs permits the food chain industry to make its contributions to the strength of a great America—Feeding Millions for a Penny!
