

NEW ANNEXATION PROPOSAL—A new and smaller annexation proposal in the Berrydale area was proposed last week, after the defeat at the Tuesday election of a large area. The new proposal is the same as the one originally made to the city planning commission, which extended the boundaries to the larger area. The map above shows roughly the proposed boundary (dotted line) superimposed on a map which originally showed the boundary of the larger area. Much of the area west of Biddle rd. has been eliminated from the proposal, as has much of the section west of Howard and north of Mace rd. The eastern boundary at the southern tip includes parts of Crater Lake Highway and the Pacific Highway south of the Big Y junction. The renewed proposal will be presented again to the planning commission Tuesday.

Ashland Also Boasts Winner of Medal

Ashland—Portland and Redmond aren't the only cities in Oregon having living holders of the Congressional Medal of Honor, the Ashland Daily Tidings announced Friday. The newspaper printed a notice to Portland that Frank C. High, 81-year-old resident of Ashland, received the nation's highest military honor 57 years ago after proving his courage under fire. Again overlooked. Portland sources had claimed Oregon's only holders of the medal are Jacob Volz Jr., Portland, who earned the award during the Philippine insurrection prior to World War I, and Robert Maxwell of Redmond, who earned the medal in France in World War II. High was again overlooked last week in an announcement from Portland that holders of the award had been invited to the first national convention of the Congressional Medal of Honor Society for the United States in Lakeland, Fla., Nov. 9-14. Volz and Maxwell were the only Oregonians listed in the announcement as holders of the medal.

The Daily Tidings said, "It was while in action near San Isidro, Philippine Islands, on May 16, 1899 that Private High, Co. G Oregon Volunteer Infantry, with 21 other scouts, charged across a burning bridge under heavy fire and completely routed 600 enemy soldiers who were entrenched in a strongly fortified position." The paper further stated, "After chasing the enemy soldiers from their stronghold, the American soldiers captured and held the entire town for three hours until reinforcements arrived." The Spanish-American war veteran has spent all but three years of his life in Ashland and Jackson county. He and his wife live at 390 West Clay st.

Travel Exhibitions To Include Data On Jackson County

Tourist attractions of Jackson county and Oregon will be shown to more than a million people at seven metropolitan travel exhibitions between January and April, 1957, according to Mrs. Bert Pree, tourist and convention committee chairman. Mrs. Pree said this opportunity for national promotion of Jackson county is made possible by membership of the Chamber of Commerce in the Pacific Northwest Travel association. The association will enter its three 30-foot illuminated pictorial displays before the vacation travel season in shows at San Francisco, Kansas City, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Dallas, Texas and Los Angeles. The chamber of commerce will send literature advertising local attractions to these events and this state will have personal representation at a number of the shows, Mrs. Pree said. The Pacific Northwest Travel association represents Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, Oregon and Washington with some 300 chambers of commerce and other agencies in those areas co-operating to bring travel to all parts of the Pacific North-

French authorities said it was the bloodiest single battle in two months.

$97,925 Remains In Emergency Fund

Salem — (UPI) — A total of $97,925 remained in the state emergency fund Saturday after the State Emergency Board concluded what was thought to be its last meeting. In about two months the 1957 legislature will be in session to provide funds for any emergency that might arise. The board started with $700,000. Under the law contracts for all construction projects must be approved by the board, but during the legislative session no such board will be in existence. Therefore, should the state board of control or the board of higher education desire to get a construction project under contract in early spring, the only means available would be the introduction of a bill in the legislature authorizing and approving such a contract. Before the present law, the joint ways and means committee was empowered to act in place of the emergency board. Friday afternoon the emergency board authorized the board of control to proceed with the construction of an administration building at the Oregon blind school in Salem, provided the bids, to be opened early next spring, do not exceed the legislative appropriation of $403,000. No emergency funds were authorized for the dormitory, but the school was permitted to use $32,000 of capital outlay funds for the project.

College Girl Killed In Portland Friday

Portland — (UPI) — Cecilia Miller, 18, student at Portland State college, was killed Friday when she was struck by a car on N.W. St. Helens road about a block from her home north of the Portland city limits. Miss Miller was dead on arrival at Good Samaritan hospital here. Her mother, Alberta Miller who witnessed the accident, and her father, Cecil Miller who arrived at the scene a few minutes later, were taken to Good Samaritan hospital for treatment of extreme shock. Deputy Sheriff Carl Dentler and William Bradbury said the driver of the car was Robert Emerson, 51, of Portland. The officers said Miss Miller had just stepped off a bus, returning from classes at Portland State and was starting across St. Helens road to walk the block to her home. Emerson, who estimated his speed at 45 miles an hour, told the deputies he saw only a blur of motion in the darkness behind the bus headlights. He said he swerved sharply, but was unable to miss the girl.

votes in the counties is now in progress throughout Oregon and the state canvass should get under way early next week. O'Hara estimated it would take three to four weeks to complete the state canvass.

Smith May Become State Senator Again

Salem — (UPI) — Is it back to the Senate for Gov. Elmo Smith? Smith was president of the Senate in 1955 and as such he became governor upon the death of Gov. Paul Patterson. In Tuesday's election, Democrat Robert B. Holmes, Astoria radio station executive, was chosen as governor, defeating Republican Smith. A petition asking the Marion County Republican Central committee to recommend Elmo Smith to the state Senate was placed in circulation in Salem Friday. Smith would succeed Mark Hatfield, Marion county senator who was elected secretary of state in Tuesday's balloting. Hatfield is a Republican. The petition to put Smith back in the Senate was being circulated by Mr. and Mrs. Van de Velde. The appointment will be made by the Marion County Court and the Republican Central Committee was expected to make a recommendation. Smith is publisher of a newspaper in John Day and has an interest in a M-dras newspaper of Salem after he was sworn in as governor, and hence could conceivably be named to the Marion county senatorial seat upon Hatfield's resignation, which is expected soon so that he can take over as secretary of state the first of the year.
