A Nichol's Worth of... Comment On This and That

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Feature Writer

Washington — (U.P.) — Maybe I shouldn't have picked on Elvis Presley.

Actually, I wasn't picking on the hillbilly wiggler and gargler. All I said was that he had fouled up a good play for the old folks in our own teen-ager sat cross-legged in front of the only video we own.

Our Beverly is an E. Presley fan. And so I learned a lot of other kids. Also I learned from a flush of mail a lot of mothers aren't.

A lady in Pennsylvania said she was standing behind me "step by step" and added, in effect that if she had a daughter glued to the set when the lad with the cheek whiskers cut loose, she would untangle the girl's legs and run her off after her home work.

Another mother of teens posted nothing but "Shame, shame on Elvis!"

Sideburns Burn!
The E. Presley letters, though, were mostly pro-Elvis and anti-Nichols.

Like the typical note which came in from the "Friends of Elvis club" down there in Oklahoma. The kids really burnt my sideburns.

The youngsters put it on the line in a five-page letter which maybe I deserved.

I had the temerity, they said, to suggest that their young hero looked something like a sardine. The kids fought back with: "Well, if he is — we can only say 'Dig that crazy sardine!'"

And continuing: "Elvis Presley has become the hero of every teenager's life. How could anyone as highly educated as yourself condemn anyone as superb as E. P.? You are jealous of our dream — so much you are greeneyed."

Actually, I didn't condemn the boy.

All right, let me give in to the kids and give Elvis credit. And maybe even admit to grownup jealousy. A few months ago the boy who plays a "reel" was pushing a truck. Today, a hired hand takes his dough to the bank. And if he wants to do the fetching himself he has a fleet of Cadillacs at his bidding.

Show me a working newspaper man who can make that statement.

Trouble is, most newsmen wiggle only while walking to the water cooler between paragraphs and hardly ever sing while wiggling.

Western Oregon-Western Washington — Above normal precipitation, ranging 2 to 6 of an inch in south-west Oregon and occurring tonight, Thursday and Friday. Near normal temperatures. Normal minimums midsize to low 40s. Normal maximums 50-55. Cooler Tuesday followed by gradual warming trend.

Northern California — No precipitation. Temperatures near normal.

teenage days. What sent you?"
Well, I must admit that the Charleston — both the song and the foot kick — sent me a little ways, but not very far.
And dad's rendition of "Jeanie With The Light Brown Hair" had its point but didn't stir up much of the tiger in me.
Also "Around her neck, she wore a yaller ribbon," she wore it "milkin' cows and mowin' hay" as a tear jerker but hardly a hoot and holler piece. But in three-part harmony around the piano in the parlor it wasn't bad. Okay, you kids, you run along and rock and roll! I love you all.

Don't miss the Westinghouse Laundromat SAND TEST

Proof-positive that the Laundromat is the most efficient washer you can own...most automatic, too! See this dramatic Sand Test made by Betty Furness on television.

Betty Furness on "Studio One" dumps two full cups of sand into a Westinghouse Laundromat loaded with towels. The towels come out completely clean and sand-free after going through the Laundromat's wash-and-rinse cycle—the famous New Way to Wash!

WHAT'S THE REASON? The Laundromat has no old-fashioned center-post to bunch clothes and dirt around it and keep them mixed throughout the washing and rinsing cycle. The Laundromat has smooth agitators built inside the washbasket to lift, turn and flush clothes 50 times a minute. Lift-Away rinsing drains water away—not through the clothes. The Laundromat itself is rinsed completely clean, too; the only self-cleaning automatic washer on the market.

Come into our store and see this test for yourself. You'll know for sure that the LAUNDROMAT is the one washer to own!
