Some Reserves Left For Tornado-Gopher Grid Conflict Here

A near sell-out crowd, despite the outlook for chilly weather, is expected Friday night when the Medford Black Tornado and the Gresham high Gophers tangle at the Medford stadium in the Oregon Class A-1 football championship quarter-finals.

But Medford principal Lester Harris reported this morning there are some 200 tickets yet available at the school office for seats in the reserve grandstand. Most of the seats left are "down in front" but others are scattered spots through the stand.

Game time will be at 8:15 p.m., the usual kick-off moment for Black Tornado home games throughout the season.

The Gresham club, champion in District 3 and unmarred and untied in nine games this season, is scheduled to arrive in Medford a day ahead of the game. Coach Brad Ecklund will put his Gopher charges through a workout Thursday evening at the stadium.

The Gopher club comes here one of the top defensive clubs in Oregon and rated No. 3 in the state. It is seeking to improve one degree on the laurels it attained in 1955. The Gresham club was runner-up to Marshfield for the championship.

Medford, District 6 champ, No. 2 ranked, undefeated and tied only by No. 1 Marshfield, will field a team with one of Oregon prepdom's most impressive offensive records. The Black Tornado aims to make the third time a charm in quest of state titular honors. District 6 winner for three straight seasons, Medford's championship hopes were blasted in 1954 and 1955 by Marshfield's Pirates in quarter-final contention.

Winner of the fracas on the Medford field will advance into the semi-finals against either Benson of Portland or McMinnville, which two clubs are contending also Friday.

The Tornado gridgers covered considerable ground last night on the practice field but head coach Fred Spiegelberg did not turn loose his stalwarts full blast. A dummy scrimmage, a pass scrimmage and defenses against the Gophers were on the Tuesday agenda. Backs worked on pass defense and individual work also included line defense.

Spiegelberg indicated that his club was in good physical trim with the exception of halfback Eldon Francis, who has a thigh bruise. The mentor hoped that the scabback would be able to run in today's drill but said that there would be no contact work for Francis in today's and Thursday workouts.

Baltimore, Md. — (U.P.) — The portraits of riders Johnny Longden, Isaac Murphy and Tod Sloan were unveiled in the Jockeys' Hall of Fame here Tuesday. Longden was present at Pimlico for the ceremony.

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — Tommy Tibbs, 22-year-old Boston featherweight, signed today to meet ex-champion Lauro Salas of Monterey, Mexico, at Hollywood Legion Stadium Saturday. Tibbs replaces Tommy Romulo of the Philippines, forced to withdraw because of an injury.

Jack Burns MIBL Head; Meeting Set

Jack Burns, of Company A of the National Guard, was elected president of the Medford Independent Basketball league last night and has called a session for Thursday evening to complete organization of the circuit.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Medford armory.

Burns said that eight teams are definitely lined up with one other entry possible. He stated that it was hoped that a 10th club could be added to balance out the loop.

The new president asked all team managers to be on hand Thursday. It is planned to set up the schedule, complete the by-laws and discuss fees and gymnasium facilities.

The clubs now lined up are Company A and Headquarters company of Medford National Guard, Ashland National Guard, Hawkinson Tire Tread, 20-30 club, Prospect, Butte Falls and the Campus Five of Southern Oregon college.

RIBS BUSTED

New York — (U.P.) — Middleweight challenger Gene Fullmer, fresh from the West, said today he already had broken two of his manager's ribs and two of his sparring mate's while sharpening a body attack for champion Ray Robinson.

TURKEY AND TRIMMINGS

Frewsburg, N. Y. — (U.P.) — Three men wound up paying a big tab they hadn't counted on for a tasty wild turkey dinner shared with three female companions. The trio had to shell out $102.50 each in fines as a result of their choice in dinner fare. New York has a permanently closed season on wild turkeys.

New York — (U.P.) — Fearless Fraley, who didn't get his Oscar for picking football winners, has retreated to Australia for the balance of this gridiron campaign. He may have taken all of his winners with him, but here's hoping he left a few.

Such as perhaps these:

Game of the Week — Iowa over Ohio State — The Hawkeyes have been underdogs in most of their victories this season. The Rose Bowl awaits if they win this one so here's a vote for them to end the Buckeyes' Big Ten winning streak at 17.

The East — Yale over Princeton — Yale's hale males carry the mail.

Pittsburgh over Army — One more homicide in a suicide schedule.

Colgate over Syracuse — The rule on this one is "pick the underdog."

Boston college over Boston U. — Try B.C. for a headache remedy.

Harvard over Brown — The meek against the weak.

Columbia over Penn — But passer Benham better be better.

Also — Cornell over Dartmouth, Holy Cross over Marquette, Penn State over North Carolina State, Navy over Virginia, William & Mary over Rutgers.

Midwest — Michigan over Indiana — The Wolverine is mighty keen.

Okla. over Missouri — No Sooner said than done.

Minnesota over Michigan State — The Gopher tunnels back toward top.

Baylor over Nebraska — Baylor will not fall or—we'll lose money.

Notre Dame over North Carolina — Irish stew no longer over losing streak.

Also — Illinois over Wisconsin, Purdue over Northwestern, and Kansas State over Iowa State.

Tennessee over Mississippi — Any Volunteers to pick an upset?

Georgia Tech over Alabama — Doesn't Tech much courage for this.

Clemson over Miami — Tigers shine in preview Orange Bowl appearance.

Auburn over Georgia — Aw-burn your own midnight oil picking these things.

Mississippi State over Louisiana State — Just State your case.

Duke over Wake Forest — Only a nobleman would do this.

Also — Vanderbilt over Tulane, South Carolina over Maryland, Kentucky over Xavier, West Virginia over Furman, George Washington over The Citadel.

Southwest — Texas A&M over Rice — They are finding it hard to bear Bryant.

Arkansas over SMU — Razorbacks are razor sharp.

Texas Christian over Texas — But would you pick Horned Frogs over horned steers?

Also — Houston over Villanova, Detroit over Oklahoma A&M, Tempe State over Arizona, Texas Western over West Texas.

Far West — Oregon State over Idaho — Even a hot potato won't stop drive to Rose Bowl.

Stanford over Washington — Indians thinking about the Rose Bowl, too.

California over Washington, state — A Waldorf salad.

Henry (Hank) DeVoss, has been named president of the Jackson County chapter of the Izak Walton league. He succeeds Norton Smith.

Other officers chosen this week were Dr. Elliott L. Harlow, secretary; John Webber, treasurer; Smith, Col. Paul Welland, Duke Guile, Bill Thorndike and Webber, directors, and Welland, state director.

DeVoss, a Talent resident is an instructor at Lincoln Grade school here. He is a past treasurer of the Walton chapter and was active in securing federal appropriation for screening the turbine intake at Savage Rapids dam on Rogue river.

Dr. Harlow is a Medford physician with dermatology a specialty. Webber is salesman for Medford Blowpipe company.

Eagles Drill on Punting; Will Meet Pleasant Hill In Saturday A-2 Scuffle

Eagle Point — Coach Stan Smith drilled the Eagle Point Smith on their punting game this week as the District 6 championship club prepared for its first entry into state A-2 play-off quarter-finals.

Arrangements for the skirmish with Pleasant Hill were confirmed yesterday. The scrap will be at 8 p.m. Saturday on the Eagle Point gridiron.

Smith said that assignments on both punt formation and punt receiving were getting a special going over this week, that portion of the game showing particular need for work. The tutor also said that the Eagles also were working on a few new pass patterns and were generally working to sharpen their passing attack.

Nelson Back — The EP squad came through the Glide game last week end without any serious hurts, Smith reported. He said that Ron Nelson, tackle who missed the district play-off mix because of a knee injury, is back
