

Ruth Kilbourn and Clyde Wheaton are shown here in a scene from the current Footlighter play, "The Devil Passes." Miss Kilbourn plays the part of Dorothy Lister, an actress, and Mr. Wheaton is Louis Kirsh, an artist, in the three-act drama by Benn Levy. Plot of the play revolves around the Devil, clothed as a minister, and his temptation of various individuals. The play is being produced at the Footlighter theater at the Fairgrounds, with curtain time tonight and tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock. —(Photo by McMurray)

Speakers Named For Session of Wesleyan Guild

Ruth Esther chapter of Wesleyan Service Guild will meet Monday, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the library of the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Alberta Boardman will use as her devotional subject, "For All Children." This will be followed by a round table discussion of the book, "Youth in a Responsible Society." A symposium will be led by Mrs. C. R. Adamson with Mesdames E. T. Anderson, Anne Gorby, Hazel Warren, Clara Mall, Lionel Guy, Hazel Maxson, Bernice Kunzman, and Miss Veda Brower assisting.

Delegates to the recent meeting of the presidents of all Wesleyan Service Guilds in the Oregon conference will give reports. It was held in Salem November 3-4. Those attending from this area were Mesdames C. R. Adamson, Eugene district secretary; Louise Davis, Mary Note, and O. P. Taylor, representing the three Medford guilds, and Mrs. Lyman Pruitt and Miss Cora Mason from the Ashland chapter.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames George Renaker and George Russell and Miss Brower.

Artists Arrange Theater Display

Several valley artists have pictures on display at the Footlighters theatre, where "The Devil Passes" is being shown tonight and Saturday evening.

Works by Mrs. Della Tucker, Ashland; Harry Marx, Mrs. Enid Rankin, Mrs. Ann Brereton, Clifford Plat, Mrs. Ada Castillo, Mrs. Ruth Tucker and Victor Wrigglesworth, all Medford; Mrs. Lou Wilson, Mrs. Ethyl Hixson and Mrs. Marie Starks, Central Point; and Mrs. Gean Neece of Gold Hill, are displayed.

The committee in charge of the display requests each artist to pick up his pictures, or have arrangements made for this, between 1 and 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 18. Pictures must be removed from the theatre at this time.

Announces Dance

Weatonka council, Degree of Pocahontas, will sponsor a free dance tonight at Redman hall for members and their friends. The lodge will hold a business session at 8 p.m., with the dance to follow at 9 p.m.

Music will be provided through the cooperation of Local 597 of the American Federation of Musicians and the grant from the music performance trust fund of the recording industry.

Members are asked to provide sandwiches and pickles for refreshments.

Medford Union Donates Funds to Children's Home

The Children's Farm home at Corvallis, partially supported by the Women's Christian Temperance union of Oregon, was the subject of the last meeting of the Medford union.

Mrs. G. O. Sanden and Mrs. Clynton Crisman gave a skit concerning the home, and donations of money were accepted to be forwarded to the home.

Donations will also be accepted at the next meeting of the union, to be held December 13 at the Salvation Army annex at 2 p.m.

The Rev. H. A. Dierdorff gave the afternoon's devotion, and Mrs. Lyle Schoppert sang and played for the group.

Organists Plan Meeting Monday

The monthly meeting of the Hammond Organ society will be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, November 19, at Purucker Piano House, 111 North Central ave.

Fred Rorer, pickpocket and humorist, will speak for a meeting of Sixkiyou Kuffs and Fork club Monday, November 19, in the Ashland Elks club. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. Members are to make reservations with the club secretary, William Dawkins, no later than Saturday.

The Grants Pass guild of the society has planned a program. Anyone interested in organ music is welcome.

Help Yourself to Happiness

Readers are invited to present their problems. All queries will receive individual attention and should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope, directed to MARY HARRIS SHEPHERD, M. A., Department of Education, THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF FAMILY RELATIONS, 5247 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles 27, California.

If You Can't Make Up Your Mind

"Jane cannot make up her mind about anything," complains Bob. "If we go to a movie, I must choose the show. If we eat out, I must select the restaurant and the menu. If she wants a new hat, I must go with her to vote on the color. She cannot decide on anything!—But what burns me up, is that she says I cannot make decisions!"

Many indecisive people honestly believe that everyone else is unable to make decisions, and that their opinions are decisive and clearest. This common device, called "projection," saves them from admitting how timid and insecure they are. Others delay action until need for a decision is past. Still others wait for someone else to reach decisions for them.

Psychology now recognizes indecisiveness as one of the most widespread and persistent afflictions of modern times. In fact, according to some authorities, four out of five nervous breakdowns are associated with worry and indecision. And the tragic part about this problem is that most indecisive people never become aware of their own weakness, and can therefore never overcome what may lead to even greater unhappiness and maladjustment.

How do you know if you are indecisive?

"Of course, I can make up my mind," you answer scornfully. "Only sometimes, I get hung up on little details!"

Do you? Do you really know what you want to do, to say, to wear, to be? Take a close look at yourself and measure your YES and NO power against the following:

1. You often return goods after purchasing.

2. In a restaurant, you wait to see what your companions are ordering before indicating your choice.

3. You prefer to follow a set routine day after day and become unduly upset by sudden changes in schedule.

4. You fear mistakes and often do nothing rather than risk failure.

5. You generally feel that the world does not appreciate you and your efforts sufficiently, and that you are somehow "getting a raw deal" in all of your relationships.

6. You are almost always tired, even in the morning.

If your answers are mostly YES, then you are probably not as decisive as you should be. Relief lies in honest and sincere effort, either through your own awareness or through the aid of an experienced and sympathetic counselor.

Holiday Season Events Planned In Butte Falls

Butte Falls—Butte Falls Lions auxiliary met recently at the Butte Falls General store to discuss projects for the coming holiday season.

The auxiliary has assumed a large financial obligation in the field of community welfare and Mrs. Bruce Pingle, president, reported that almost 40 percent has been paid on this obligation.

All auxiliary members were asked to read an article in the September issue of the McCall's magazine giving Lion auxiliaries recognition for their work with the visually handicapped.

As a money-making project for December members are preparing a large Christmas basket to go on display after the first of the month.

A post Halloween and early Thanksgiving box is being prepared for a boy at the Oregon State School for the Blind. This is a major project of the club.

A new idea for making money is the "jalopy brunches." It was announced at this meeting that the time of brunch, morning or afternoon would be left up to the hostess.

Tentative plans have been made for a Christmas "goodies sale."

As next regular meeting date is so close to Thanksgiving, a special meeting will be called. Members will be notified as to date and time.

Dinner

Shrine Ladies will hold a potluck dinner Monday, November 19, at the home of Mrs. A. C. Leighton, Old Stage road, at 6:30 o'clock.
