For her wedding the bride wore an empire style gown fashioned with lace bodice, long lace sleeves and taffeta skirt. The skirt was ornamented with lace insets from the waist through the train, and a large taffeta bustle bow. Her fingertip length veil was held by a tiara of sequins and pearls, and she carried her nurse's Bible covered with satin and topped with a white orchid.

The bride's honor attendants were Mrs. Dennis McCoy, Hillsboro, and Miss Nancy Kay Russell, her sister. Other attendants were Mrs. Norman Caspar, Oakland, Calif., Miss Karen Kaufman, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Margaret Frohardt, Stockton, Calif., and Miss Bambi Kaufman, another sister of the bridegroom, who was junior bridesmaid. The matron-of-honor and other attendants wore gowns of white styled identical to that of the maid-of-honor, with green pumps, cummerbunds and sashes and they also carried the green velvet muffs with chrysanthemum nosegays.

The two flower girls' dresses

The wedding music was provided by Mrs. William Martin and Ron Clark, soloist. Church decorations were of white chrysanthemums and ivy. The pews ends were marked with ribbons and bouquets; candles and chrysanthemums were arranged in the side windows.

The reception which followed was given by Dr. and Mrs. Kaufman at their home in Forest Grove.
