Longshore Wage Negotiations Resume

San Francisco—(U.P.)—Representatives of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union and the Pacific Maritime association met today in a renewal of their wage negotiations.

The negotiations took place under a wage review clause of the "no strike" contract between the ILWU and West Coast shippers. The contract runs until the middle of 1958.

The negotiations were stalled for a week because the ILWU refused to work East and Gulf coast ships putting into Pacific coast ports.

The ILWU agreed to work these ships, temporarily at least, after a 24-hour stop work meeting Monday. At that meeting, the 16,000 West Coast longshoremen gave President Harry Bridges a vote of confidence on a program of work stoppages and strikes to help the East Coast longshoremen.

Argentine President Apparent Winner

Buenos Aires, Argentina—(U.P.)—President Pedro E. Aramburu appeared today to have successfully put down two separate threats to his regime by prominent army officers.

Two generals were arrested on suspicion of plotting against the government. Four top army leaders were fired for policy reasons.

There were indications that the shakeup may reach into Aramburu's own political family, Aramburu, in a radio broadcast Thursday night, said "Some people around me are trying to take advantage of the situation" by stirring up inter-service rivalry.

Salem Family Recovering; Bowl Accumulating Money

Salem—(U.P.)—Three members of a Salem family whose house was demolished in an explosion Wednesday were all reported in improved condition today as an investigation into the blast continued.

Dennis Howarth and his wife were still reported in "fair" condition from serious burns but their five-year-old daughter, Deeann, was well enough to receive visitors.

A nine-man committee appointed by Mayor Robert F. White was continuing its investigation of the blast which may have been caused by seeping gas.

The Howarth home was ripped apart by the explosion when Howarth lit a cigarette.

A goldfish bowl and a sign reading "be thankful this is not you. Help your neighbor" had appeared in the Howarth yard. Neighbors reported it is filling with money which will be deposited in the bank for the stricken family.
