The hall honors Mrs. William C. Pritchard, Portland, grand royal matron, and Orra B. Cole, Cannon Beach, grand royal patron.

Mr. Hoppe is a grand commissioner of the order, and Mrs. Hoppe is a grand representative.

Youth Council Asks Volunteers To Be Chaperones

The YMCA Youth council today asked for adults to volunteer for occasional chaperone duty for Y functions. Miss Jacqueline Colton, council president, said "We feel that there are many adults who would enjoy serving as chaperones for our events. Those interested are asked to call the YMCA office, 2-6295, and leave their names, telephone number and preference for Junior or Senior High school dances.

Miss Colton also said that an emergency committee has been organized to plan dances on short notice when chairmen are unable to follow through on their assignments, and that emergency chaperones are sometimes needed.

Swiss Pianist To Be Soloist On Radio Hour

Paul Paray will lead the New York Philharmonic-Symphony in the second week of his guest conductorship and the young Swiss pianist, Geza Anda, will be soloist on the KYJC-CBS Radio broadcast Sunday, November 25 at 11:30 a.m.-1:00 p.m., PST.

Geza Anda, who makes his American radio debut on this occasion, is a native of Budapest and is now a Swiss citizen. He will perform the "Piano Concerto No. 1" by Hungarian-born Franz Liszt. A pupil in Budapest of Ernst Von Dohnanyi, Anda won the national Franz Liszt prize award to the best young pianist in Hungary. He made his debut at 18 in Budapest and in succeeding years he has played with most of the leading orchestras and conductors of the world. Last season he made his first tour of the United States.

The program will open with Henry Cowell's "Hymn and Fuguing Tune No. 2" in its first broadcast by the New York Philharmonic-Symphony. Mr. Cowell is currently on a world tour lecturing on American music and performing in concerts of his own works, under the sponsorship of the Rockefeller Foundation and the U. S. State Department. At the time of the broadcast of his "Hymn and Fuguing Tune," Cowell will be in Damascus.

M. Paray will also lead the Philharmonic in Schuman's "Symphony No. 4 in D Minor" and the incidental music to "Pelleas et Melisande" by Faure.

Singers Marguerite Piazza, Lu Ann Simms and Alan Dale, and harpist Robert Maxwell will join Percy Faith and his orchestra on KYJC-CBS Radio's "The Woolworth Hour: The Best in Music," Sunday, at 1-2 p.m., PST.

Miss Piazza is a popular figure not only in the opera and concert field, but recently in the leading supper clubs.

Percy Faith will salute the fall classics with the Woolworth Orchestra and Chorus in "Mr. Touchdown, U.S.A." He will introduce to "The Woolworth Hour" two new show stoppers from "Lil' Abner," "Jubilation T. Cornpone" and General Bullmoose. The program will close with a hymn, "All the World" performed by the chorus and orchestra in honor of the opening of Chanukkah, the Festival of the Lights.

Four selections from Giacomo Puccini's popular and melodic opera "La Boheme" will be featured.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Mrs. B. G.—Our daughter shows no interest in having a family.

Mrs. Frances K.—There is plenty of time.

Mrs. B. G.—My husband and I are quite worried about our 29-year-old daughter, Frances. She and her husband have been married eight years, yet show no interest in having a family.

Frances is a very bright girl. She went into the business world at 17 and within two years was making twice as much money as other girls her age.

When she married Charles they went into business together and they've been enormously successful. They keep driving themselves and expanding their activities. But what is it all for? We're afraid that Frances is going to regret this when it's too late. Sometimes we wonder whether Charles really loves her. He seems to want to keep her concentrated on the business.

Mrs. Frances K.—My parents have time and again hinted that Charles is just using me for my business brains and has no real consideration for me. I certainly resent this.

My husband and I love one another very dearly and enjoy working together. I'm not the domestic type—I love the business world, yet I wouldn't mind having a family, if it happened to be our good fortune to have one of our own.

My parents seem to think that if we don't have a baby, we should immediately try to adopt a child. We feel that there is plenty of time for that. In any case, we have no intention of making ourselves unhappy about the whole thing. We have too many other interests.

The Council: These parents have been very tactless in their approach to this problem. Their insinuations about Charles can only result in Frances' further evasion of the issue.

Frances naturally tries to protect her husband and her marriage from attack by her parents. She may have an uncomfortable inkling that what her parents say has some truth to it, but because they say it, she is forced to fight the idea rather than face it.

Frances should realize, however, that she and her husband are being evasive. If they really want a family, there is not "plenty of time" to think about adoption. Procedures in adoption take a long time and younger couples stand a better chance. Frances does not indicate that she and her husband have explored all the medical angles. Frances is obviously intelligent enough to know that if a child is really wanted, this should be done.

At bottom, Frances seems to want to avoid a showdown with her husband on the question. It is not suggested here that Charles doesn't love her and wants to exploit her business ability. It is much more likely that for reasons of which he may be unaware, he, like Frances, wishes to shove aside the question of having a family and to lose himself in the excitement of accumulating money.

The parents are right in their feeling that Frances may regret this someday. They overlook the likelihood that Charles might too. This couple ought to face the question, not to make themselves unhappy now, but to avoid future unhappiness if possible.

Eastern Air Lines Reaches Agreement

Washington (U.P.)—Eastern Air Lines and its ground crewmen reached an eleventh-hour agreement Thursday night averting a walkout that would have tied up holiday travelers throughout the East.

The ground crewmen, represented by the International Association of Machinists, planned to go on strike at 12:01 a.m. (EST) today.

A Federal Mediation Board spokesman announced the union and the airline had reached an agreement "in principle" less than an hour before the strike was to start.

He said that "details will be worked out in further meetings" today. But, he added, "the strike is off—there will be no strike."

Spread thin slices of bread with mayonnaise, then sprinkle with shredded cheese, sliced ripe olives and a dash of oregano. Roll and fasten with pick. Butter lightly and bake in hot oven until golden brown. Wonderful lunch with a bowl of hot soup on a cold day.
