Yank Trackmen Fatigue Band

Melbourne — (U.P.) — The United States track team, expected to win as high as 14 gold medals in the Olympic games, already has fatigued the band which salutes the winners when they mount the victory rostrum.

When Tom Courtney, the 800-meter winner, stepped up to the platform to receive the sixth American gold medal and the band had to play the Star Spangled Banner for the sixth time, only two bars of the American national anthem were played.

The music stopped dead, Courtney looked around in stern surprise and then when it became obvious that the band intended to play no more, he shrugged his shoulders, grinned in amusement and jumped down from the stand.

Paul Hornung Green Bay's Bonus Choice

Philadelphia — (U.P.) — The Green Bay Packers won the bonus choice in the National Football League draft today and chose Notre Dame quarterback Paul Hornung.

Packer Coach Lisle Blackbourn outdrew Ray Richards, coach of the Chicago Cardinals, the only other team eligible for the annual free pick of college talent.

Blackbourn, in announcing his choice of Hornung, described the handsome, rangy 210-pounder as "the greatest potential among current Notre Dame backs."

The teams swung into the regular draft with the Los Angeles Rams taking Jon Arnett, Southern California halfback, as their first choice.

Quarterback John Brodie of Stanford went to the San Francisco Forty Niners and the Packers picked Ron Kramer, Michigan end.

Vol Services Eyed by Two Bowl Groups

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer
A tug-of-war was developing today between officials of the Sugar Bowl and the Cotton Bowl—both would like to entice Tennessee to their annual New Year's Day carnivals.

The Sugar Bowl selection committee has indicated it would like to pair Tennessee and Georgia Tech in a rematch of their regular-season game which the Vols won, 6-0. However, no official announcement is expected until both teams conclude their Southeastern conference schedules next Saturday.

Tennessee is a heavy favorite to wrap up its first undisputed SEC title in 16 years and a perfect 10-0 record against Vanderbilt, while Georgia Tech 8-1 closes out its regular season against Georgia.

Cotton Bowl officials, it was learned, also are interested in matching Tennessee against Texas Christian, which clinched the Southwest conference berth last Saturday via a 20-17 triumph over Rice. Navy is a strong second choice for the visiting bid if it gets by Army in their service classic next week end, while Georgia Tech, Syracuse and Pitt also are being considered.

Clemson, ACC Champ
Colorado's opponent in the Orange Bowl also is not expected until next week end when the Atlantic Coast conference will select its official representative. Clemson, the ACC champion, is the leading choice for the open berth, but Duke and South Carolina also are in the running.

Iowa was officially designated as the Big Ten Conference's entry in the Rose Bowl last Saturday night, while Oregon State was expected to receive the official blessing of the Pacific Coast Conference members for the other berth via a telegraphic vote today.

Both berths remained open for the Gator Bowl, with unbeaten Wyoming heading the list of candidates that also includes Duke, Syracuse, Pittsburgh and South Carolina.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

By UNITED PRESS
Everyone is standing around waiting for the first place Boston Bruins to begin nose-diving in the National Hockey League but they're going to keep on waiting in vain as far as Johnny Peirson is concerned.

Peirson fired home a pair of second period goals to pace the Bruins to a 3-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night and the victory increased Boston's margin over second-place Detroit to two points.

Dickie Moore's goal gave the Montreal Canadiens a 1-1 tie with the New York Rangers. The tie moved the fifth-place Rangers within a point of fourth-place Toronto.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

By UNITED PRESS
The Providence Reds smashed a four-team deadlock and moved into undisputed possession of first place in the American Hockey league today, on the strength of Johnny Bower's brilliant goaltending and a flashy offensive attack.

Bower stood out with his work in the nets as the Reds defeated Hershey, 6-1, Sunday night, dropping the Bears to third place.

Fred Glover's second goal of the game gave Cleveland a 3-3 tie with Rochester and second place.

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — Oregon State college was officially named today as the Pacific Coast Conference representative to play Big Ten champion Iowa in the 1957 New Year's day Rose Bowl game.

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — The Oregon State Beavers were expected to receive official word today that they will represent the Pacific Coast conference against Iowa in the 1957 Rose Bowl game.

The announcement was expected from the PCC commissioner's office here where votes were to be received from member schools. The PCC office said no official announcement would be made until all votes are counted.

Oregon State, however, won the PCC championship and clinched the bid to the Rose Bowl Thanksgiving day by battling rival Oregon to a 14-14 tie.

Iowa was officially notified Saturday night that it would represent the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl. The Hawks earned their first Rose Bowl bid in the school's history by defeating Ohio State 6-0.

TOM COURTNEY COPS 800 METERS, RICHARDS KEEPS OLYMPIC TITLE

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
Melbourne — (U.P.) — Tall Tom Courtney of Livingston, N. J., a Yank who simply wouldn't be beaten, spurred from behind and won the Olympic 800-meter run in record time today as the U.S. widened its lead over Russia in the unofficial team race with three more gold medals in two sports.

The Rev. Bob Richards of La Verne, Calif., retained his pole vault crown with an Olympic record leap of 14 feet, 11 1/2 inches and weight-lifter Tommy Kono of Sacramento, Calif., won the light heavyweight title with two world records. However, one other American champion was dethroned.

Cy Young of Modesto, Calif., lost his javelin title to husky Egil Danielsen of Norway who set a new world record of 281 feet, 2 1/2 inches—nearly 40 feet past Young's Olympic record and nearly seven feet past the world's previous best. Young was buried under an avalanche of others who broke his old record and failed to qualify for the final round.

Russia bagged one of the two weight-lifting medals up for grabs tonight when Arkidil Vorobiev won the middle heavyweight crown by smashing the world record in the press with a lift of 325.18 pounds and the Olympic record for total lift with a combined 1,119 pounds. Dave Sheppard, York, Pa., was second with a total of 975.5 pounds and Gene Debut of France was third.

10 Medals For Yanks
The three gold medals in the afternoon boosted the U. S. total to 10—seven in track—and put the Yanks out in front by a wide margin in the team race with a total of 157 points to Russia's 97.

Courtney's tremendous victory in the 800, however, was the high point of the day for the 110,000 wildly cheering fans in the huge arena. The former Fordham flash had the race won, then almost lost it to a complete outsider, Derek Johnson of Great Britain, then came on again with a last moment spurt to wig by a stride in 1:47.7.

Johnson was second, Audun Boysen of Norway was third, Arnie Sowell of Pittsburgh fourth, Michael Farrell of Great Britain fifth and Len Spurrer of Delano, Calif., was sixth. Courtney's time was a good-sized chunk off the Olympic record of 1:49.2 set by Mal Whitfield of the U. S. in 1948 and tied by Mal in '52.

The favored U. S. basketball team piled up the highest scoring in Olympic history by knocking the Philippines 121-53 for its third straight victory. Bob Jeannerd of Wilmette, Ill., former Colorado star, led the Yanks with 24 points but as usual it was San Francisco's Bill Russell who drew the most applause from the crowd though he played less than half the game.

Russia, beaten by France in its previous game, dethroned Singapore 91-42 and stayed "alive" for a possible title showdown against the United States.

Pole Vaulters Help

Other contributors to the soaring American point total during the afternoon were Bob Gutowski of La Jolla, Calif., and George Mattos of Santa Cruz, Calif., who finished second and fourth in the pole vault; Isabelle Daniels of Jakin, Ga., who picked up a fourth in the women's 100-meter dash won by Betty Cuthbert of Australia, and by weight-lifter Jim George of Akron, Ohio, with a third in the light heavyweight lift.

In rowing, the U. S. qualified six of its seven crews including Yale's eight-oared shell for Tuesday's rowing finals. The only crew eliminated today was the four-oared crew with coxswain, a group from the West Side Rowing club of Buffalo, N. Y.

Upset by Australia and Canada in its debut last week, Yale's plucky crew barged back with a semi-final victory over Australia, Russia and Japan in its heat today, eliminating the later two.

Handsome Jack Kelly of Philadelphia, on his third try to duplicate his father's 1920 Olympic victory, qualified for the single sculls final. The American paired oars without coxswain, pairs

Olympic—Ramblings

By BILL BOWERMAN
U of O Track Coach

En Route to Olympics with Track and Field News Tour, Out of Canton Island headed for Fiji, Nov. 19 — Getting out of San Francisco was not easy. We were scheduled at 8 a.m. and made it at noon—fog—long trip to Hawaii.

Visited with mother of Rafer Johnson, a couple of Los Angeles sportswriters. These sports writers reflect some of the animosity of the L.A. area. They are resentful that the conference had courage enough to enforce the rules, and they are not informed enough to realize that the things that were being done to young men in the name of "assistance and scholarships" by the rule breakers were undermining the entire educational program.

Surely hope our conference presidents have the courage to stick by their convictions and keep our conference clean or chuck the whole thing and admit that football has whipped them.

Glamour Missing
We got into Honolulu after dark. There was none of the glamour I had read about:

1. We could see nothing except the torches burning on the road side.
2. No playing of ukuleles.
3. Duke Kohanancee, or something or other, was not standing waist deep in the breakers with surf board under arm.
4. And finally, it was raining—thought I was in Eugene, except it was warm rain.

We were all given an orchid lei and whooped to the Reef hotel for a wait. People were interesting. I suppose the long house coat affairs many of the people wore are typical Hawaiian garb. Many men in shorts, Hawaiian beach shirts, etc.

We flew all night and landed at Canton Island at dawn. This atoll is a coral reef about 50 to 110 yards wide and a complete 15-mile circle around a lagoon. Very picturesque. Supposed to be excellent fishing, 50 to 60 pounders. Also an abandoned outrigger canoe with the flotsam on the beach. What an outfit for a Boy Scout camp. We are off for Fiji, another 1600 miles. At the airport there was a tall pole with sign boards reading "Hawaii 1900 miles, Singapore 2700 miles, London 11,000 miles, Melbourne 2300 miles." And I thought, "Oregon 7700 miles."

Corvallis — (U.P.) — Oregon State's Coach Tommy Prothro, a Pacific Coast Conference clear-cut champion wrapped up and the Rose Bowl bid only a formality to come, today, departed here last night for a brief Hawaiian vacation. The Beaver boss plans to return to Corvallis Dec. 9. He will call his team together on the 14th and hold five days of conditioning drills before the squad leaves for its training camp in the southland and start work for the Rose Bowl game against Iowa.

WRONG NUMBER

Miami — (U.P.) — The Southern Bell Telephone company reported today that one out of every 28 numbers dialed in Miami is a wrong one. The mistakes amount to 480,000 miscues a week and the company believes it's a "wrong" number.

Michigan leads the nation in production of red tart cherries, supplying more than half of the entire national crop.

with coxswain, double sculls, and fours without coxswain all qualified for the finals.

In track preliminaries, defending champion Andy Stanfield of Jersey City, N. J., Thane Baker of Elkhart, Kan., and Bobby Morrow of San Benito, Tex., each won two heats in the 200 meters to qualify for Tuesday's semi-finals. Bill Dellinger of Springfield, Ore., was the only qualifier at 5,000 meters.

It took a desperate rally to save the 800-meter medal for the U. S., but Courtney was equal to the task. He was off the mark on top but was content to let Sowell set the pace as they headed into the back stretch on the first of two laps and thereby apparently saved an extra ounce he needed so sorely at the finish.

Briton Springs Surprise
It was Sowell, Courtney, Boyesen and the unheralded Briton, Johnson, running in that order with Spurrer fifth on the back stretch of the final lap. Heading into the turn, Courtney made his bid for the lead and he ran shoulder to shoulder with Sowell as they straightened out for home.

But midway down the stretch, the amazing British star struck between the two Yanks with a sudden spurt and grabbed the lead by a yard with less than 50 more to go. He seemed to have the gold medal within easy reach but Courtney wouldn't quit. Husky Tom put on one last blast, caught Johnson and inched ahead by a stride as he hit the tape with his face contorted and arms flung high.

Richards had little difficulty defending his pole vault crown. He and Gutowski put on a two man show after darkhorse George Roubanis of Greece went out at 14 feet, 10 1/4 inches. The bar was raised to 14-11 1/2, a fraction over the Olympic record Richards set four years ago and Gutowski went out. Richards, too, missed his first turn at that height but made it on the second though he brushed the bar as he floated across.

In weight-lifting, Kono set new world records for the jerk lift and total lift as he won the light heavyweight crown. Kono, who won the 1952 Olympic light-weight title, hoisted 285.81 pounds in the jerk, bettering the old record of 281.39 pounds set by Russia's T. Lomakin in 1955. His total of 866.25 was 27.55 pounds over his own world record.

Tickets Go On Sale Here Tuesday for Oregon A-1 Grid Championship Tussle

Tickets for the Medford-Marshfield High school state championship football game will go on sale at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the senior high school office here.

The game is slated for Friday night, Nov. 30, at Multnomah stadium in Portland. Medford Principal Lester Harris stated that 600 tickets were being sent by the Oregon School Activities association from Portland by Greyhound bus. They cost $2 each and the reserved seats are around the 40-yard line.

There will be no limit on the number of tickets one person can purchase.

Efforts were still being made today to switch the game to Hayward field at Eugene and to a different time in order to better convenience the supporters of both the Black Tornado and the Pirates. However, it appeared that the labors would come to no avail.

Harris said that he had made a formal request to the OSAA, asking that the game be played on Saturday, Dec. 1, at 2 p.m. on the Eugene collegiate turf. He made an alternate request that the contest be shifted to 2 p.m. Saturday if it could not be moved from Multnomah stadium in Portland.

Decision Made
Nevertheless, Tom Pigott, executive-secretary of the OSAA, contacted by the Mail Tribune this morning, stressed that the board of control already had made its decision to keep the play-off final at Multnomah on Friday. He indicated that he did not expect the board to change its mind.

Pigott said that he, himself, would not bring the matter up to the board for further discussion. The secretary pointed out that there are "so many things involved" and "so much plan-

Browns Ejected For First Time

Cleveland — (U.P.) — The Cleveland Browns were eliminated from a pro football division race Sunday for the first time in their 11-year history. Cleveland's chances were already dim and a 20-17 loss to the Washington Redskins left the Browns 3 1/2 games behind the first-place New York Giants in the National Football league's Eastern division with only three to play.
