Recoveries Noted in Some Stock Issues

New York (U.P.)—Stocks met support late today after an orderly, quiet decline through most of the session. Recoveries from their lows were noted in steels, chemicals, oils, motors and special issues. A long list of companies declared higher or extra dividends and these helped individual issues. Lukens Steel rose two points when its directors declared a $1.50 extra dividend. Celanese turned very active and rose more than a point on a doubled dividend. Santa Fe rose nearly a point on a 60-cent extra.

Today's prices on selected stocks: Allied Chemical 90, American Can 41 1/2, A T & T 168, Anaconda Copper 74, Bethlehem Steel 171 1/4, Caterpillar Corp. 89 1/2.

Three Minor Crashes Reported in Medford

Three minor collisions were reported in Medford Monday, of which two involved dogs, according to city police. A car operated by Marjorie L. Wolf, 401 North Berkeley Way, Medford, struck a male black and white dog on East Jackson st. between Oregon Terrace and North Keene Way drive, officers reported the dog was taken by police to Gitzen and Gitzen Veterinary hospital. No citations were issued. Owner of the dog was not determined.

A brown female Weimaraner dog was struck by a car operated by Margery S. Eaton, Bear Creek motel, 2715 South Pacific highway, Medford, at 831 South Central ave., police said. It was also taken to the veterinary hospital by police. Owner of the dog has not been determined, officers reported. No citations were issued.

A collision occurred on Main st. between Central ave. and Bartlett st., involving cars operated by Robert Hudson Lindsay, 830 Taylor st., Medford, and Dorothy Alice Owens, Talent, and a parked car registered to Alice Coker, 4410 South Pacific highway, Medford, according to police.

Dorothy Owens was cited for failure to yield right of way, police said. No injuries were reported.

Extra Vacation Time
Pendleton (U.P.)—Some 315 students at St. Joseph's academy here are getting an extra week's vacation to go with their Thanksgiving day holiday as a result of the Saturday fire which destroyed the original academy building and damaged other parts of the school.

Recommended by the jury was an additional cell block for segregation of prisoners, uniforms for prisoners, lockers for their clothing and more "adequate" visible facilities.

Sheriff Tony Neufeldt said he agreed with the grand jury recommendations. He said as many as 18 prisoners have recently been confined in the jail which has bunks for only 12. He added that the recommendations would require construction of a new jail.
