'Skyworker' Achieves Outsanding Results

Buffalo, N.Y.—(U.P.)—A lifting device employed in servicing overhead lines has achieved outstanding results for the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. in western New York.

Seven of the versatile devices, called "skyworkers," are operating in this area and eight more are expected to join the fleet.

The skyworker is a pneumatic lift device mounted on a standard three-ton truck. It can carry one or two workers more than 42 feet off the ground in almost any direction. With freedom of the air never before known, workmen can repair lines, trim trees, replace street lamps or perform a number of otherwise difficult tasks. Always in the past, repair men had to climb the pole or tree.

The device has a long mechanical arm with an elbow midway up. At the top are the buckets which can be controlled from inside or from the ground.

Safety methods include a nonconducting fiberglass material on the buckets, and a thick rubber mat on which a workman stands.

Niagara Mohawk said the idea came from a similar type device used in the state of Washington for picking apples.

American housewives average 63 hours of work each week, according to recent surveys. By contrast a Belgian housewife works 114 hours per week.

Stephen Foster's Melodeon Created In Replica Form

Miami, Fla. — (U.P.)—A Miami accountant who goes for do-it-yourself projects has built a replica of the melodeon on which Stephen Foster was believed to have composed some of his most famous songs.

J. Robert Haire, who did some piano-tuning before becoming an accountant, decided on the project after he read that the original Foster melodeon had been donated to the University of Pittsburgh's museum.

That left the Stephen Foster memorial at White Springs, Fla., on the famous Suwanee River, without a melodeon.

"I thought they should at least have a replica of the instrument," Haire said.

Small Reed Organs

Melodeons are pint-sized reed organs which still are in use in scattered areas throughout the country. They are portable, stand on short legs and can be carried around on the end of a strap.

Haire said he saw a newspaper photograph of the melodeon, and, after obtaining the necessary permit and specifications from Pittsburgh, he began work.

His initial step was to buy a second hand melodeon from a pawn shop for $85. Stripping off the keyboard and ripping out its innards, Haire began to build the replica "almost from scratch."

"I wanted it to be an exact replica," he said.

When he finished the instrument, it was exact, even to a scratch on the finish and the bellows which Foster had apparently patched with tape.

When he finished the intricate job, Haire took the 27-inch high instrument and transported it personally to the Foster memorial.

But before he did so, he made a photograph of the instrument for his living room. He said he wanted to have proof that he could "do it myself."

Goldfield Township Still Lacks Constable

Goldfield, Nev. —(U.P.)— Goldfield Township is going to have to get along without a constable, for at least another two years.

That shouldn't cause any particular hardship; however, since Goldfield, once a rip-roaring mining camp but now a semi-ghost town, hasn't had a constable for about 10 years anyway because the pay is too small.

The attorney general's office ruled that Robert Luce, the first candidate to seek the office in years, was ineligible to seek election.

He filled as a non-partisan candidate and the attorney general held that only judicial and school posts are non-partisan in Nevada. Luce should have filed as a Republican, Democrat or independent.

Four barrels of water from the Great Salt lake in Utah will produce, after evapporation processes, almost one standard barrel of salt.

Colorado's fourth congressional district is the loftiest in the United States. There are about 50 mountain peaks lying within the area.
