

Oregonian Turns Over Teamster Probe Files

Portland — UP — The Oregonian reported today that it had turned over to a Senate investigating committee information and documents it had collected for use in what the newspaper said was an upcoming probe of Teamster Union leaders in Portland and other cities. The files have been turned over to Robert Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, the newspaper said. The public hearings to be held in connection with the investigation will start shortly after the first of the year, according to present plans, the story said, with Portland a possible location for some of the taking of testimony.

The Oregonian reported that subpoenas have been served on the newspaper for all the records of its vice investigation which were turned into a copyrighted series of reports earlier this year.

Body of Salem Man Still Eludes Searchers

Salem — UP — Searchers have so far failed to recover the body of 27-year-old Gaylon Dwayne Amen, Salem, who drowned in the Willamette river Sunday near Wheatland ferry.

State police said the body apparently caught on a snag on the river bottom or was carried downstream by the current.
