NBA Lifetime Ban Threatened In Case of Aragon, Goldstein

Patterson, N.J.— (U.P.) — The National Boxing association today threatened a life ban against welterweights Art Aragon and Dick Goldstein, already under suspension in Texas for plotting to fix a fight between themselves.

Abe J. Greene of Paterson, commissioner of the NBA, said, "If an investigation by our executive committee finds them guilty, I will suggest that both be barred from boxing for life."

He said he was confident that Floyd Stevens, chairman of the Michigan commission and president of the NBA, would agree to that suggestion; likewise other members of the executive committee.

Meanwhile, the Texas suspensions will extend throughout NBA territory, he said.

The two Los Angeles fighters —"Golden Boy" Aragon, third-ranking welterweight contender and hottest box office attraction in the far west, and obscure Goldstein — were suspended Thursday at Austin, Tex., by state labor commissioner M. B. Gordon for conspiring to fix their fight at San Antonio, Tex., which never was staged.

Asks Leniency

Aragon was suspended indefinitely; Goldstein for 30 days.

At Austin, Commissioner Morgan said that, after lie detector tests, "Aragon admitted to me that he did arrange with Goldstein to take a dive. He asked me to be lenient with him. I told him I could not promise him anything."

Explaining the attempted fix, Morgan said the Aragon-Goldstein negotiations were made in Los Angeles, where Aragon promised to fight Goldstein in San Antonio, if Goldstein would "take a dive in the third or fourth round."

Morgan said Aragon guaranteed Goldstein $500 for the performance, but insisted upon Goldstein first giving him $500 as a forfeit that Goldstein would lose as promised. After the fight, Aragon was to give back the $500 forfeit plus the $500 pay to his opponent.

"Goldstein agreed entirely," Morgan said. "He came to San Antonio and the promoter there advanced Goldstein $500 on his purse." But Goldstein refused to entrust the $500 to Aragon. And when Aragon put pressure on him, Goldstein went to the police and told the whole story. He also arranged for detectives to listen to a Goldstein-Aragon phone conversation and see them meet in an alley.

Yankees Aim For Rewrite Of Miracle

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

Adelaide, Australia — (U.P.) — Billy Talbert planned today to rewrite the "Miracle of 1954" when the United States meets Australia in next week's Davis Cup challenge round.

The United States was just as much an underdog at Sydney two years ago as it is this year but startled the tennis world by beating Australia, 3-2. It's the only challenge round victory the U.S. has scored over Australia in six years and Talbert achieved it by using only two men.

Experts Pick Aussies

That, Bill indicated Thursday, is just what he's strongly thinking of doing this year when the experts believe almost unanimously that the Aussies will sweep the U.S. team in five straight matches.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati accomplished the "Miracle of 1954." Trabert has turned pro but Talbert believes he may again beat the "unbeatable" Lew Hoad and Ken Rosenwall by using only Seixas and Herb Flam, the Brooklyn star who lives in Beverly Hills, Calif., in the big showdown.

"My mind is still open on the doubles," said the U.S. non-playing captain by way of leaving himself the opportunity to change his mind, "but Seixas is so much better playing the forecourt and don't forget he and Flam have some good doubles victories to their credit."

Medford Independent Basketball league, which has completed its fourth week of games, now pauses until after the holidays.

League activity will resume on Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Company A of the National Guard heads the circuit unbeaten in four games and Mutual of Omaha follows with four wins against one loss. Hawkinson Tire Tread is third with three wins in four contests.

Houston, Tex.—(U.P.)—Quarterback Tobin Rote is ready to quit calling signals for the Green Bay Packers but he hinted that money could change his mind. Rote, who completed his seventh season with the Packers last week, announced his retirement from pro football but qualified it by adding "unless my wife changes her mind."

Wichita Names Woody Woodard

Wichita, Kan. — (U.P.) — Chalmer E. (Woody) Woodard, who resigned his $12,500 a year job before the last game of a losing season at Southern Methodist, came back to his hometown today to sign a three-year contract as head football coach of the University of Wichita.

Woodard, handsome "nice guy" coach of the SMU Mustangs for four years, was hired Thursday night to replace resigned Wichita mentor Pete Tillman for $10,500 a year. Woodard, 39, will receive $500 raises each of the last two years of his contract.

Fears Challenges Parker To Clean Up His Own Club

Los Angeles— (U.P.) —Ram veteran Tom Fears challenged Detroit Lions Coach Buddy Parker today to "clean up his own back yard" in a dispute over dirty playing charges in the National Football league.

Fears took issue with Parker Thursday in the midst of a flurry of charges growing out of a Detroit accusation that the Chicago Bears' Ed Meadows deliberately injured Lions quarterback Bobby Layne last Sunday.

Fears said Parker "has two of the biggest thugs on his team, including the dirtiest player in the league—and should clean up his own backyard" before making accusations against other teams.

Fears joined other Rams and former Rams in disputing statements that prices were put on the heads of NFL quarterbacks, with players themselves putting up a "pool" to go to the man who took the opposition star out of the game.

"Gil Mains is the dirtiest player in the league and Jim David is notoriously dirty," Fears charged. "Parker should clean up his own back yard."

Bell Satisfied No Plot by Rams To Injure Layne

Philadelphia — (U.P.) — National Football league commissioner Bert Bell was satisfied today that Washington Redskins halfback Norb Hecker never heard of, or was party to a plot to "get" Bobby Layne of the Detroit Lions or any other player.

Bell came to his conclusion after tossing five $64,000 questions at the veteran Hecker after asking Redskins officials to bring him to their office telephone. He got a "no" answer each time.

The commissioner made his call in the wake of Laynes' injury from a tackle by Eddie Meadows in the Lions-Bears game last Sunday, and a Washington newspaper's quoting Hecker that when he played for Los Angeles there was a money pool among the Rams to see who could "get" quarterback Layne.

Bell, already riled at grumblings of "dirty football" from owners, coaches and players, repeated that "no National Football league player would try maliciously to injure another." He said he summoned Hecker "to get the answers from the boy himself."

Parker Refuses To Sign Contract

Detroit— (U.P.) —Detroit Lions Coach Buddy Parker left the board of directors feeling like Ed Meadows had tackled each and every one of them.

Parker, one of the most successful coaches in the business, refused to sign a contract for 1957. Neither he nor Lions President Edwin J. Anderson would elaborate.

Anderson said the directors offered Parker a new contract, reportedly a two-year pact at $30,000. But Anderson would not say why Parker wouldn't accept it.

Close Mouthed

Parker and Anderson were as close mouthed Thursday as they were talkative after Sunday's loss to the Chicago Bears.

Then Parker threatened to quit professional football because of what he termed a disastrous "slugging match" instead of a game.

The threat stemmed from the incident in the Lions-Bears game in which Meadows tackled Bobby Layne and the Detroit quarterback wound up with a brain concussion. Later, Detroit movies of the game showed Layne was not "slugged" as Anderson contended but that Meadows had tackled him clean and hard.

Hawkeyes Get Defensive Drill

By UNITED PRESS

Pasadena, Calif.— (U.P.) —Iowa Football Coach Forest Evashevski said today he is seriously concerned about stopping Oregon State's fast and dangerous running attack in the New Year's Rose Bowl game.

"Oregon State's speed will hurt anyone, and we must control it," Evashevski said.

The mentor also said that he would gladly settle for the same one-point victory in the Rose Bowl that Iowa scored over Oregon State in their previous meeting.

Evashevski indicated his respect for the Beavers Thursday by devoting almost the entire morning drill to defense with the third team taking the part of the Staters.

Yogi Berra Signs For $55,000 Pay

New York—(U.P.)—Yogi Berra was living it up today as the highest paid catcher in baseball history and changing the linen laundry on his brand new son gave him a parental attitude toward his fellow New York Yankee teammates.

Yogi signed Thursday for $55,000 and it was dramatic evidence as to how a kid can go with talent. It was a long way from "The Hill," the Italian section of St. Louis where he was born.

League Pin Action Has 2-Week Halt

Medford Bowling lanes tentatively plans to be operating as a 22-alley layout by Jan. 2, proprietor Fred Anderson has announced.

He said that the lanes will be closed to league bowling for two weeks following this Sunday night. However, open bowling will be possible during this period.

An addition with 10 new alleys is being completed. Operation of the new lanes along with the present 12 will make the Medford establishment second largest in Oregon. Columbia Bowl in Portland has 26 alleys.

Anderson said that the present 12 alleys will be resurfaced during the two weeks lay-off of the leagues. He indicated that through use of some of the new lanes it will be possible to have 12 alleys available every day for open kegling.

Medford lanes will be the scene of one of the big state tourneys next year. The Oregon Women's Bowling association meet will open here on Saturday, Feb. 2, and will go for six week ends. The tourney has been moved ahead one week from the originally announced date and has been slated for one week end more than first planned.

North Carolina Has Close Call

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer

North Carolina's southern gentlemen from the sidewalks of New York remained unbeaten today, but they're hoping northern hospitality improves tonight when their road show shifts to Boston Garden.

The talented Tarheels run into a dangerous Dartmouth team at Boston after New York university almost spoiled their debut before the "home folks" Thursday night at Madison Square Garden.

Although most of their players grew up and learned their basketbal in New York, the Tarheels suffered a surprising case of "Gardenitis" in the opener of a three-game northern tour but recovered in time to gain a 64-59 victory over NYU.

One Point Apart

NYU appeared headed towards a major upset by pulling to within one point (58-57) of North Carolina in the final two minutes.

Meanwhile, LaSalle ruined North Carolina State's opener for a two-game northern tour with a late rally that earned the Explorers an 83-76 victory at Philadelphia. Tom Garberina scored 30 points for the Explorers.

In the only other game involving a top-ranked team, Minnesota handed eighth-rated Kansas State its first defeat, 80-72, despite a 33-point performance by the Wildcats' Jack Paar.

Pro Bowl Tutors Name Assistants

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — West coach Paddy Driscoll of the Chicago Bears and East coach Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants have named their assistants for the seventh annual charity pro-bowl football game here Jan. 13.

Howell announced Thursday that he had selected Tom Landry and Vince Lombardi as assistants, while Driscoll named Clark Shaughnessy and Luke Johnson to help him prepare for the grid classic in Memorial Coliseum.

Players on both of the 31-man squads are due to report here immediately after the first of the year to begin drills.

HOCKEY

NATIONAL LEAGUE
By United Press

Maurice Richard is the oldest player in the National Hockey league but make no mistake about it—he's still one of the best.

The 35-year-old "Rocket" demonstrated his slow start this season was no sign he's washed up when he tallied two goals and picked up an assist Thursday night to lead the Montreal Canadiens to a 4-2 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs. The win enabled the Canadiens to gain a tie for second place with the Detroit Red Wings, who tied the Boston Bruins, 1-1, in the only other game.

Turkey Shoot This Sunday

Medford Gun club will hold its fourth and final turkey shoot of the season Sunday at its grounds just west of Crater Lake highway Four Corners.

The pre-Christmas event will open at 10 a.m. Hams and bacon, as well as turkeys, will be prizes.

The public is welcome to participate. There will be competition for the various classes of shooters. Events for non-shooters also are planned.

Lunch will be available at the grounds.

Ortega Opposes DeMarco Tonight

New York — (U.P.) — Lanky Gaspar Ortega of Mexico will try to prove tonight in a return bout with ex-welterweight champion Tony DeMarco at Madison Square Garden that last month's split decision over Boston Tony was no fluke.

"I ween beeger tonight," said Ortega, with three straight upsets under his belt. "He no knock me out las' time —nobody knock me out. So thees time maybe I knock heem out."

Their 10-rounder will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 10 p.m. EST.

Despite young Ortega's confidence, betting men made stocky DeMarco a 2-1 favorite to turn the tables because of his explosive left hook and because of the dispute over the verdict of their Nov. 23rd fight at the Garden.

Lovellette Paces Spurs Laker Win

By UNITED PRESS

Wilt Chamerlain's the current rage of the college courts but a former Kansas star named Clyde Lovellette is also still grabbing headlines.

The 6-foot, 9-inch Lovellette, who starred for Kansas when the seven-foot Chamberlain probably wasn't a bit over 6-feet, 5-inches tall, rang up 33 points Thursday night to lead the Minneapolis Lakers to a 105-103 victory over the Rochester Royals.

The win enabled the Lakers to move within a half game of the first-place Royals in the Western Division race.

Central Pointers Take 2 Frays From Ashland

Central Point—Central Point Grade school basketball players won two games last night from Ashland clubs.

The Pointer eighth graders won 44 to 38 with Loyal Higinbotham scoring 20 counters and Tom White 14. Halftime standing was 24 to 22.

Central Point took the seventh grade mix 21 to 16 after a 5 to 3 halftime edge. Louis Alvarez and John Champ each had six tallies for the victors.

Brown Key To Hopes of Loyola Lions

(This is another in a series of West Coast collegiate basketball prospects.)

Los Angeles— (U.P.) —The success of the Loyola Lions this year depends upon whether good things come in small packages, Coach Bill Donovan says in evaluating his squad which took second spot in the California Basketball association last season.

"We have a small squad, but an awful lot of potential," Donovan says.

Much of this statement, as well as the team's hope, is built around six-foot, three-inch Garnett Brown, who handles both forward and center positions with equal ease.

"He's outjumped virtually every man who has opposed him in the center spot this year," the coach said. "These opponents have been six-feet, five inches and over."

Brown led the Lions in the first quarter of the season with a 12.1 per game rebound average as well as an 18.1 point-making average.

Southern California basketball writers made him "player of the week" the first week of December.

With a packed schedule of 28 games, Donovan feels "this season should yield Loyola one of its best records in recent years."

First string captain Dave Benaderet has an early average of 15.4 points per game this season after recording 16.4 last year.

Guards Tom Donahue and Gene Pingatore and forward Bill McMahon complete the varsity. Donovan believes they're all "excellent ball handlers." He also can depend upon center Bill Germscheid, forward Walt Hoye and guard Kovely.

The Lions go on the road to open their CBA season Jan. 4 against Fresno State. The schedule calls for College of Pacific Jan. 5 and San Jose State and St. Mary's the next week end. Their first meet with the Lions this season was set for Feb. 2 at San Francisco.

OSC Puts Stress On Place Kicking

Santa Monica, Calif.— (U.P.) — Oregon State today stressed place kicking in preparing for its Rose Bowl clash with Iowa because of the mid-season loss to the Hawkeyes by a missed conversion.

The Beavers held their first hard workout Thursday since arriving here Tuesday, with end John Clarke and quarterback Ted Searle doing the place kicking.

In Thursday's workout, the Beavers went through a sharp scrimmage in which the first and second teams worked against the third. The team had scrimmaged several times prior to leaving Oregon and Coach Tommy Prothro said the initial hard workout here should sharpen up his squad.

Brennan Utilizes 2-Unit System

Santa Clara, Calif. — (U.P.) — Coach Terry Brennan of the East Shrine squad today appeared to be favoring a two-unit system of play for the annual football game.

Brennan worked his squad in units throughout Thursday's single drill, with the same men operating together both on offense and defense.

The team had camera day in the morning and a workout with pads and helmets in the afternoon. The workout featured the passing of Notre Dame's Paul Hornung and Penn State's Milt Plum.

Brennan said that he was impressed with the pass catching ability of the backs and ends on the team.
