Cities Will Raise Improvement Funds

Chicago —(U.P.)—A finance expert says states and cities will always be able to raise enough money for essential major improvements, providing there isn't a sharp money panic, a big depression or a full-scale war. Cushman McGee, New York investment broker, emphasized that his prediction does not apply to non-essential projects. "Too grandiose plans" are underway in some communities he said. "In too many instances school plans are over-elaborate and over-expensive." McGee made the warning in a pamphlet, "Present Conditions and Prospects of the Market for Municipal Bonds," published by the Municipal Finance Officers Association. "It may be a fair question as to whether school officials and school teachers realize that expensive school construction with consequential tax burdens may result in taxpayer reluctance to provide adequate pay to teachers and other school employees," McGee wrote. McGee, offering advice to local officials about what they can expect when they want to sell municipal bonds, said burdens on taxpayers should be minimized in a period of great expansion. "Too often there is an inclination to think that because interest on the bonds of public bodies in the United States is exempt from federal taxes, the market for bonds is so highly specialized that it is undisturbed by outside influences," he wrote. "Such is not the case."

Hummingbirds Among Those That Hibernate

Los Angeles —(U.P.)—Hummingbirds, swifts and even whippoorwills have to hibernate because they use so much energy in flight. A group of University of California zoologists here discovered that the swifts and whippoorwills apparently hibernate during "lean" hunting months to conserve energy. The birds feed entirely on flying insects and must be able to survive long periods of unfavorable weather, when few insects are in the air. By going into a torpor, a whippoorwill may live for more than three months on the energy from 10 grams of fat, the researchers learned. Hummingbirds expend tremendous amounts of energy when active and might "burn out" if they didn't hibernate at night, the researchers reported.

Quotes From the News

By UNITED PRESS. Washington—President Eisenhower receiving notice the Electoral College had chosen him for a second term: "I take it we can now regard the election as official." Chicago—Orville E. Hodge on his being granted two more months to repay some of the $2.3 million he stole while he was Illinois state auditor: "I've done all I can." Washington—Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) on his plans: "I have informed my colleagues in the Senate that I will not be a candidate for reelection to the Senate when my present term expires in 1958." Moscow — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai attacking President Eisenhower's new Middle East doctrine of military and economic aid: "The Eisenhower Doctrine has demonstrated the U.S.A.'s endeavor to occupy Britain and France's positions, and it met with the opposition of all the peace-loving states and peoples." Chicago—AFL-CIO President George Meany calling for stern measures against Communist aggression: "To understand Communism is not to fear it. To fight Communism certainly is not being negative." Washington—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on whether manpower cuts would still leave the United States enough military strength to move into the Middle East if necessary: "I'm satisfied we do have the power."

New Cabbage Variety Being Developed

Albany, N. Y. —(U.P.)—New York state may be the nation's biggest producer of cabbage, but experts at the Geneva Experimental Station predict even bigger things in the future. A new cabbage variety is being developed at the station and, if it turns out successfully, that success can be attributed to a disease called cabbage-yellows. If a cabbage plant is infected, the plant's growth is retarded and it dies. But even those that win out are of doubtful market value. The disease first was noted near Albany in 1895 and spread throughout the state to the Middle West. Then crop experts stepped in and, to counteract effects of the disease, yellow-resistant varieties were developed. However, these types proved to be inferior in yielding ability. Now the experts are working on a combination of disease-resistant and high-yield types to see if they produce a bigger crop. By 1959 or 1960, the desired large type should be ready for release.

Croquet Sets Show Popularity Increase

Chicago —(U.P.)—Croquet is making a comeback after having been an attic item for nearly 70 years. A survey of customer preferences by King Korn Stamp Co. discloses that croquet sets were the most popular single item among 60,000 redemption sales. "The flight to suburbia and the resultant backyard boom probably accounts for croquet's popularity," said Peter Vollet, company president. Number two choice of housewives redeeming merchandise stamps was for tubular steel stepstools for the kitchen. Third in popularity was the electric heating pad.
