

SOC Professor to Speak At Great Decisions Meeting

Dr. Clifford Miller of Southern Oregon college will discuss American foreign policy problems Thursday, Jan. 10, at 8 p.m. in the courthouse auditorium.

Dr. Miller will speak at a public meeting for persons interested in taking part in the Great Decisions... 1957 study of American foreign policy. His discussion will include a resume of the eight "areas of conflict," which will be topics for informal home discussion groups, newspaper articles, school classes, and radio and television programs beginning Jan. 20.

The "areas" include "How should U.S. compete with Russia?"; "What U.S. policy for Europe?"; "What U.S. stakes in the Middle East?"; "Should the U.S. Deal With Red China?"; "U.S.—for or against 'colonialism?'; "Are 'Neutralists' against the U.S.?" "What U.S. military strategy in nuclear age?"; "How much trade?—How much aid?"

Mrs. Mabel C. Mack of Corvallis, assistant director of the Oregon State college extension service, and Dr. Curtis Reid, head of the department of visual aid instruction, general extension division, Portland, will also take part.

Great Decisions... 1957 is a community program being made available on a state-wide basis to build informed public opinion on foreign policy, according to Mrs. John Ousterhout, chairman of the temporary county Great Decisions committee.

Eight-Week Program

The eight-week program, which encourages residents to form informal groups to discuss foreign policy, is based on eight fact sheets prepared by the Foreign Policy Association, a non-profit, non-governmental, non-partisan, non-political organization formed 38 years ago.

The fact sheets will be available at the Medford Public Library during the program, and also are expected to be available at the Thursday night meeting.

Indians Honor Dead At Dalles Dam Rites

The Dalles — (U.P.) — Representatives from Warm Springs, Tappanish and White Swan Indian settlements gathered here yesterday for committal ceremonies as the aged bones of their ancestors were entombed.

The bones of an estimated 650 Indians were sealed in a concrete vault on a hill overlooking The Dalles dam. The remains had been removed from Grave island, one of two burial islands which waters from the new dam will soon flood.

Seaton Will Ask Delay in Sale of Klamath Timber

Washington — (U.P.) — Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton said today he would ask Congress to postpone sale of tribal timberlands on the Klamath Indian reservation in Oregon.

Seaton said he would ask for an amendment to the Klamath termination act of 1954 to spread the timber sales over a four-year period. This would avoid depressing the market, he said. The amendment also would provide for federal rather than private payment of the termination program cost.

The Klamath termination act provides for removal of federal trusteeship over the property and affairs of the Klamath tribe and its members by August, 1958.

It also gives individual members the option of withdrawing their proportionate share of the tribal assets or remaining in the tribe and sharing in the proceeds of continued forest management.

An appraisal of the tribal forest now is in progress and is scheduled for completion in the next few months. Once it has been completed and approved by the Interior department, sales of the tribal forest lands to compensate withdrawing members might start soon thereafter under the law in its present form.

Time To Consider

Seaton said he is recommending postponement of these sales so that Congress will have adequate time to consider whether all or part of the tribal forest should be purchased by the federal government.

He also said Congress should consider whether continued conservation-type management of the forest is in the general public interest.

FISH STORY

Alden, Mich. — (U.P.) — Peter Smith, 15, was caught unprepared when he snared a muskellunge while ice fishing. He had to cut a bigger hole in the ice in order to pull the 50-inch, 35-pound fish through.

It was in that lively musical show titled "Little Johnny Jones" that George M. Cohan introduced the immortal ditty "Give My Regards to Broadway." When "Little Johnny Jones" was first presented in New York it was a failure. Did Cohan close the show? No, sir. He was made of sterner stuff. He took the production on the road again, polished it up, did a lot of rewriting and returned to Broadway with it later and it developed into a smash hit. It was "Little Johnny Jones" that inspired the saying, "Good plays are not written. They are rewritten."

Says She
"Your obvious partiality for Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) women is revolting. They certainly have you intimidated," writes a Chicagoan. "I know many Scorpio women and have carefully noted their characteristics. They are big, bulgy, boastful, bovine and boresome. Their sex appeal is of the plunging neckline, hip-wiggling variety plus large doses of provocative perfume. And what nasty tempers!"

Asking
Queries from clients. Q. Have heard several different reasons advanced as to why a woman wears her wedding ring on the third finger of the left hand. What have you to say about this? A. The third finger of the left hand is known as "The Finger of Life" and connects with the heart. So it was selected for the wearing of the wedding ring. Q. Where are the restaurants originally having the following names: 1. Ciro's. 2. La Rue. 3. Stork Club? The original Ciro's is on the Rue Danou in Paris. The original La Rue, formerly on the Place de la Madeleine, Paris, has gone out of business. The original Stork Club is in The Hague, Holland.

Please Note
Are you by a chance, scheduled to have a session with a dentist? Please accept my sympathy. I hope he isn't going to use the drill. The best time to have an appointment with a dentist is in the morning. In the afternoon the old boy's efficiency is usually below par. He is full of lunch and the strain of standing up is beginning to get him down.

Contracts
In a lawsuit in which a printed contract was involved, the defendant stated he hadn't read the "fine print" in said contract. It was what was in the "fine print" that lost him the case. I always read every word in a printed contract six times. That is except the "fine print" part. I read that 12 times. And with a magnifying glass. That's the part you really have to be careful about.

Brevities
Of the couples divorced in the United States 71 per cent are childless... The most common name in Scotland is Smith with MacDonald second. Brown is third and Wilson Thomson, Robertson and Campbell follow in the order named. There are more Kellys in Scotland than MacGregors.

Passing By
Francis Xavier Aloysius James Jeremiah Keenan Wynn. Extremely clever comedian. His father gave him all those names so that when reaching years of discretion he could choose the one he liked best. He took Keenan.
