

Cal Head Opposed to PCC Professionalism

Berkeley, Calif. — (U.P.) — Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California, today said he would oppose any move to professionalize the Pacific Coast conference athletic program by giving athletes "free rides."

Dr. Sproul, in a statement couched in educational phraseology, inferred that contrary to interpretations by the press in the new PCC athletic "grant in aid program" no professionalism would be allowed, at least on his part.

The new program, originally drafted by the President's council Dec. 2, was adopted "in principle" by the PCC faculty representatives here Friday. Actual details of the new program, which calls for setting up an outside agency to gauge each individual need, are to be completed at the faculty representatives' next meeting, slated for Spokane in May.

Oppose Formula

Dr. Sproul said he would "oppose" any "formula developed by the PCC" at the Spokane meeting "which differs in philosophy or substance, or however you want to say it, from the principles approved by the presidents."

He said he concurred in a statement released to the press Saturday by Dr. Glenn Seaborg, California faculty representative, Seaborg, a Nobel prize winning scientist, said he would fight any move to give athletes a "free ride" or not require them to work a full schedule at the time they are not participating in a sport.

Chancellor Clark Kerr of California has said such a move would lead to "professionalism."

Sproul, in adding his name to fighting such a move, again inferred that this was not the intention of the presidents.

Bonneville Power To Serve 50 Per Cent

Portland — (U.P.) — Bonneville Power administration said today it will be able to serve 50 per cent of the industrial interruptible power load through the remainder of this month.

Administrator William A. Pearl said improvement in regional power resources since Jan. 1 and lighter loads on the federal system will permit the service.

Precipitation surveys in the upper Columbia basin indicate refilling of the Hungry Horse reservoir is assured, Pearl said. Generally favorable water conditions for Northwest power pool utilities are reducing anticipated demands on the federal system, he said.

BPA cut back its service to interruptible loads of 12 electro-process industries to 25 per cent Jan. 1, pending weekly surveys of power resources.

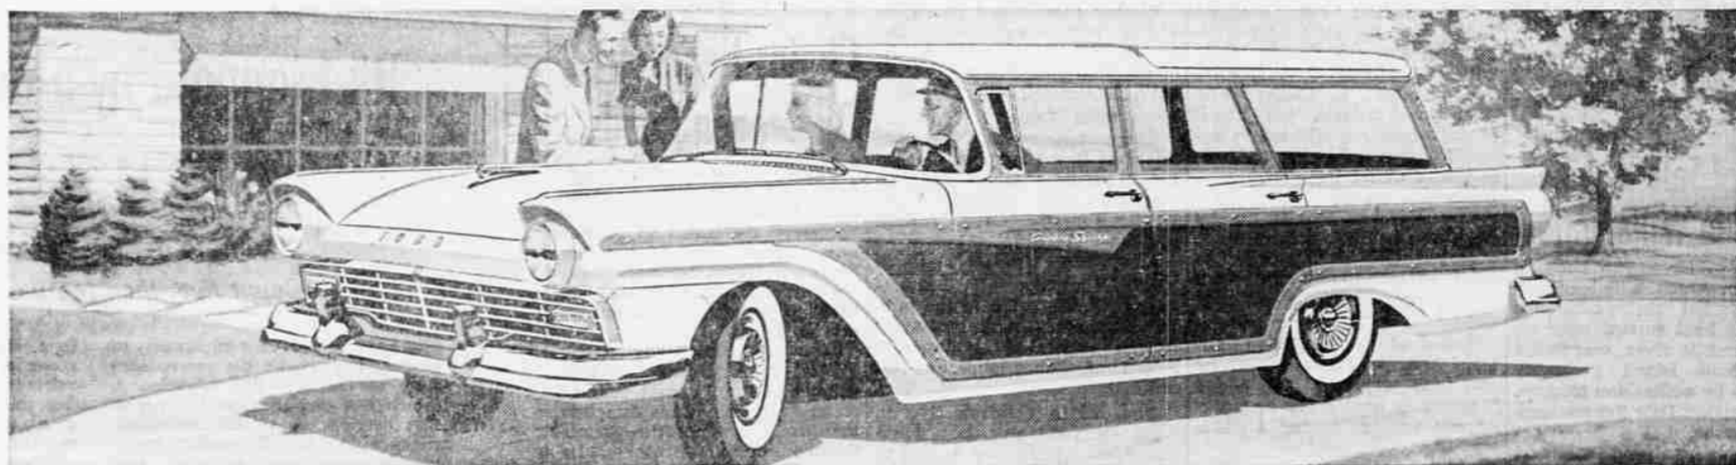

Wheat Exports To Japan Suspended

Pendleton — (U.P.) — Richard K. Baum, executive secretary of the Oregon Wheat Growers league, said here yesterday that an announced Japanese intention to curtail imports of American wheat would be more in the form of a suspension rather than a cessation.

Baum took exception with the announced plan of Japan's new leadership that imports of United States wheat could be cut off.

"The Japanese people need to continue large imports of wheat and I am confident we are going to get our share," Baum said.

He said that the announcement indicating that Japan would shift its wheat buying to Australia was based on the fact that two bumper rice crops have been harvested, lessening the need for wheat imports, and also a move by the Japanese to gain favored nation trade status with Australia.
