

Langlie Appointment Seen Risky; Neuberger Balks on Ellsworth

By A. ROBERT SMITH
Mail Tribune Correspondent

Washington—The word is going around that any presidential appointment of Arthur B. Langlie would cause quite a ruckus in the Senate from colleagues of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson.

There has been continued speculation that Langlie might be given some high post in the Eisenhower administration, for he has been highly regarded by the president and White House officials such as Sherman Adams. It was they who persuaded him to run for the Senate against Magnuson.

But reports are circulating among Democrats and Republicans that enough senators would consider Langlie "personally obnoxious" because of the type of campaign he waged against Magnuson to make such an appointment risky.

Washington state Republicans have reportedly been tipped off about this in order to avoid an embarrassing situation involving Langlie.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) says he would "take another look" at any appointment of former Congressman Harris Ellsworth (R-Ore.) to the Federal Communications Commission, which has been rumored.

Ellsworth telephoned Neuberger before Christmas to enlist his endorsement for a job in the administration, at that time believed to be on the Civil Service Commission. Neuberger said he would support him.

Later reports that Ellsworth might be given a post on the FCC change the situation, said Neuberger, who would want to question the defeated lawmaker about his views on the radio field before committing himself to back him.

Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) demonstrated successfully that there are two ways to steal the limelight on the opening day of Congress and in so doing dramatize your political independence. The first way was illustrated by Sen. Wayne Morse four years ago when he strode into the chamber carrying a folding chair which he planted in the center aisle, dramatically pointing out that he had left the Republican party and not yet joined the Democratic party.

What Morse did with dramatics, Lausche did with creating silent suspense about how he would vote in reorganizing the Senate—and when he voted with his party, like every other Democrat was doing, he was regarded as a hero for whom all the Democrats stood up and cheered.

Idaho's baby-faced Sen. Frank Church is running quite a risk when he wears a blue suit and black tie, the costume of congressional pageboys. He looks even younger than his 32 years, but claims he isn't bashful about the contrast he presents with the gray-haired and bald colleagues that surround him.

"If my age is a liability," he said, "it isn't anything I can't outgrow."

Church is the third youngest man ever elected to the Senate. Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) was only 30 when he came to Washington eight years ago. And he was noted out by Sen. Henry Clay back in 1806 who was only 29 years and six months when he was elected to fill an unexpired term. This violated the constitutional provision that a senator must be 30 years old, but no one seemed to object.

A lady went apartment hunting last week and was offered a look at the apartment previously occupied but still maintained by a former cabinet member.

GOLD HILL Missionary To Speak

By MRS. CLYDE KELL

Gold Hill—The Rev. James Morgan, a young minister whose home is in Creswell, Ore., will speak at the Christian church this Thursday evening, Jan. 10 at 7 p.m. Morgan plans to leave soon for India, where he will be a missionary.

A full evening's program has been arranged, with film strips of India to be shown by Morgan, to which the public is invited.

A number of organizations have announced their meeting dates for the coming week. One of the first will be the meeting of The Women's group from the Christian church, at the home of Mrs. Clarence Freeman, at 931 Second avenue, on Thursday, Jan. 10 at 1:30 p.m.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Community Methodist church, will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Wilmer Bailey, at 677 Fifth avenue, Friday, Jan. 11, at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Roy Eskew, will be in charge of the program, and Mrs. Howard Walton will lead in the devotions.

Each lady is asked to bring a sack lunch. The co-hostess will be Mrs. Dale Smith and Mrs. Nina Dusenberry.

It has been announced that the Junior choir of the Christian church, which was organized early in December, has resumed regular practice on Wednesdays immediately after school, at the church. This group will sing at the opening of Sunday school each week.

Officers will be elected Monday, Jan. 21 at a meeting of The Amethyst Rebekah Friendship club, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Parsley on Sardine creek road at 8 p.m.

A meeting of the Gold Hill Garden club, will be held at the home of Mrs. J. G. Kofahl on Pacific highway 99 north, Friday, Jan. 18 at 1 p.m. A dessert luncheon will precede the business session.

The Junior class of the Christian church, accompanied by its teacher, Mrs. Lenard Andrews and the minister from the church, The Rev. Billy J. Miller, went to Grants Pass Sunday, where the group spent the afternoon skating. Members of the class who went were, Faye Baker, Lyndel Munday, Linda Hilkey, Charlotte Vollmert, Pamela Freeman, Larry Mayer, Stevens Andrews, and one guest, John Price.

The Bible study was conducted by the Rev. Billy J. Miller, minister of the church. Following the study and games, refreshments were served by the hosts to Fred Baker, Freida Baker, John Andrews, Anna Marie Mayer, Darlene Allison and Mr. Miller.

A meeting of the Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Community Methodist church was held Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Norman Gail. These meetings are held each Sunday evening at 7 p.m. The president, Richard Hamersley, presided. Following the lesson, the young people played ping-pong and were served refreshments by the hosts.

Dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Andrews, who live on the Upper River road, last Sunday were the Rev. Billy J. Miller, minister of the Christian church, Faye Baker, Linda Hilkey, of Gold Hill and Fred Baker who lives on highway 99 north.

Following their appearance at the Community Methodist church Sunday, Pruth McFarlan and Hugh Thompson were dinner guests at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Howard Walton and son, Chris.

McFarlan and his accompanist, Hugh Thompson, presented their special music during the church hour at the Community Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gray and daughter Nancy moved Jan. 5 and 6 to the Leslie Walker property on the Upper River road. The Grays have been living in Eagle Point, where Gray was employed in a mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ramsey, whose home is on Fifth avenue, have returned after spending the holidays at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, and sons Richard and Jack, returned Dec. 31, following a ten-day trip during the holiday season, visiting in Los Angeles and Riverside, Calif.

The regular meetings of the VFW and Auxiliary will be held Friday, Jan. 11, at 8 p.m. The men will meet as usual in the Scout hall, and the ladies will meet at Mrs. Vaughn Whitmore's home.

Six to 10 skins go into an average fur coat of genuine seal-skin.

"This was occupied by Douglas McKay, who was defeated running for the Senate," said the knowledgeable real estate lady.

"I know," said the apartment hunter, "I'm Mrs. Wayne Morse."
