

Changing Times Bring New Course

Rochester, N. Y. — U.P. — The University of Rochester has added a new course to its curriculum in tune with the changing times.

In response to area and national needs, the institution will offer a four-year undergraduate course in electrical engineering beginning with the 1957 fall semester.

New students entering the program will have the option of taking a four-year course leading to a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, or a five-year course leading simultaneously to both a B.S. and a bachelor of arts degree.

President Dr. Cornelius W. De Kiewiet said the new course will strengthen the teaching and research of other science departments. He pointed out the widening use of automatic controls and electrical measuring techniques greatly have increased the difficulty of operating research programs in engineering or physical science without the aid of electrical engineers.

Called the FLIP — Fairfield, Conn. — U.P. — State Policeman George Raiselis called the "turn" while chasing a stolen car. In his radio report relating the chase he said: "He'll turn over before we catch him."

A few minutes later Raiselis reported, "He flipped." The three boys inside were escapees from the Meriden School for Boys. They weren't hurt.
