

Money for Education One of Big Problems for State Legislature

By DICK HUMPHREY
United Press Correspondent
Salem—(U.P.)—Education is one of those problems that makes you wish Oregon had huge oil reserves like California.

More than 50 per cent of the state's tax revenue goes to pay for education. It accounts for about half of the $38 million increase in the state's new $260 million budget for 1957-59.

It doesn't take U.S. census figures to show where the problem comes from. All you have to do is go out in the street. Kids everywhere. They add up to new plans and teachers, local taxes and state aid in ever increasing amounts.

Leaders Organized

School leaders are organized to bring these problems to the State Legislature which meets here today. And they undoubtedly will have the ear of Gov. Robert D. Holmes, regarded as a champion of education throughout his eight years in the State Senate.

Incoming Gov. Holmes is committed to increasing basic school aid from $80 to $120 per census child. Outgoing Gov. Elmo Smith also favors increasing the basic school support fund to equalize sharing between the state and local districts.

Many legislators, Democrat and Republican, agree with the two leaders. But it's a matter of finding $40 million to pay for it in the next biennium.

Smith Poses Problem

Gov. Smith put the problem thus in his budget message: "If the people of the state wish this additional expenditure, a source of revenue to produce it must be found."

The proposed budget provides $77,361,760 for basic school support, an increase of $5,840,640 over the current biennium. This increase is automatic and fixed by statute.

With the backing of the Legislative Interim Committee on Education and other school groups, basic school support will be pushed hard this year.

The fly in the legislative ointment, aside from finding $40 million, probably will be deciding how it will be distributed. Considerable pressure has developed outside Portland, to distribute more of the money to poorer districts. But schoolmen themselves find it hard to agree on a formula.

Increases proposed for higher education are also dramatic. The new budget allows $47,914,000, a reduction of $2,430,000 from the board of higher education's request, but an increase of $13,227,000 or 44 per cent over the present biennium.

Asks Funds for Salaries

is asking for $3 million to bring lagging Oregon salaries within striking distance of states with whom we must compete for teachers. That's a 15 per cent increase, but Gov. Smith's budget provides for only a 10 per cent hike.

Cut to $10 million was a building program of more than $14 million. But this compares with only $3,975,000 appropriated by the 1955 legislature.

Gov. Holmes may desire to restore these cuts to give full value to what Chancellor Richards calls his "shock" budget.

Besides enrollment that is expected to rise 3,519 students or 19 per cent in the next two years and the lag in faculty salaries, Richards says two other factors make his shock budget necessary.

They are continuing rising prices that must be paid for supplies and equipment and the need for recouping from small appropriations made in 1955.

Service and utility structures on various campuses lead higher education building priorities, followed by a classroom building for Portland State, a physics-chemistry building at Oregon State, and other structures. Tax help is also being asked for the first time for dormitory construction.

Richards and other educators agree that the mood of the people and the legislature seems favorable to education in general this year. The will seems to be there if a way can be found.

But until the legislature strips its collective sleeve to pan for the gold, we'll have to leave all the kids huddled around a phonograph listening to a tune—Elvis Presley pleading "money honey."

Sen. McCarthy Raps Ike's Adviser Team

Washington — (U.P.) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said Sunday night that President Eisenhower is surrounded by a "dangerous... motley crowd" of advisers and that the President's brother "tops the list."

The controversial Wisconsin Republican told newsmen that Mr. Eisenhower's brother, Milton, president of Johns Hopkins university, is "no more a Republican than you are a Hottentot."

McCarthy said that Dr. Milton Eisenhower has been identified in the past with "extreme, radical left wing" groups.

McCarthy also named as members of what he called the White House "palace guard" Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, C. D. Jackson, former White House aide, and Paul Hoffman, a member of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. General Assembly.

McCarthy described Hoffman, a personal friend of the President's, as a "throwback on the human race" and referred to Adams as "what's his name from New Hampshire."

Harsh on Stassen

McCarthy also had some harsh things to say about Harold E. Stassen, the President's disarmament adviser. He said Stassen has been urging that the United States stop experimenting with H-bombs and intercontinental missiles.

He noted that Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson had urged a ban on H-bomb tests and said Stassen had "adopted the Stevenson program except he goes further."

Three People Slightly Hurt In Accidents, Police Report

Two Medford people and a Central Point girl were slightly injured in two accidents Saturday and Sunday, according to city police.

Clifford LeRoy Eckel, 17, of 2409 Happy Valley rd., Medford, and Martha Joanna Davis, 18, route 2, box 179, Central Point, suffered injuries Saturday when the car Eckel was operating collided with a parked car registered to KOMPACK Factory Branch, 31 North Columbus ave., officers reported. The accident occurred at 922 North Central ave.

To Hospital

They were both taken to Sacred Heart hospital by patrol car. Eckel suffered a two-inch cut over his right eye and Martha Davis bruised her right leg, police said. No citations were issued.

Mrs. Norma Olive Kennedy, 27, of 307 North Ivy st., Medford, suffered an injured knee cap Sunday when the car in which she was riding was involved in a collision with two parked cars on Third ave., between Central ave. and Bartlett st., officers reported. Driver of the car was Buren Clayton Kennedy.

No treatment was required for Mrs. Kennedy's injuries, police said. No citations were issued.

Parked Cars

Parked cars involved in the accident were registered to Betty Allen Aday, 344 North Central ave., Medford, and Virginia Doris Card, 508 North Grape st., Medford.

Other week end accidents included a collision Saturday at North Central ave. and Fifth st., involving cars operated by A. A. Valentine, Prospect, and Edward Everett Bostwick, 405 South Oakdale ave., Medford.

Vehicles operated by Ralph DeWayne Stinson, 1219 West 10th st., Medford, and Delilah Selma Calloway, 1140 Morrow rd., Medford, were involved in an accident Saturday at Third and Bartlett sts., according to police.

A collision occurred on Stewart ave., near Newton st. Saturday involving cars operated by Stephen Eldridge Geary, Trail, and Floyd Wayne South, Ashland, police said.

Yank Photographer Arrested in Hungary

Budapest — (U.P.) — The Communist Hungarian government today admitted American freelance photographer George (Dickey) Meyer-Chapelle is under arrest in Hungary.

Mrs. Meyer-Chapelle, about 35, was shooting pictures for the International Rescue Committee.

The legation spokesman said American officials had made frequent representations to the Janos Kadar regime since Mrs. Meyer-Chapelle vanished.

Friends said she crossed into Hungary without a visa in an attempt to reach Budapest. It is believed she never reached the Hungarian capital but was picked up by Hungarian or Soviet security forces.

REFUSED ENTRY

Salsburg, Austria — (U.P.) — A group of Hungarian refugees returned here from the United States after being refused entry because they made false statements on their personal data forms.

FORECASTS WASHED OUT

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — Heavy rainfall washed out the local weather bureau forecasts Sunday. Rain leaked into a teletype cable, halting transmission of forecasts to radio and television stations and newspapers.
