Jan. Meeting Held by Rangers

Rogue Rangers held the last meeting at Carpenters' hall. Horsemanship classes were announced, and it was said that a veterinarian would speak for the next session.

Mrs. Mary McMachen taught members a quadrille which the members hope to perform next summer.

Anyone interested in joining Rogue Rangers, riding club for young people, may call Miss Susan Walker at 3-5198. The club meetings are held the first and third Thursday at Carpenters' hall.

Member Presents Chapter Program On China Glass

Mrs. Jonathan Middleton gave the program for a meeting of Alpha Rho chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held last Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Raymond Morton, 400 Ardmore avenue.

Mrs. Middleton's subject was "The Connoisseur", and she spoke of the art of making china, glass, pottery and other objects. She told of how the different decal and china are made, how glasses are put on, how frosted glass is obtained and where most of the different chinas and crystals are made.

Several pieces of dishware were shown to the members and how they were made explained. These pieces belonged to Mrs. Scott Davis, Mrs. M. E. Sietter, Mrs. Hudson T. Davis, Mrs. Richard Henselman and to Mrs. Middleton.

Mrs. Middleton displayed several articles belonging to her mother, Mrs. Hudson T. Davis of Grants Pass, who has taught ceramics. She told how her mother had made some of the articles, adding that she duplicates real china.

The speaker explained the making of molds for this work and showed a few samples. Also shown were some sterling and a few pieces of brassware from Siam.

Mrs. Marcus McKenzie gave a short talk on "Pleasure of Possessions." She showed dolls, belonging to her niece, that had been collected from all over the world.

The business meeting was followed by refreshments.

Co-hostesses of the evening were Mrs. Middleton and Mrs. Bob Norris.

The next meeting will be held January 24 at Mrs. Middleton's home, 1525 Grand avenue.

Hawaiian Chicken

Chicken and pineapple are a delicious combination. This recipe for Hawaiian Chicken with rice is extra easy. Cook 1 cup crushed, drained pineapple in 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Stir in 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour. Blend thoroughly. Add 1 1/3 cups water, 1/4 cup diced celery, 1/4 cup diced green pepper, 1 cup diced or shredded chicken and 2 tablespoons soy sauce. Cover and cook until the celery and green pepper are the desired degree of tenderness. However, they should be crisp. Add additional water if a thinner mixture is desired. Add more soy sauce, if desired. Serve over hot cooked rice.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Mrs. D. R.—Our 23-year-old daughter wants to marry a man of 40.

Lorraine R.—He really understands me.

Mrs. D. R.—My husband and I are desperate about our 23-year-old daughter, who has fallen in love with a man of 40.

Lorraine is a very pretty girl and has been very popular ever since she was a bobby-soxer. Several nice young men have wanted to marry her, but she always said she had time. Now suddenly she is in a great hurry to marry.

This man is a widower with two children, aged 8 and 10, and I feel he is in a hurry to find a good mother for his children. Lorraine is mature for her age, loves children and is a good homemaker, and I believe her sympathy for this man and his children is running away with her. I keep pointing out to her that when she is a young woman of 30, she will be married to a middle-aged man.

Lorraine—It's true that I have a lot of sympathy for Alfred and his children, but it's not the main reason why I want to marry him. It's also true that he is looking for a good mother for his children, but I'm sure he could find better, more experienced women for the purpose if that was all he wanted.

The fact is that I feel Alfred is the only man who has ever understood me and that's why I love him. Everyone takes me for a giddy girl because I am always clowning and carrying on in company, but I am really very serious at heart. I am also very religious and so is Alfred. Many young men can't understand why religion is so important to me. They laugh at me when I try to talk seriously.

The Council: Nearly 20 years is a vast age gap and such a marriage presents grave problems. Nevertheless it need not be the cause for parental desperation if the man is desirable in other respects.

Mrs. D. F. acknowledges that her daughter is mature and has had much dating and social experience. It is possible that this marriage is the answer to many of the girl's inner needs.

Some of the questions Lorraine and her parents should try to resolve are these:

Has Lorraine made an active attempt to meet young men with her religious interests? There are many of them and Lorraine could be much more sure of future happiness with a man closer to her own age. She is wrong when she feels that no man can understand her.

Seeking Responsibility

Does Lorraine fully understand the enormous responsibility she would be undertaking in becoming a mother, at her age, to two children who have been raised by a different woman? She appears to be seeking responsibility, but does she realize how much will be required? She must understand that she will have to settle down to her duties at once and forego the first precious period of marriage in which the young couple can become adjusted to one another, free from outside care or intrusion. It's a big sacrifice.

How does Lorraine fit in socially with friends of her husband's age? She will probably find she must give up many of her young friends because her husband will find them too immature.

Why does Alfred choose a woman so much his junior? Is he the overdominating type who feels it would be easy to bend a young girl to his ways? He is undoubtedly set in many of his patterns of living and Lorraine should know what those patterns are and determine whether or not she can live with them.

These questions call for serious, unharmed consideration. Lorraine should not commit herself without having explored all the angles carefully and discussed them with her parents.

SHORT JOB

Pontiac, Mich. (U.P.)—After only 13 days on the job, Leo F. Coyle, 27, resigned as Oakland County's traffic probation officer, it was announced today. Coyle quit after it was discovered his driver's license had been suspended for 60 days because of five traffic tickets.

On The Side

Oh, my beloved! How divinely sweet, is the pure joy When kindred spirits meet! — Moore

The most popular feminine name in this country is still Mary. Perhaps some enterprising fellow should revive, in phonograph recording form, that hit of George M. Cohan's titled "Mary Is a Grand Old Name." Not so long ago in Racine, Wis., four brothers named Smith each married a girl named Mary.

Mink Have heard of a woman who was presented with a mink coat and then found that every time she wore it she broke out in a rash. She is allergic to mink. However, the acquisition of a mink coat was one of her great ambitions. She is determined to wear it. So every time she plans to wear it she takes injections which prevent her suffering from allergy.

In what position has a young woman the best chance of meeting and marrying a millionaire? Our Horses and Women experts maintain it is that of a stewardess on a transatlantic plane. A recent substantiation of this claim is the case of 27-year-old airline stewardess, Jane Murchison, who met 46-year-old Richard Baird on a transatlantic flight and married him shortly after. Mr. Baird is a millionaire owner of diamond and gold mines in South Africa. Jane now has much diamond jewelry, plenty of mink coats and stoles, a Rolls-Royce automobile and three homes. A country home near Newark, England, a luxury flat in London and a farm in South Africa. It is interesting to note that though 27 years old when she wed, this is Jane's first marriage. She waited for the right man and he finally came along.

Queries from clients. Q. Are you familiar with paintings titled Venus at Her Bath and A Gascon Blonde? Who is the painter? A. Both are by Corot. Though chiefly famous for his landscapes, Corot had an appreciation of and a talent for painting blondes. Q. Am I right in saying a genuine Stradivarius violin is worth from $50,000 to $75,000? A. The value of the violins you refer to varies greatly. Some are worth $60,000 or more and some much less. Not so long ago in London a genuine Stradivarius violin, of the Grand Pattern, manufactured in 1711, sold for $7,500.

Women with well streamlined limbs are plentiful. Those with well shaped hands are rare. The shape of legs is no indication as to character. That of the hands is. A woman with well shaped hands is usually very intelligent, artistic and has good taste and style sense. And can be intensely affectionate when properly inspired.

Passing By

Joan Bennett, Sultry and shapely screen and stage siren. One of America's most glamorous grandmothers. Been married three times. Had one child by each husband. All daughters. Joan has been on stage and screen for 27 years. Made her debut in the stage play "Jarnegan" in which her father, Richard Bennett, starred.

Brides

What was the age of the oldest bride you ever saw march to the altar? Ever hear of a 92-year old bride? In the cemetery at Shifnal, Shropshire, England, can be seen the following record: "Died, Mary, the wife of Joseph Yates, Aged One Hundred and Twenty-Seven Years. Was hearty and strong at the age of One Hundred and Twenty. Married a third husband at the age of Ninety-Two."
