Bill Darragh Sparkles for Louisville

By UNITED PRESS
Louisville's rivals have discovered how to stop All-America candidate Charley Tyra, but last year's National Invitation tournament champions keep right on winning just the same.
That's because a 6-5 senior named Bill Darragh, known until now chiefly for his defensive talents, has taken over the scoring chores where Tyra left off. For the third straight game Darragh outscored Tyra Wednesday night, 28-18, and Louisville romped to a 104-67 win over Eastern Kentucky.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Cardinals who are ranked No. 6 nationally by the United Press Board of Coaches, and their 10th win in 12 starts.
Hold Tyra Down
Louisville fans have been ganging their defense around the 6-8 Tyra, who has averaged 23.5 points per game and is second in rebounding in the nation only to Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas. They haven't stopped Charley, but they've slowed him up—at the expense of having Darragh break loose.

Oklahoma A & M, No. 19 nationally, ended a two-game losing streak by downing Oklahoma, 57-43. The Aggies won this one at the free throw line, where they caged 31 of 43 attempts. Soph Gene Adair was the top scorer with 16 points, eight on free throws.

Sanchez Dropped From OSC Plans

Corvallis — (U.P.) — Coach Tommy Prothro announced yesterday that Sonny Sanchez, letterman guard of the Oregon State football team, has been eliminated from his plans for next season.
Prothro said a "failure to develop normal or reasonable training habits while being a member of the squad," was responsible for the dismissal of the former San Francisco high school star.

J. Dempsey Surprised On TV Show

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Former world's heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, now a fit 61, stepped into the ring again on Wednesday night and with tears in his eyes shook hands with two of his biggest one-time rivals, Georges Carpentier, France, and Luis Firpo of Argentina.
The Manassa Mauler had his colorful career revived before his eyes on Ralph Edwards' "This is Your Life" NBC television program. The show originated from the ring of the Hollywood Legion Stadium.
Carpentier, now a restaurant owner in Paris, and Firpo, a cattle rancher in Buenos Aires, were two of many program guests who brought back fond memories to the former king of the heavyweights.
Surprised
Gene Tunney, conqueror of the Manassa Mauler, is ill in New York and was unable to attend. However, he sent a telegram to Jack saying he still thought of Dempsey as the champion and "the greatest Roman of them all."
The show came as a surprise to Dempsey who had been brought to a nearby NBC studio under the pretense of viewing a closed circuit television show. But when Edwards announced "This is your life, Jack Dempsey" the son of a Mormon school teacher was escorted into the stadium while an audience of 6,000 applauded.

Protest Rejected In City League

Hawkinson Tire Treats protest of its game with Lea Motors was not allowed. Jack Burns, president of Medford Independent Basketball league, has reported. The protest was over an eligibility matter. Team representatives have agreed that no more players will be added by teams in the second half of the season.

Congressmen Tie In Basketball

College Park, Md. — (U.P.) — Republican and Democratic congressmen puffed through a basketball game of sorts Wednesday night. It ended in a 106-106 tie.
The congressmen, however, were not quite the sharpshooters the high score would indicate. Using their lawmaking powers to the limit, they gave both sides a bonus of 100 points before the starting whistle even sounded.
The congressmen, in another rules change, fielded nine-man teams that played three-minute halves with a two-minute breathing in between.

Owls Defeat Red Raiders 63-60 in OCC Hoop Ruckus

Ashland—Oregon Tech pulled Southern Oregon college into a second place knot in the Oregon Collegiate conference basketball chase last night by tripping the Raiders 63 to 60 at Klamath Falls.
The outcome left Eastern Oregon alone at the head of the race with a 3-1 record. Southern Oregon had shared the lead with the Mounties. Oregon Tech and the Raiders now have 3-2 standings.
The Raiders with strong outside shooting from Chuck Crandall, Dale Bates and Norm Oliva over the Owl zone came out on top 35 to 33 in a see-saw first half. Truman Williams tied up the game at the start of the second half and John Rhine put OTI ahead to stay at 37 to 35. Points by Williams made it 40 to 35 and Oregon Tech resisted SOC pressure from there.
SOC Poised
So did, however, climb to within two points at 58 to 56 and 60 to 58.

Crater Trims for Friday, Saturday Games With GP; Ashland Plays at Klamath

Central Point—Still gunning for their first victory of the season in Southern Oregon conference basketball, the Crater high Comets engage Grants Pass this week end in their third series of league play.
Crater goes to Grants Pass on Friday and the Saturday night game will be at Central Point. Comet coach Jim Nau said today that generally speaking, the attitude of his squad is good despite five setbacks in a row. He stated that his club is still trying to improve as it goes along.
The mentor reported that the Comets this week have been experimenting with a new offense to improve their scoring. Nau is also trying to find the combination which will give Crater more point-making punch. The Comets have been lacking in such punch so far this season, particularly in firing from outside which could loosen up defenses for better inside shooting.
Improvement Seen
Nau noted improvement in his team's defense last week and mentioned that the Comets still have a long way to go, especially on the matter of fouling.
The tutor indicated that his starting crew Friday may include Jerry Kime, Joe Teeter, Craig Cochran, Randy Campbell and John Greb. Two players who have seen considerable service, Don Goyette and Dick Davis, are on the hobbled list. Goyette suffered a deep hip bruise against Ashland last Friday and has been unable to drill much this week. It's hoped he'll be ready to play. Davis is favoring a bruised knee.
Grants Pass, which has a chance this week to tie for loop leadership, is considered a dark horse in the race. Coach Ray Davis has a well balanced squad this season with eight or nine players he can use interchangeably. Substitutions thereby can strengthen rather than weaken Cavenham effectiveness.
G P Starters
Mike Sparlin and Jim Smith loom as the Cavenham leading lights this season and they may be starters along with 8-5 Larry Henderson, Gary Tompkins and public utility commission employees what his policy would be in regulating utilities.

Morgan was sworn in yesterday to replace Charles H. Heltzel who resigned to enter law practice.
"A majority of the voters believe the public utilities commissioner has not been sufficiently vigorous in protecting the public," Morgan said.
However, he promised not to persecute utilities or engage in "circuses and sideshows" for political purposes. "I do not contemplate any undue severity or injustice to the regulated utilities, and I shall remain mindful

Rep. Robert Stewart Named Director of State Agriculture

Salem — (U.P.) — The "Holmes" is growing larger.
In his second major appointment, Gov. Robert D. Holmes yesterday named state Rep. Robert J. Stewart, eastern Oregon rancher, as director of the State Agriculture Department.
More key appointments were expected in the near future.
Stewart, who is chairman of the important house ways and means committee, will not take over the agriculture post until the current legislative session ends.
Short To Stay
Until that time, James F. Short has agreed to continue as agriculture director, Gov. Holmes said.
Short, who offered his resignation several weeks ago, was praised by Gov. Holmes for his fine work and record.
"The decision to appoint Bob Stewart for the job was based on my announced plan to pick the members of our own team to serve in key positions," Gov. Holmes said.
Stewart, 46, is now in his third term in the Legislature. He

Home Said Place To Start Fitness

Chicago — (U.P.) — Home and the backyard is the place to start building muscles and stamina in American youth, Dr. Shane MacCarthy, head of President Eisenhower's drive for youth fitness, said Wednesday.
And parents must join their youngsters at play to teach them to be strong and active, he said.
MacCarthy recommended that the nation's backyards be turned into playgrounds and that many of its streets—including New York's Fifth ave.—be used for family sports one day a week.
MacCarthy, executive director of the council on youth fitness, addressed a conference sponsored by the Roller Skating Foundation of America.
He urged that parents build basketball courts or gym sets instead of fireplaces in their backyards and instill a love of sports and physical fitness in their children.
If New York can turn Fifth ave. over to hours-long parades he said, it can give the famous thoroughfare "back to the family one day a week."
Other cities should do likewise, he said, and families should use the streets for cycling, hiking and roller skating.

Cold Weather Due For Next 30 Days

Washington — (U.P.) — The Weather Bureau predicts cold weather for most of the nation for the next 30 days.
In its monthly forecast, the bureau also looks for "frequent snows" in the eastern states from the Carolinas northward.
It said that until mid-February, temperatures should be below normal for most of the nation, with northeastern states having the greatest sub-normal weather. It said the only area expected to have normal temperatures is the Far Southwest.
The bureau said that rainfall would be above normal along the Gulf Coast and east of the Appalachian Mountains. It said the Rocky Mountain states also should have an unusually high amount of rain and snow.
In the Midwest the snow and rainfall should be below normal, the bureau said.

Man and Wife Foil Would-Be Robber

Portland — (U.P.) — A would-be holdup man was foiled by a man and his wife last night.
William W. Cameron, who operates a grocery, told police a man came into the store while six customers were present and pointed a gun at his wife, Euela.
Cameron, who was behind the meat counter, heard the man demand the money and told his wife to follow the order. Then Cameron walked over to the gunman and grabbed the money back. His wife added a pop on the head from an empty cash drawer.
The would-be robber dropped his gun and fled.
Cameron said he had noticed that the gun was a toy pistol.

Contract Awarded

Salem — (U.P.) — The State highway commission yesterday awarded a $1,246,997 contract to C. R. O'Neil of Creswell for 2.13 miles of grading on the Myrtle Creek-Canyonville section of the Pacific highway, south from Myrtle Creek.

Only 103 Germans Still in Allied Jails

Bonn, Germany — (U.P.) — Only 103 German war criminals still are held in western Allied jails, Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano reported Wednesday night.
He said this compares to the nearly 3,500 held by the Allies at the beginning of 1950. In a report to parliament, Brentano said 39 of the prisoners are in jails inside West Germany and the rest are being held outside the country.
Spring arrives variously from March 19 to March 21.
