

Smear Campaign Against Polish Leader Launched

Warsaw—(U.P.)—The die-hard Stalinist Communists he kicked from office have launched a smear campaign against liberal Polish Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, according to reports today.

The already tense situation was further intensified by an official admission that anti-Semitism, which Gomulka has fought, was on the rise.

Launched by 'Natonins'

Informed sources said the anti-Gomulka campaign was launched in his own constituency by the "conservative" element in the Communist Party, formerly known as the "Natonin" group. The group is led by Franciszek Mazur, who was ousted from the Politburo when Gomulka returned to power last October.

"Anti-social" elements were also reported joining in the campaign to smear Gomulka virtually on the eve of the important general elections.

Expected To Keep Seat

Observers agreed there is little doubt Gomulka would retain his seat in the Sejm (parliament) in the Sunday elections. His name tops the list of candidates in the northeast (Warsaw) district of Praga. In addition his prestige was given a substantial boost by the Sino-Polish communique issued after Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's visit. The declaration, while recognizing Russia's leadership in world Communist policy, supported Gomulka's stand for an "independent" Poland.

Pakistan Resident Speaks at Kiwanis Meeting Yesterday

Pakistan has tried to maintain a policy of peace in its efforts to foster economic development of the country. Noel J. D'Alves, of Karachi, Pakistan, told members of the Medford Kiwanis club yesterday. D'Alves, communications officer at Karachi international airport, spoke at the noon luncheon of the service group at Rogue Valley Country club. He is in the United States for one year of study on air traffic control and aeronautical communications. He has been at the Medford airport for 2½ months.

Role of Religion

The speaker reported that 86 per cent of the Pakistan population is Muslim and that religion plays a strong part of the affairs of the country. Because of this role of religion, he pointed out, there is an anti-Communist ideology and there is little Communist influence in the country.

D'Alves reported that his country, backward and purely agricultural at the start with its production of jute and cotton, has made great strides toward a balanced economy with establishment of industries.

He gave information concerning the background and formation of Pakistan and outlined its government. The country is in two sections separated by 1,000 miles.

Grant Bourquin, chief controller for the civil aeronautics administration here, introduced D'Alves.

Icy Spots Hamper Oregon Road Travel

Salem—(U.P.)—Clear, cold weather covered much of Oregon today and icy spots were the main threat to highway travel.

The State Highway Department in its morning report of road and weather conditions said chains were required for travel to Timberline and should be carried at Government Camp.

Icy spots were reported on highways at Portland, Cascade Locks, Salem river, Grants Pass, Siskiyou, Green Springs, Bend, Brothers, Lapine, Chemult, Bly, La Grande, Baker, Ontario and Seneca.

Only new snow reported in the state was two inches at Meacham.

Chinese Social Club Raided in Portland

Portland—(U.P.)—A social club catering to the Portland Chinese community less than a block from the main police headquarters was raided by vice officers last night and 18 Chinese arrested on gambling charges.

Raiding officers did not say what kind of games they found in progress at the club but they said dominoes and Chinese coins were used. Police did not say whether any American money was found.

Three men were accused of conducting gambling games, three were booked for gambling and 13 others were accused of visiting a gambling game. All posted bail and were released.

Check Said Missing In Murder Hearing

Eastbourne, England—(U.P.)—The Eastbourne Magistrates Court was told today a check for $2,800 produced as evidence at the inquest of Mrs. Gertrude Joyce Hullett has "disappeared."

The information was passed to the court as the fourth day of preliminary hearings began in the case of Dr. John Bodkin Adams, charged with murdering at least one of his wealthy patients "for profit."

Adams has been accused by the prosecution of also murdering Mrs. Hullett and her husband, Alfred, although he has not been formally charged with these deaths.

Adams is charged with murdering Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, 81, five years ago, and the prosecution also alleges he prescribed fatal doses of narcotics for the Hulleths.

The purpose of the hearing is to determine if there is enough evidence to try Adams for murder.

Prosecutor Melford Stevenson told the court a $2,800 check produced at Mrs. Hullett's inquest Aug. 21, 1956, had disappeared. He called two witnesses who testified they had seen the check.

Senators Order Union Officials To Cooperate

Washington—(U.P.)—Senate investigators today ordered three bally union officials to cooperate in a congressional investigation of labor racketeering or take the consequences.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), summoning the trio for public testimony before his Senate investigating subcommittee, said he had advised the officials that continued refusal to cooperate might have a "very serious" aftermath. Although McClellan said he did not specify it, the statement held the threat of a congressional contempt action.

The three union officials—two from the West Coast and one from New York City—rebuffed the committee Wednesday when it started its widely heralded inquiry behind closed doors. The opening day session also saw Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell give his blessing to an "objective" investigation of labor racketeering.

McClellan said Mitchell did so in testifying on the Labor Department's machinery for dealing with false statements from unions and their officers. Spokesmen for the National Labor Relations Board and the Internal Revenue Bureau testified on the same subject.

The three union officials who became the investigation's first witnesses were Frank W. Brewster, head of the Western Conference of Teamsters and spokesman for the union's Joint Council 28 in Seattle, Nugent Lapano—also known as George Cavano—head of Teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, and Arthur Santa Maria, secretary-treasurer of New York City Local 227 of the Allied Industrial Workers of America.

Road To Paradise To Have High Bridge

Portland—(U.P.)—A million dollar high level bridge will be constructed on the road to Paradise.

The Interior Department here said today that work is scheduled to start next summer on the bridge over the Nisqually river on the road to Paradise valley in Mt. Rainier national park in the state of Washington.

The bridge will be 500 feet downstream from a low-level bridge destroyed in a glacial flood in October of 1954. It will have a 300-foot clear center span.

Japanese Premier Has Narrow Escape From Mob

Tokyo—(U.P.)—Premier Tanzan Ishibashi narrowly escaped injury Wednesday when a mob of angry petitioners stormed his car in front of his official residence, it was reported today.

The 600 demonstrators had come to petition for Japanese government guarantee that their assets abroad still frozen since the war be released or they be compensated for their loss. The issue now is being debated in connection with the 1957-58 budget.

American Publications Not Censored in Cuba

Havana, Cuba—(U.P.)—The government said today that American newspapers and magazines were exempt from press censorship in Cuba.

American publications were withheld from circulation most of Wednesday because of a misunderstanding of their status under the decree.

President Fulgencio Batista's government established press censorship and suspended constitutional guarantees Tuesday in an effort to curb a rising wave of terrorism.
