

NEGRO CHURCHES BOMBED—The Bell Street Baptist Church (above) in Montgomery, Ala. was the heaviest hit of four Negro churches that were hit by six dynamite blasts. The pre-dawn blasts also hit the homes of two leaders in the Negroes' long-fought integration drive, endangering their families. It was the worst racial violence of the South's bus integration movement. There were no injuries.

GOLD HILL Teenage Club Organized

By MRS. CLYDE KELL
Gold Hill—Mrs. Dale Collins has organized a new club for teenage girls in Gold Hill called "The Girls Shop."
Meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday of each week at the home of Mrs. Collins, who lives at 494 Sixth street.
The club was originated by Mrs. Collins, who has an appreciation for fine handwork and a desire to teach others to work in handicraft.
Miss Gail Collins was elected president of the group at the meeting Monday night, Jan. 14, and Miss Terry Turner was elected to the office of secretary-treasurer. Others attending the meeting were Mary Ann Loeffler, Vicky Lester, Leslie Meister, Sue Blake, Judy Force, Jennie Lou Thompson, Lavonne Malone.
The present project of the group is making octopus dolls.
Mrs. Collins was assisted in serving refreshments by Miss Turner.
The club is open to all teenage girls in the Gold Hill area.

of Galls creek road is staying with Mrs. Keis for a while.
Cub Scouts of Den 4, accompanied by their den mother, Mrs. Stanley Brown, hiked from the new Patrick school to the Gold Hill fire station Saturday afternoon, Jan. 12. They were shown the fire trucks and hall by Fire Chief Clyde Kell and saw a demonstration of the way water is used in fighting fire with the fog nozzle.
Following the visit to the fire station the cubs continued their hike and cooked their dinner by the river.
This den is new, having been organized early in the fall. Eight boys went on the outing with Mrs. Brown. They were Steven Cook, Michael Drake, Michael George, Gregory Beeman, Russell Lamb, Rudy Engelbrecht, Billy Smith, and Richard Herington.
Mrs. Leslie Cook has returned to her home after a long stay in a Medford hospital.

Fishing Ban Above Bonneville Expected

Portland — (U.P.) — A long-planned closure of the Columbia river to commercial fishing above Bonneville dam appeared likely today, despite the pleas of the Umatilla Indian tribe that they be allowed to continue commercial fishing in the stream.
A joint conference of the Oregon Fish Commission and the Washington director of fisheries yesterday heard a representative of the tribe request them "to recognize the right of tribal members to fish commercially above Bonneville."
Despite the plea, representatives gave no indication that they planned to depart from a long planned move to discontinue licensing commercial gear above Bonneville.

California Girl, 15, Object of Police Hunt

Campbell, Calif. — (U.P.) — Police throughout California, Oregon and Nevada have been alerted in the search for Linda Locke, 15-year-old daughter of Police Chief Robert J. Locke of Campbell.
In a missing persons bulletin to law enforcement officers of the three states Thursday, the girl was described as attractive and having dark brown eyes.
She was wearing pedal pushers and carrying a grey skirt.
Linda was last seen Wednesday between 3 and 3:30 p.m. Her parents said she left for school that morning but school officials said she did not attend classes.

Walker Woman Hurt; Husband Kills Self

Cottage Grove — (U.P.) — Mrs. Donal Connor, 63, of Walker, Ore., suffered a bullet wound in her neck early today and state police said it was inflicted by her husband who then took his own life.
The Connors operated Walker Lodge about five miles north of here. Officers said Connor apparently attempted to kill his wife with a .38 caliber revolver and then committed suicide while his wife ran to neighbors. Mrs. Connor is in good condition in a Eugene hospital.

Art Carney To Leave Gleason Troupe Soon

New York — (U.P.) — Art Carney the "second banana" on the Jackie Gleason television show, said Thursday he will leave the Gleason troupe when his contract expires in June.
Carney, who plays supporting roles, indicated he thought this would be the last season. Gleason's show would be scheduled on a weekly basis and that the troupe would be disbanded.
He said he would look for a job on the stage, or other television programs or in films when he leaves Gleason's situation comedy cast.
George Durgom, Gleason's manager, admitted Gleason plans to cut the number of his television appearances next season but said he "is not breaking up any company."

Vic Milnes Elected To OGD Board

Vic Milnes, Medford gasoline dealer, was elected to the board of directors of the Oregon Gasoline Dealers association at a state convention in Roseburg this week, it was reported today.
Nine Medford men attended the session, including Milnes, Gene Roethler, recently elected president of the Rogue Valley Gasoline Dealers association, Bill Singler, Vern Marsh, Kenneth Wald, Dick Kaye, O. W. Panter, Gene Fields and Maynard Hadley.
Steve Harriman, Roseburg, was reelected president of the state organization; Virgil Ruckey of Portland was named vice president, and Paul Coleman, Klamath Falls, secretary-treasurer.

Power System Tops Generation Records

Portland — (U.P.) — The federal Columbia river power system yesterday attained two new generation records as a result of continued cold weather.
Bonneville Power Administration reported here that record 24-hour energy production was achieved midnight-to-midnight Thursday with 100,107,000 kilowatt hours of generation. A new peak production of 4,850,000 kilowatts was recorded from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. yesterday, passing the previous record reported Wednesday.
BPA officials said the generation was near the present capacity of the federal system.
A number of new "highway hotels" now offer convenient luxury accommodations to weekend skiers and mid-winter tourists in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

Union Executive Challenges Senate Right To Probe

Washington — (U.P.) — A high executive of the nation's largest union today challenged a Senate group's right to investigate labor rackets and refused to answer any of its questions.
Einar O. Mohn, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, made the challenge in testimony before the Senate Investigating subcommittee. As assistant to President Dave Beck, Mohn is in effect the giant union's executive vice president.
Mohn's challenge followed a similar one by Harry Reiss, identified as an official in Local 284 of the Teamsters Union in New York and of Local 227 of the Allied Industrial Workers of America.
Chairman John L. McClellan (D- Ark.) indicated that he welcomed the challenge to his committee's investigating authority. "We'll find out who's right," McClellan said.
Another union official conceded union members have a right to know how he spends their dues. But he refused to tell the committee. Dominick Santa Maria, 49, Brooklyn, N.Y., declined to answer most questions on grounds his answers might tend to incriminate him.

20 Embassies Opened Since War

Washington — (U.P.) — Twenty of the 75 foreign embassies here represent countries which did not exist as independent states before World War II.
Among these are Burma, India, Ceylon, Nepal, Pakistan, Sudan and Jordan—formerly part of the British empire—and Cambodia, Laos, Vietnam, Morocco, Tunisia, Lebanon and Syria—nations once under French control.
Iceland formerly belonged to Denmark, Indonesia was part of Dutch overseas holdings, Korea was controlled by Japan, Libya by Italy, and the Philippines were U. S.-governed. Israel was created by the United Nations in 1948.
The National Geographic Society reported that the great increase of embassies here — 40 since 1945 — has been the natural outgrowth of America's emergence as a world power of first rank. This increase reflects Washington's position as a mecca of the diplomatic world.
Upgrading of lesser-ranking legations to embassies has become a trend since World War II.
An embassy usually is presided over by an ambassador who is empowered to deal directly with chiefs of state and foreign ministers. Ministers or charges d'affaires who head legations must deal with lesser government officials.
In 1945, the nation's capital with chiefs of state and foreign legations; in 1950, 56 embassies and 14 legations. At present there are 75 embassies and six legations.
These six legations represent Switzerland, Yemen, Hungary, Romania, Latvia and Lithuania. Switzerland traditionally has no embassies anywhere in the world.

LONG SHOTS—Flanked by stacks of diapers, Mrs. William Blankenship of Chicago holds her second set of triplets, Jeffery, Kevin and Leslie, born last month. Only two survived from her first set, born in 1952. Consecutive triplet births are said to occur once in over 82-million cases. The diapers are the first batch of 15,000, a year's supply, presented to Mrs. Blankenship by Chicago diaper services.

Jewel-Studded Coffee Percolator Missing; FBI Joins in Search

Boston — (U.P.) — The intricate machinery of the FBI clicked into high gear today in the search for a missing solid gold, $50,000 coffee pot.
The diamond knobbed percolator disappeared from an air freight counter at Logan Airport Wednesday and FBI agents joined the search when the package failed to turn up at any of 34 possible destinations across the country.
Authorities first believed the plain fibre suitcase containing the electric percolator had been incorrectly shipped to the wrong address. Clerks frantically checked every air freight terminal they could find before admitting that thieves may be making their morning java in the jewel-studded pot.
The percolator, which boasts a four-carat diamond in place of the usual glass knob at the top, is owned by Landers, Frary and Clark of New Britain, Conn. The pot was turned out in solid gold to commemorate manufacture of the firm's 15 millionth automatic percolator last year.
The last known person to see the coffee pot's special case told police it was next to his desk when it disappeared. The clerk in the air express office of the American Express Co., said the case could have been stolen or shipped to the wrong destination. The FBI officially listed it as missing and possibly stolen and was looking for it on that basis.
The automatic coffee maker had been on loan to the March of Dimes which used it in a series of fund-raising coffee parties across the nation. It was last used for a party at a Marblehead Yacht Club and was destined for Providence, R.I. It was being shipped by Emery Air Freight.
Officials of the Landers, Frary and Clark Co., said the percolator is fully insured. The fancy coffee pot is studded with 250 diamonds and 159 rubies. A three and one half carat diamond is used instead of the usual flavor selector knob.
About 44 per cent of Rhode Island's labor force is employed in manufacturing as compared with 24 per cent for the United States as a whole.

HORN BROOK Soldier Home From Korea

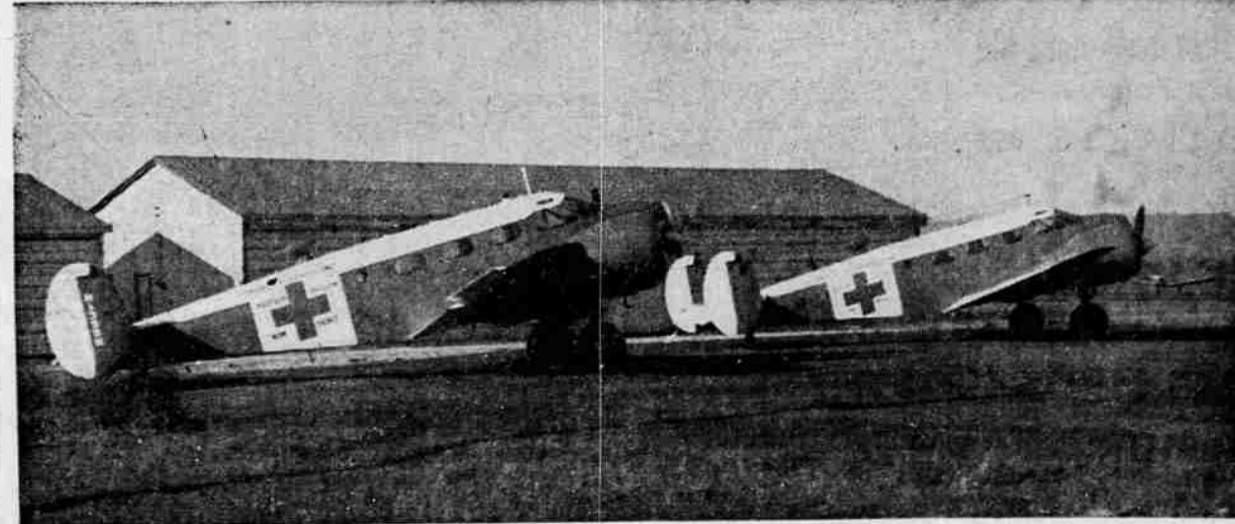

By MRS. H. H. CHAPMAN
Hornbrook — Bill Paulsen, son of former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Paulsen, returned Tuesday morning from Korea, where he had been stationed for the past year with a U. S. Army paratroop unit. After a brief stop at the home of his fiancée, Miss Joanne Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ardon Burns, he continued on to his parents' present home at Central Point, Ore.
Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Fick of Medford were week end guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman. On Sunday, Mrs. Fick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Rimell of Canyonville, Ore., were hosts at a farewell dinner for Oliver at the Tally-Ho restaurant in Talent, where they were joined by the Chapman's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Dungey and daughter, Mary Pat, of Medford. Oliver left on Monday for Portland for his physical, then was to fly to Lackland AFB at San Antonio, Texas, for his basic training in the Air Force.
Ed Smith, who was injured New Year's eve in a car accident, returned home from the hospital last Thursday. He is able to be up most of the time now, but not able to work yet. Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Dora Marlahan, of Ft. Jones, is caring for him during the daytime as Mrs. Smith has resumed teaching. Their son and his family, Dr. and Mrs. Edward M. Smith and son Mike, of Orland, Calif., spent the week end with them.
Danny Metzger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Metzger, sustained a badly torn eyelid Monday afternoon when he collided with a roll of barbed wire fencing while returning home from his Cub Scout meeting. Four stitches were required to close the wound, but Danny is recovering with no permanent injury to his eye.
Mrs. Kay Kettlewell of Medford has purchased the home owned by the late Carl Deal, and is planning extensive remodeling and repairing on it, preparatory to making her home here again. Her friends in and around Hornbrook, are glad to
