Family Dinner Is Recent Event Of Phoenix Club

Phoenix—Thirty members and their families attended the family night dinner of Phoenix Garden club January 11 at the Phoenix Community club. Hostesses were Mrs. Vaughn Quackenbush, Mrs. C. W. Robertson, Mrs. O. V. Poe, Mrs. Jesse Wilson, Mrs. Mona Ferns and Mrs. George Hartley.

The Rev. G. H. Hillerman of Zion Lutheran church of Medford showed slides taken during his 10 years' residence in Alaska. Members especially enjoyed seeing pictures of some of the homes and flower gardens, and pictures of a vegetable garden grown fifty miles from the Arctic Circle with the aid of hot water piped from a hot springs.

The Misses Jane and Mary Daniels sang and Foster White gave piano selections.

Miss Mary Backen Here from Alaska

Miss Backen was on the staff of Community hospital for many years prior to moving to Alaska where she is employed by Steward Sanitarium, Bartlett. Miss Backen is being feted at a number of events during her visit in the states. She will return to Alaska January 24.

American Violinist On Radio Program; Singers Announced

The distinguished American violinist, Isaac Stern, will be soloist with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, under the baton of Leonard Bernstein, on the KYJC-CBS Radio broadcast of Sunday, January 20, at 11:30 a.m.—1:00 p.m., PST. Mr. Stern will play the Prokofieff "Violin Concerto No. 2."

Mr. Bernstein will open the broadcast program with a performance of the rarely-heard Vivaldi work, "Concerto in C Major for Strings, Cembalo and Two Mandolins," in an arrangement by Alfred Casella. Included in Vivaldi's original scoring for this three-movement concerto are several instruments no longer in general use. Passages for a single-string-bowed instrument called the "tromba marina" have, in the Casella arrangement, been given to unison strings. The part of the "salmo" similar to the present-day oboe, will in this performance be played by the bass oboe. As is typical of many of the works of Vivaldi's time, this concerto is written in the concertante style, with the plucked instruments set off in juxtaposition with the bowed instruments.

The broadcast will close with a performance of Sibelius' "Fifth Symphony," which has not been heard on a Philharmonic program since 1946.

Violinist Isaac Stern will be the interview guest of music commentator James Fassett, during the concert intermission.

The lovely young Metropolitan Opera mezzo soprano Nell Rankin, song stylist Gisele MacKenzie, baritone Bill Hayes and singer-orchestra leader Ray McKinley will join Percy Faith and his Orchestra as featured guests on KYJC-CBS Radio's "The Woolworth Hour" Sunday, January 20 at 1-2 p.m., PST.

Miss Rankin will sing the aria "Pace Pace Mio Dio" from Verdi's opera "La Forza Del Destino," and the lilting "Something Wonderful" from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The King and I." Miss MacKenzie, making her fifth visit to the program, will offer a review of her new recording, "He Knows" and her version of the popular favorite "These Foolish Things."

"Wrangle Wrangle" a tune introduced in Walt Disney's new motion picture, "Westward Ho the Wagons," and a special Irish-Italian medley will be sung by Bill Hayes.

Ray McKinley's Glenn Miller Band will perform the arrangement of "GI Jive" which he made famous while serving as drummer for the band before World War II.

Fresh turkey will keep two to three days in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Wrap loosely in aluminum foil, parchment paper, or waxed paper.

Rogue River PTA Nets Large Sum

Rogue River — An auction held last week by Rogue River Parent-Teacher association netted more than $150. The amount covered the balance owed on playground swings which have been delivered and are being erected at the grade school.

Clothes donated for the auction were not sold because of time, but will be sold at a rummage sale in late March.

Mrs. Joada Leonard's room won a prize for having the most articles donated to the auction by the families of students. The prize was a large aquarium.

Gardeners Hear Talk on Begonias

Prospect—Members of Prospect Garden club met January 15 at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hedgpath to hear a talk given by Mrs. Everett Shafer on "Tuberous Begonias." Colored slides taken in Mrs. Shafer's garden of her begonias and those taken of the Christmas "Holiday House" were shown.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Blanche Millard and Mrs. Everett Shafer.

The next meeting will be held February 19, at the home of Mrs. Willard Huffman. The topic will be ficus.

Help Yourself to Happiness

Readers are invited to present their problems. All queries will receive individual attention and should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope, directed to MARY HARRIS SEIFERT, M. A., Department of Education, THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF FAMILY RELATIONS, 5287 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles 25, California.

What Makes Johnnie Stutter?
The child stuttered so badly that school became a nightmare to him.

The salesman suddenly developed a stammer which imperilled his job.

The adolescent found himself repeating words and syllables until he feared to recite in class. What makes people develop speech difficulties? For centuries doctors have disagreed on the cause and cure, but today in speech clinics throughout the country there is evolving the theory of mental conflict as a basis for stuttering.

Dr. Joseph Sheehan of the University of Michigan says: "Stuttering is the result of emotional conflict between the need to go forward and the inner urge to hold back. The stammerer wants to say something, but he's afraid he may stutter. As a result he hesitates and stutters, or chokes up and is unable to utter a word. This usually begins in childhood (but may arise from any severe emotional trauma or tension in adulthood.) Repeated correcting exaggerates the condition."

How can you help the stutterer? Here, at the American Institute of Family Relations, we advise:

1. Don't look away when the stutterer gets into difficulties. This increases his self-consciousness.
 2. Don't try to supply words.
 3. Ignore the stuttering.
 4. In the case of children who are not aware of their stuttering, don't put them into special classes, until you have examined the situation thoroughly—under guidance.
- But to eliminate the tendency entirely, the psychological basis of the speech-fear must be found, whether it be in a forgotten trauma of childhood to the present loss of wife or profession. Under the guidance of a specialist, the emotional conflict must be uncovered and resolved. "With adults," Dr. Sheehan states, "the worse they stutter, the better is the chance they will conquer the problem. It's those with the most serious stuttering condition who make the most valiant attempt to overcome it."
